Brauning

Falcon Birds Of Flight Four:

Eleonora's Falcon Harmut Walter, 1979-05 Named after a Sardinian princess of the fourteenth century who established laws protecting falcons Eleonora's falcon is the only European bird to breed in autumn and feed its brood on the mass of birds that migrate from Europe to Africa between July and October It breeds on small Mediterranean islands in colonies of up to 200 pairs and hunts often in groups preying on more than 90 species of migrant birds During the winter this falcon visits the rain soaked woodlands of Madagascar In this study illustrated beautifully and extensively with 59 line drawings and 38 photographs Harmut Walter shows how the unique geographical and biological situation of Falco eleonora makes the species health an important indicator of environmental decay For though it lives in relatively isolated areas Eleonora's falcon nevertheless may ingest the many pollutants contained in its diet of birds migrating from industrial Europe Walter who has studied raptors on several continents and has been an ornithologist since his early youth examines several discrete colonies of Eleonora's falcon He concentrates on the species intraspecific behavior and ecology such as the falcons aggressive actions hunting strategies and response to fluctuating environmental conditions and investigates their evolutionary past The Undaunted King Gouddaa of the Arawaks and Caribs Douglas Burns, 2018-03-14 This is an original tale set in a forgotten time mixed with forbidden love magic and black magic It is also mixed with the elaborate and spectacular costumes of the Bahamas native Junkanoo Festival never before seen in such fashion The mythical and historical adventure is centered on Gouddaa king of the Arawak and Caribs as he seeks out to destroy his greatest adversary the Black Widow His family is also thrown into disarray as his sons and daughters rival over love and the throne The ultimate battle begins and love is left in silence to die The Art of Falconry, by Frederick II of Hohenstaufen Frederick II (Holy Roman Emperor), Casey Albert Wood, Florence Marjorie Fyfe, 1943-06 De Arte Venandi cum Avibus was written shortly before the year 1250 by Frederick II Holy Roman Emperor King of Sicily and Jerusalem in whose court with its remarkably cosmopolitan and highly intellectual life may be found the real beginning of the Italian Renaissance In spite of its title it is far more than a dissertation on hunting There is a lengthy introduction dealing with the anatomy of birds an intensely interesting description of avian habits and the excursions of migratory birds Indeed this ancient book has long been recognized as the first zoological treatise written in the critical spirit of modern science The sumptuous volume now in hand is however the first translation into English of the complete text originally divided into a prologue and six books Together the translators and editors have at last made available this classic work and have adorned it with notes comments bibliographies and glossary They have produced a work of great value to zoologists especially the ornithologist and also to everyone interested in the history of science and in medieval art and letters The Birds of Pennsylvania Gerald M. McWilliams, Daniel W. Brauning, 2018-09-05 From Eared Grebes Tundra Swans and Peregrine Falcons to Lesser Yellowlegs and Snowy Owls Pennsylvania is home to a magnificent array of birds In the first comprehensive summary and analysis in over a century of the birds of that state Gerald M

McWilliams and Daniel W Brauning provide a wealth of information for both the professional ornithologist and the amateur birder This book treats all 428 species seen in the state including breeding and wintering birds migrants and vagrants Each entry provides the general status of a species the locations where it is most commonly found its natural habitat migratory patterns breeding habits and seasonal status and distribution and a summary of the bird s history in Pennsylvania With clear descriptions of physiographic regions as well as 44 breeding distribution maps for the most commonly seen birds and 67 photographs of many rare and hard to find species this volume is an indispensable resource about Pennsylvania s bird life

Neotropical Birds of Prey David F Whitacre,2013-03-01 Until recently surprisingly little has been known about the biology and behavior of tropical forest raptors including such basic aspects as diets breeding biology habitat requirements and population ecology information critical to the development of conservation efforts The Peregrine Fund conducted a significant eight year long research program on the raptor species including owls in Tikal National Park in Guatemala to learn more about Neotropical birds of prey Impressive and unprecedented in scale this pioneering research also involved the development of new methods for detecting enumerating and studying these magnificent but often elusive birds in their forest home Beautifully illustrated with photographs of previously little known species the resulting book is the most important single source for information on the lowland tropical forest raptor species found in Central America Neotropical Birds of Prey covers twenty specific species in depth including the Ornate Hawk Eagle the Barred Forest Falcon the Bat Falcon and the Mexican Wood Owl offering thorough synopses of all current knowledge regarding breeding biology and behavior diet habitat use and spatial needs Contributors to this landmark work also show how the populations fit together as a community with overlapping habitat and prey needs that can put them in competition with reptiles and mammalian carnivores as well yet differ from one another in their nesting or feeding behaviors and population dynamics The work s substantive original data offer interesting comparisons between tropical and temperate zone species and provide a basis for establishing conservation measures based on firsthand research Making available for the first time new data on the biology ecology behavior and conservation of the majestic owls and raptors of the New World tropics this book will appeal to a wide ornithological readership especially the many raptor enthusiasts around the world
