Nationalism and Youth in Theatre and Performance Victoria Pettersen Lantz, Angela Sweigart-Gallagher, 2014-07-11 Nationalism and Youth in Theatre and Performance explores how children and young people fit into national political theatre and moreover how youth enact interrogative patriotic and or antagonistic performances as they develop their own relationship with nationhood Children are often seen as excluded from public discourse or political action However this idea of exclusion is false both because adults place children at the center of political debates with the rhetoric of future generations and because children actively insert themselves into public discourse Whether performing a national anthem for visiting heads of state creating a school play about a country s birth or marching in protest of a change in public policy young people use theatre and performance as a means of publicly staking a claim in national politics directly engaging with ideas of nationalism around the world This collection explores the issues of how children fit into national discourse on international stages The authors focus on national performances by for with youth and examine a wide range of performances from across the globe from parades and protests to devised and traditional theatre Nationalism and Youth in Theatre and Performance rethinks how national performance is defined and offers previously unexplored historical and theoretical discussions of political youth performance

Tween Girls' Dressing and Young Femininity in Singapore Bernice Loh, 2022-04-19 This book provides an insight into girls cultural identities and young femininities through an understanding of tween girls dressing in Singapore The book adopts a girl centred approach to shed light on the narratives and experiences of young Singaporean girls that have often been overlooked It draws on the conversations with young Singaporean girls aged 8 to 12 to understand how they wanted to dress from where they gained their inspiration and what the social factors were that influenced their dressing Through understanding how girls want to fashion themselves the book shows that it is imprecise to discuss issues based on the assumption that there is one dominant correct way to grow up as a young person in Singapore This book unpacks how young Singaporean girls negotiate their cultural identities through clothing that do not simply conform to or reflect their roles as students It also shows how girlhood in Singapore is multi faceted and the values and meanings that tween girls attach to their dressing intersect at the personal social and cultural level The book offers new ways of approaching and looking at girls adult like dressing that move beyond the discourse of sexualisation In establishing a space for young Singaporean girls voices in an area that has been dominated by studies from the West this book also shows how the focus on tween girls in Asia can contribute to and advance the current state of girls studies

Childhood and Tween Girl Culture Fiona MacDonald, 2017-01-23 This book explores the ways in which notions of childhood are being influenced by a rapidly expanding consumer media culture in the 21st Century It has been argued that new stages of childhood are being created and defined by children s role as consumers The concept of tween girls aged between 9 and 14 has generated the greatest debate While the fantasy world of tween offers girls a space to fashion a young feminine identity it has been widely argued that the consumer media s messages pressure tween girls to consume and adopt highly sexualised appearances and behaviours The author considers how the art of consumption for tween girls is intrinsically linked with their desire for independence and belonging and how their consumption is interwoven with other important social and cultural influences The book will be of interest to scholars and students in the fields of Childhood and Youth Studies Cultural Studies Feminist and Women s Studies and Sociology
