highly effective leaders in our nation's classrooms Teach For America has fought the daunting battle of educational equity for the last twenty years Based on evidence from classrooms across the country they've discovered much about effective teaching practice and distilled these findings into the six principles presented in this book The Teaching As Leadership framework inspires teachers to Set Big Goals Invest Students and Their Families Plan Purposefully Execute Effectively Continuously Increase Effectiveness Work Relentlessly The results are better educational outcomes for our nation's children particularly those who live in low income communities Inspires educators to be leaders in their classrooms and schools Demystifies what it means to be an effective teacher describes key elements of practice and provides a clear vision of success Addresses the challenges every teacher in every classroom faces on a daily basis An accompanying website includes a wealth of tools videos sample lessons discussion boards and case studies How Successful Schools Are More than Effective Christopher Day, David Gurr, 2024-07-25 Arising from new research of members of the International Successful School Principalship Project this book presents cases of school and leadership success from across 12 countries It provides critically informed writing informed by ecological systems theory which questions the uncritical application of single lens adjectival leadership models challenges critical theorists' views of teachers and leaders as necessarily compliant with so called neoliberal policy agendas In their place the chapters provide compelling evidence not only of who successful leaders are and what they do but how they do it as they meet and manage the challenges of building and sustaining success in uncertain times in a range of cultures and social contexts In these schools principals assert their broad educational values professional identities agency and resilience drawing upon a range of strategies technical and human relating qualities and skills in building and sustaining success for all Whilst they acknowledge the influence of cultural policy and community contexts they are not oppressed by these The chapters provide a brief description of country and school contexts the life and work of the principal their leadership strategies and how they contribute to teacher wellbeing and teaching quality leadership development in others pedagogical leadership cultures of trust and community engagement There is also consideration of how school leaders manage tensions and dilemmas how success differs from effectiveness and the characteristics and qualities of leaders that lead to success It is a book which will stimulate school leaders and aspiring school leaders to consider more deeply their own work and its directions For researchers and system leaders it provides multi level multiple perspective case studies as part of the largest international educational leadership project ever undertaken It is a must read rich timely professionally connected book Emotions and Leadership in Organizations and Educational Institutes Osman Titrek, Anna Stavicka, Ana Campina, Gozde Sezen-Gultekin, Carlos Francisco De Sousa Reis, 2023-11-28 Emotion management is an important source of social capital and synergy for organizations Managers have a great role in the creation of this synergy A manager who can cope with their emotions indirectly contributes to organizational effectiveness This situation is especially important in human oriented organizations providing services rather than goods such as educational institutions

Leadership is a process of social influence which maximizes the efforts of others towards the achievement of a goal. Leadership stems from social influence rather than authority or power. In terms of system approach, the input-output process and feedback of educational organizations are always related to human behaviors. Therefore, organizations must address the nature of human beings in all of their managerial processes. Although organizations in which people are at the foreground try to continue their functioning on a rational and formal basis throughout the managerial process, they sometimes have to manage emotional and informal phenomena. In this case, there is a need for managers and school leaders who can shape the rationale in line with the requirements of human nature. What is expected from this administrator is that they do not ignore human needs and emotions while providing the management of educational institutions. For this reason, these managers should be leaders rather than executives who only work in a formal framework of organization management. Moreover, principals and teachers should also be leaders in all educational processes. Emotions are the main catalyst of positive organizational culture. Leaders can create an effective organizational culture with the main source of positive emotions between employers. Positive emotions also motivate employees for organizational purposes. If a leader wishes to create and maintain an effective organizational culture, it is essential to support positive behavior and emotional climate in their institutes and schools. Leaders, school managers, and teachers therefore need to develop emotion management abilities. Educational organizations need to shape their organizational culture, climate, and psychology to support their leaders in efficiently managing their employees' emotions. Up to now, this topic has been usually addressed as the main catalyst and a sub-dimension of emotional intelligence. Moreover, current evidence classifies social and empathy skills as other sub-dimensions of emotional intelligence. For this reason, this collection of peer-reviewed articles will draw attention to the contemporary term emotional management and contribute to educational fields by means of exploring the relationship between emotions and leadership.

Using Data to Improve Student Learning in High Schools Victoria

Bernhardt, 2013-10-11. This book helps you make sense of the data your school collects, including state student achievement results as well as other qualitative and quantitative data.
