Diverse educational contexts and research on metacognition and motivation to enhance self-directed learning Bernadette Geduld, Byron J. Bunt, Divan Jagals, 2025-02-17 This scholarly book explores the latest education research on metacognition and self-directed learning, providing practical insights for educators and students. As the thirteenth volume in the NWU Self-Directed Learning Series, it focuses on developing metacognitive skills to enhance self-regulation, motivation, and independent thinking, key competencies for success in the 21st century. Metacognition plays a vital role in learning, helping students plan, evaluate, and self-assess their progress. Research shows that students with strong metacognitive strategies achieve better learning outcomes, apply knowledge effectively, and persist through academic challenges. This book offers evidence-based teaching strategies to support the development of self-regulated learning and motivation in diverse educational settings. It examines teaching behaviour and instructional methods that foster metacognitive growth in both basic and higher education. With a particular focus on the South African education landscape, it extends research in cognitive, developmental, and applied psychology. Researchers and educators will find practical approaches for integrating metacognition into various disciplines, making this book a valuable resource for both undergraduate and graduate education programmes.

Rural Education Across the World Simone White, Jayne Downey, 2021-03-22 This book brings together authors from the United States, South Africa, United Kingdom, China, Canada, and Australia to provide insights and case studies from across a range of contexts to explore the interplay between the notions of rurality, innovation, and education. The book reveals a hopeful and resilient approach to innovative rural education and scholarship collectively and provides important evidence to speak against an often deficit view of rural education. Three patterns are revealed: namely, the importance of place-attentive strategies, the importance of joined-up alliances to maximise resources and networks, and finally, the need to utilize alternative methodologies and frameworks that have a starting point of difference rather than deficit for any rural initiative or approach. By drawing from international examples and responding in innovative ways to rural education challenges, this book provides an opportunity to share international insights into
