Correspondences Marnina Marnina, Novika Amalia, Mutiana Nurmalasari B, Maru Mary Jones Panjaitan, Rias Wita Suryani, Wahyu Trimastuti, Rani Ratnasari, Sri Rahayu Juniati, Dias Andris Susanto, Fahmi Hidayat, Andri Fernanda, Tomi Arianto, 2024-08-12 In English Correspondences the reader is drawn into a richly woven tapestry of letters exchanged between two estranged friends book entitled English Correspondences which reconnect through a series of heartfelt correspondences Set against the backdrop of contemporary English this correspondence begins as a simple attempt to rekindle friendship after years of silence As share in this chapters thoughts dreams and regrets the letters reveal the complexities of their lives including Eleanor s struggles with her career in the arts and journey through personal loss and rediscovery Each letter serves as a window into their souls exploring themes of love forgiveness and the passage of time As the narrative unfolds the letters become a catalyst for transformation prompting both characters to confront their pasts and the choices that led them to this moment Through this exchanges they not only navigate this own emotional landscapes but also delve into the broader societal issues of identity belonging and the impact of technology on human connection English Correspondences is a poignant exploration of friendship and the power of words to heal reminding us that sometimes the most profound connections can be found in the simplest of exchanges Research, Teaching and Learning Polly Kobeleva, Luke Strongman, 2011-11 Research Teaching and Learning presents ten essays which explore key factors in effective research teaching and learning practices provide guidance for their implementation and describe their benefits to academics and students in the Open and Distance Learning environment The authors have written this book for the student the academic and the organisation in the Open and Distance Learning paradigm from a New Zealand and international perspective This book provides a framework for the development and application of research teaching and learning for the

academic within faculty and for managers of open and distance learning tertiary organisations Collaborative Learning in a Global World Miri Shonfeld, David Gibson, 2018-11-01 The 21st century has brought about changes in every aspect of life through ubiquitous technology and Internet based social media The distances between cultures and continents have narrowed the world has become flat and multicultural work teams composed of members from different countries have become a daily reality in global businesses However in many ways these global changes in work practices have only just begun to have an impact on education To better prepare students for the information age researchers and policy makers largely agree about the skills needed for shared knowledge construction Indeed the education systems in several different countries have begun to integrate these skills into teaching and learning and are placing a strong emphasis on their implementation Melamed et al 2010 Resta et al 2011 In 2015 the OECD PISA exam for the first time included assessment of collaborative problem solving in its country by country comparison Collaborative learning is not a trivial challenge nor is it intuitive for all teachers and learners One must acquire and practice the essential skills in order to successfully work in a team Consequently it is essential to train teachers in collaborative teamwork as they must serve as role models for students In addition new tools and practices become available at a rate that outpaces the abilities of many higher education institutions to adopt and implement This book surveys the current state of the field and provides theoretical guidance and practical examples to help meet the gaps in research development and practice Grateful Nation Ellen Moore, 2017-10-26 In today's volunteer military many recruits enlist for the educational benefits yet a significant number of veterans struggle in the classroom and many drop out The difficulties faced by student veterans have been attributed to various factors poor academic preparation PTSD and other postwar ailments and allegedly antimilitary sentiments on college campuses In Grateful Nation Ellen Moore challenges these narratives by tracing the experiences of Iraq and Afghanistan war veterans at two California college campuses Drawing on interviews with dozens of veterans classroom observations and assessments of the work of veteran support organizations Moore finds that veterans' academic struggles result from their military training and combat experience which complicate their ability to function in civilian schools While there is little evidence of antimilitary bias on college campuses Moore demonstrates the ways in which college programs that conflate support for veterans with support for the institutional military lead to suppression of campus debate about the wars discourage antiwar activism and encourage a growing militarization Email Discourse Among Chinese Using English as a Lingua Franca Yuan-shan Chen, Der-Hwa Victoria Rau, Gerald Rau, 2015-10-24 This edited volume makes a valuable contribution to the burgeoning research field of English as a lingua franca In a pioneering step the collection is exclusively devoted to the English email discourse of Chinese speakers The studies address innovative topics related to various contexts and relationships using several different approaches and theories which taken together shed light on how English serves as a lingua franca in multiple types of global written communication The research topics presented are organized into four thematic sections including emails from students to professors emails from students to the international academic community emails from peer to peer and emails at the workplace This collection of empirical research invites readers to consider the special features of apologies requests terms of address politeness and discourse organization and how cultural differences may affect the use or interpretation of each Throughout the book readers will also discover how Chinese speakers use special features and strategies to construct their identity establish relationships and achieve successful communication in English This highly informative thought provoking book also provides insights on methods for teaching email discourse using English as a lingua franca and suggests directions for future research
