Are data available for tracking progress on nutrition policies, programs, and outcomes in Nepal? Neupane, Sumanta, Jangid, Manita, Scott, Samuel, Nguyen, Phuong Hong, Kim, Sunny S., Murira, Zivai, Torlesse, Harriet, Menon, Purnima, 2021-07-15

The World Health Organization WHO and other global nutrition and health agencies recommend nutrition actions throughout the life course to address malnutrition in all its forms. In this report we examined how Nepal's nutrition policies and programs addressed recommended nutrition actions, nutrition outcomes and the determinants of these outcomes. We reviewed population based surveys and administrative data systems in order to assess the data availability on nutrition actions and on the indicators of determinants and outcomes. Our policy review identified a total of 53 recommended evidence based nutrition actions of which 50 nutrition actions were applicable in Nepal. Of these 45 were addressed in the country's nutrition policies and programs and some of the actions were only available in some districts. Nutrition actions that were not included in current policies and programs included calcium supplementation and advice on consuming calcium during pregnancy and daily iron and folic acid IFA supplementation during childhood. Current policies addressed daily or intermittent IFA supplementation during preconception and food supplementation for malnourished lactating women during the postnatal period; however, there was no program to implement these actions. Nepal's Multi Sector Nutrition Plan MSNP recognized and addressed all key determinants of nutrition; it also expressed an intent to address all SDG nutrition targets for maternal, infant and young child nutrition. Noncommunicable diseases (NCDs) however were addressed separately by a multisectoral plan for NCDs. Our data review found that out of 45 actions that policies and programs addressed, population based surveys contained data on only 27 actions and administrative data systems contained data on only 25 actions. Population based surveys and administrative data sources contained no data on food supplementation during adolescence, weight monitoring and various types of counseling during pregnancy, optimal timing of delayed umbilical cord clamping, support for breastfeeding and immediate skin to skin contact, optimal feeding of low birth weight infants and counseling of mothers of low birth weight infants on kangaroo mother care (KMC) during delivery and in the postpartum period, breastfeeding counseling, counseling on appropriate complementary feeding, counseling after growth monitoring and inpatient management of severe acute malnutrition (SAM) during early childhood. Population based surveys contained data on most of the indicators of immediate and underlying determinants while administrative data systems did not have data on all indicators of immediate determinants. Data on all indicators of nutrition outcomes were available from population based surveys. In conclusion, Nepal's policy and program landscape for nutrition is robust; however, the gaps in data availability for tracking progress on nutrition actions are much larger than the gap in policies and programs for addressing recommended actions. Future population based surveys and modifications of administrative data systems should aim to fill the identified data gaps for nutrition actions

Bulletin of Hygiene, 1928 Children's Palliative Care in Africa Justin Amery, 2009 Children's palliative care has developed rapidly as a discipline as health care professionals recognise that the principles of adult palliative care may not always be applicable to children at the end of life The unique needs of dying children are particularly evident across Africa where the scale of the problem is overwhelming and the figures so enormous that they are barely comprehensible over 400 000 children in Africa died from AIDS in 2003 and out of the 166 000 children a year diagnosed with cancer 84% of these are in the developing world Despite the enormous need provision of children's palliative care in Africa is almost non-existent with very few health workers trained and confident to provide care for dying children The challenges of providing palliative care in this setting are different to those in more developed countries contending with the shortage of physical and human resources in addition to the vast scope of the care needed Written by a group with wide experience of caring for dying children in Africa this book provides practical realistic guidance on improving access to and delivery of palliative care in this demanding setting It looks at the themes common to palliative care including communication assessment symptom management psychosocial issues ethical dilemmas end of life care and tips for the professional on compassion and conservation of energy but always retains the focus on the particular needs of the health care professional in Africa Whilst containing some theory the emphasis is on practical action throughout It will provide health care professionals working in Africa and other resource poor settings with the confidence knowledge and capacity to improve care for the terminally ill child in constrained and demanding environments The British Journal of Tuberculosis, 1918 Parliamentary Debates (Hansard).
