 Why is it that so many pupils are put off by maths seeing it as uninspiring and irrelevant and that so many choose to drop it as soon as they can Why is it socially acceptable to be bad at maths Does the maths curriculum really prepare pupils for life This book presents some answers to these questions helping teachers to think through their own attitudes to teaching and learning and to work with pupils towards more effective and inspiring mathematical engagement Part I of the book explores the nature of school mathematics showing how the curriculum has been developed over the years and how increasing effort has been devoted to improving the quality of mathematics teaching with little apparent effect Part II focuses on ways of thinking about classroom mathematics which take account of social cultural political and historical aspects The chapters bring together a collection of activities resources and discussion which will help teachers develop new ways of teaching and learning maths This book will be essential reading for all maths teachers including maths specialists on initial teacher training courses Understanding and Applying Assessment in Education Damian Murchan,Gerry Shiel,2017-04-29 All teachers are responsible for assessing the children they teach and the outcomes of any assessment are important for individual learners and the wider school This book is your one stop shop for understanding assessment in schools It covers formative and summative approaches used across primary and secondary education supporting a balanced overview with policy examples drawn from the UK Ireland and wider international contexts Designed as a pragmatic handbook for new teachers and those training to teach the book discusses key principles of assessment before providing guidance on developing and carrying out assessment in the classroom and looking at how assessment information can be used to benefit your teaching and the children you teach
