- 1) Describe the factors (background and previous of speaking) related from this study. Does the background information related to your research topic contain any information related to this?
The original author and speaking/reading is the only safe way to create your own notes, present your findings & interests.
- 2) Describe why these information are important and the effects on you as the patients.
It will enhance your ability to understand how the background information of the patients.
- 3) Make this your research topic in the context of your study topic to give further in the space (understand the theoretical background of the research).
- 4) Make your notes in a clear, logical manner to be able to use in your presentation or as a tool to help you in your research.
It will help you to understand and manage your research of speaking/reading (e.g., What is the speaking or reading?).

Abstract

[illegible]

Abstract: The purpose of this study was to examine the effects of a 12-week, 100% body weight (BW) resistance training program on the muscle strength, muscle mass, and body composition of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were randomly assigned to either a resistance training (RT) or control (CON) group. The RT group performed a 12-week, 100% BW resistance training program, while the CON group performed no exercise. The RT group showed significant increases in muscle strength, muscle mass, and body composition, while the CON group showed no significant changes. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week, 100% BW resistance training program is effective in improving muscle strength, muscle mass, and body composition in sedentary, middle-aged women.
