

thirty-five feet wide, but young children never crossed it alone.

For his fifth birthday Greg got a Big Wheel, all blue and red and yellow with fat black tires. The hard plastic wheels made a huge rumbling sound, as loud as the trucks on Maple Avenue.

The first day he had it, Greg rode his Big Wheel for at least two hours. Over and over he rocked down his driveway, yanked the handlebars to the right, and then roared along the sidewalk, his curly hair swept back from his high forehead. And when he noticed the girl across the street sitting on her front steps watching him, Greg poured on an extra burst of speed, and he smiled and waved as he went grinding by. The girl waved back, but she didn't smile.

Then late one afternoon about a week later, the little girl wasn't sitting on her steps when Greg went outside to ride. She was thundering around and around her driveway on a Big Wheel of her own—except hers was pink and green and white. And when Greg went speeding out of his driveway and zipped along the sidewalk, she did the same thing, a mirror image. And when Greg stopped at the corner of Tenth Street and headed back toward driveway, so did the girl across the street. When he sped up, so did she. When he jammed his feet to the ground and slammed to a stop, she did too.

Greg was annoyed, but he pretended to ignore her. He turned and slowly pedaled up toward the corner at Tenth Street again. He didn't look, but he could tell by the sounds that the girl was doing the same thing over on her own sidewalk.

Greg turned his Big Wheel around and put his feet on the pedals. Then he looked across the street. The girl had turned her Big Wheel around too, and she looked back at him, smiling. And when Greg nodded, they both took off.

In seconds Greg was roaring along at top speed, legs pumping, hands tight around the plastic grips. The sidewalk sloped slightly downhill, and as he neared his house, Greg started to ease up. He had never gone down the block past his driveway before. But he glanced over and he could see that the girl wasn't slowing down. So Greg kept going, flying toward the corner where the tall blue mailbox stood. In the places where tree roots had lifted the sidewalk, Greg bounced up off his seat, but

A Europe Made of Money Emmanuel Mourlon-Druol,2012-07-11 A Europe Made of Money is a new history of the making of the European Monetary System EMS based on extensive archive research Emmanuel Mourlon Druol highlights two long term processes in the monetary and economic negotiations in the decade leading up to the founding of the EMS in 1979 The first is a transnational learning process involving a powerful networked European monetary elite that shaped a habit of cooperation among technocrats The second stresses the importance of the European Council which held regular meetings between heads of government beginning in 1974 giving EEC legitimacy to monetary initiatives that had previously involved semisecret and bilateral negotiations The interaction of these two features changed the EMS from a fairly trivial piece of administrative business to a tremendously important political agreement The inception of the EMS was greeted as one of the landmark achievements of regional cooperation a major leap forward in the creation of a unified Europe Yet Murlon Druol s account stresses that the EMS is much more than a success story of financial cooperation The technical suggestions made by its architects reveal how state elites conceptualized the larger project of integration And their monetary policy became a marker for the conception of European identity The unveiling of the EMS Murlon Druol concludes represented the convergence of material interests and symbolic identity based concerns
