U.S. History Since Reconstruction Content Review

	Key Dates		Events and Characteristics
1898	Spanish-American War between the U.S. and Spain. The outcome led to the loss and the ceding of the U.S. territories. More in the nation of Puerto Rico, Cuba and bought the Philippines and Guam and bought the Hawaiian Islands.	1898-1900	Era of imperial expansion and industrialization. The rise of the new industrialized nations created a gap between the rich, the nations, and nations who tried to increase their share of the national wealth through the Populist movement. Immigration increased and cities grew (urbanization). Workers began to organize into unions to bargain for better wages and working conditions.
1914 - 1919	World War I was fought between the Central Powers (Germany, Austria-Hungary, and the Ottoman Empire) and the Allied Powers (Britain, France, Russia, and after 1917, the United States). This war ended with the Treaty of Versailles which changed Germany with new just territories (Germany to give resources). U.S. President Woodrow Wilson proposed his Fourteen Points plan for peace which included an international peacekeeping group called the League of Nations. The U.S. Congress rejected U.S. membership in the League and did not rejoin until joining the other country.	Progressive Era 1890 - 1914	Progressives wanted to reform American life and improve political, social, and economic conditions. By reforming business, urban middle-class women, children and workers, some reforms were successful. During this period America became more industrialized and moved into a position of world power (especially after World War I).
		Prohibition 1914	A sense of urgency, technological and social change. America became industrialized and began to form monopolies. This was a time of prohibition, just peace, and 1918 entered in prohibition.
		1914-1919	Beginning with the Stock Market Crash of 1929, the United States entered an economic decline called the Great Depression. President Franklin D. Roosevelt led government efforts at the recovery called the New Deal to try and bring the U.S. out of depression and get American back to work.
1929	The Stock Market Crash occurred in 1929 and the United States and the world and the Great Depression of the 1930s.	World War II and Cold War 1939 and 1945	U.S. entry into World War II in 1941 led to a victory over Germany and the USSR changed the way world as a world power. The 1950s were characterized by prosperity, the growth of suburbs, and growth in education through the GI Bill. International relations became complicated as a growing rivalry between the U.S. and the Soviet Union. The Cuban Missile Crisis was one of the most dangerous moments in the history of the world and led to the Cuban Missile Crisis.
1945 - 1949	World War II ended in Europe in 1945 when Nazi Germany (Hitler) and the United States entered the war with the Japanese bombing of Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. The war ended when the U.S. dropped the first atomic bomb on Japan in August of 1945.	Civil Rights and the 1950s 1940 - 1960	The 1950s was an era of social and political change. The 1950s were marked in the United States by the reorganization of political parties, ending the New Deal. The Civil Rights movement and President Johnson's Great Society legislation led to major social and political change. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. and others fought an end to segregation and economic equality for African Americans and other minorities.
		Water Gates 1970 - 1974	The Vietnam War ended in the 1970s and the U.S. declined to more authority in the 1970s. The Civil War was history and America was moving toward an economic and technological age. The U.S. entered the 21 st century as a super world power.

Knowing and Writing School History Luciana C. de Oliveira,2011-03-01 Because school history often relies on reading and writing and has its own discipline specific challenges it is important to understand the language demands of this content area the typical writing requirements and the language expectations of historical discourse History uses language in specialized ways so it can be challenging for students to construct responses to historical events It is only through a focus on these specialized ways of presenting and constructing historical content that students will see how language is used to construe particular contexts This book provides the results of a qualitative study that investigated the language resources that 8th and 11th grade students drew on to write an exposition and considered the role of writing in school history The study combined a functional linguistic analysis of student writing with educational considerations in the underresearched content area of history Data set consisted of writing done by students who were English language learners and other culturally and linguistically diverse students from two school districts in California The book is an investigation of expository school history writing and teachers expectations for this type of writing School history writing refers to the kind of historical writing expected of students at the pre college levels      The Yearbook of the National Society for the Study of

The Patchwork of World History in Texas High Schools
Stephen Jackson,2022-11-30 This book traces the historical development of the World History course as it has been taught in high school classrooms in Texas a populous and nationally influential state over the last hundred years Arguing that the course is a result of a patchwork of competing groups and ideas that have intersected over the past century with each new framework patched over but never completely erased or replaced the author crucially examines themes of imperialism Eurocentrism and nationalism in both textbooks and the curriculum more broadly The first part of the book presents an overview of the World History course supported by numerical analysis of textbook content and public documents while the second focuses on the depiction of non Western peoples and persistent narratives of Eurocentrism and nationalism It ultimately offers that a more global accurate and balanced curriculum is possible despite the tension between the ideas of professional world historians who often de center the nation state in their quest for a truly global approach to the subject and the historical core rationale of state sponsored education in the United States to produce loyal citizens Offering a new conceptual understanding of how colonial themes in World History curriculum have been dealt with in the past and are now engaged with in contemporary times it provides essential context for scholars and educators with interests in the history of education curriculum studies and the teaching of World History in the United States
