British Cruisers of the Victorian Era Norman Friedman,2012-10-29 This magnificent book reinforces Norman Friedman's unparalleled reputation as a peerless author of maritime topics Australian Naval Institute Gradually evolving from the masted steam frigates of the mid nineteenth century the first modern cruiser is not easy to define but for the sake of this book historian Norman Friedman takes as a starting point Iris and Mercury of 1875 They were the Royal Navy's first steel built warships were designed primarily to be steamed rather than sailed and formed the basis of a line of succeeding cruiser classes The story progresses with the last armored cruisers which were succeeded by the first battlecruisers originally called armored cruisers and with the last Third Class Cruisers Topaze class all conceived before 1906 While dovetailing precisely with the author's previous book on British cruisers this one also includes the wartime experience of the earlier ships The two central themes are cruisers for the fleet and cruisers for overseas operations including but not limited to trade protection The distant waters aspect covers the belted cruisers which were nearly capital ships intended to deal with foreign second class battleships in the Far East The main enemies contemplated during this period were France and Russia and the book includes British assessments of their strength and intentions with judgments as to how accurate those assessments were Deeply researched original in its analysis and full of striking insights this is another major contribution by Norman Friedman to the history of British warships

SONS OF TUBAL-CAIN John North,2019-09-17 Sons of Tubal Cain is a comprehensive history of the evolution of Artificers in the Royal

Navy from the introduction of the Engine Room Artificer in 1868 right through to the last class of Artificers to Pass Out from HMS Sultan in 2010 Told with anecdotes memories and all sorts of stories from Artificers themselves in both war and peace the book is narrated with humour and affection on the author's part as he was himself as an Artificer This history follows the introduction of the different trades that the Royal Navy required as the technology became more sophisticated with the introduction of the Electrical Artificer in 1901 the need for Ordnance Artificers and strangely the introduction of the Shipwright Artificer as the last trade to join in 1947 It includes the evolution of the Boy Artificer Jackie Fisher's Second to None in 1903 through all the establishments associated with Artificers and the differing training regimes that changed over the years as the technical requirements of the ships in the fleet altered There are many contributions from retired Artificers serving Artificers and also from relatives of Artificers going back as far as 1871 with many memories that show how engineering in the Royal Navy changed and what it required of its highly trained personnel during the past 150 years The foreword has been supplied by the Chief Naval Engineer Officer Rear Admiral Rick Thompson CBE

Warships After London John Jordan, 2020-09-30 The Washington Treaty of February 1922 put a cap on the construction of capital ships and aircraft carriers while failing to impose similar restraints on auxiliary vessels or submarines This led to a competition in treaty cruisers ships of the maximum 10 000 ton displacement allowed armed with multiple 8in guns and in submarines many of which were designed for long range and high speed on the surface During the 1920s the French and the Japanese took particular advantage of the absence of quantitative or qualitative limits for these vessels to compensate for their inferiority in capital ships Thus as the ten year review of Washington approached Britain and the United States attempted to extend the ratios agreed in 1922 to the newly defined categories of cruisers destroyers and submarines The negotiations which resulted in the Treaty of London of April 1930 were fraught and the agreement proved controversial particularly in Japan Warships After London examines warship developments in the five major navies during the period 1930 1936 Long term plans were disrupted and new construction had to be reviewed in the light of the new treaty regulations The imposition of new quantitative limits for cruisers destroyers and submarines led to new often smaller designs and a need to balance unit size against overall numbers within each of the categories As ships produced under these restrictions were the newest available when war broke out in 1939 this book is a major contribution to understanding the nature of the navies involved Its value is enhanced by well chosen photographs and by the author's specially prepared line drawings showing the overall layout armament protection and propulsion of the ships laid down during the period Warships After London is a fitting sequel to the author's acclaimed Warships After Washington first published by Seaforth in 2011 Pacific Islands Monthly, 1959

Warfare Beneath the Waves Axel Niestlé, 2025-05-30 The longest continuous military campaign of World War II the Battle of the Atlantic is widely considered one of the most complex naval battles in history Between 1939 and 1945 German U Boats and warships together with the Luftwaffe fought against the Royal Navy the Royal Canadian Navy the United States Navy and convoys of Allied merchant ships in a series of devastating battles In Warfare Beneath The Waves eminent naval historian Axel Niestl focuses on three particular convoy battles that took place during this period the German attacks on Allied Convoy SC 7 in October 1940 on Allied Convoy SC 118 in February 1943 and on Allied Convoys JW 66 and RA 66 in April and May 1945 Niestl takes readers through these individual battles in incredible detail with a host of photographs maps and diagrams supporting his detailed explanation and examination of the history tactics and key personages behind these campaigns The end of secrecy embargoes and the increasing availability of online archives together with Niestl s unmatched expertise in this area of military history have come together to make Warfare Beneath The Waves a meticulously researched and incredibly important piece of writing about the Battle of the Atlantic This is a must read not only for fans of naval history but for all fans of military history in general

Anglo-Australian Naval Relations, 1945-1975 Mark Gjessing, 2018-06-06 This book examines Anglo Australian naval relations between 1945 75 a period of great change for both Australia and Great Britain and their respective navies It explores the cultural and historical ties between the Royal Navy and the Royal Australian Navy RAN the efficacy of communications between the services and the importance of personal relations to the overall inter service relationship The author assesses the dilemmas faced by Great Britain associated with that nation s declining power and the impact of the retreat from East of Suez on the strategic relationship between the United Kingdom and Australia The book also considers operational co operation between the Royal Navy and the RAN including conflicts such as the Korean War the Malayan Emergency and confrontation with Indonesia as well as peacetime pursuits such as port visits and the testing of atomic weapons in the 1950s Co operation in matters of personnel and training are also dealt with in great detail along with the co operation between the Royal Navy and the RAN in equipment procurement and design and the increased ability of the RAN to look to non British sources for equipment procurement The book considers the impact of stronger Australian American ties on the RAN and appraises the role it played in the conflict in Vietnam

World Atlas of Epidemic Diseases Smallman-Raynor Matthew, Hagggett Peter, Cliff Andrew, 2004-04-30 The euphoria about the defeat of epidemics which surrounded the global eradication of smallpox in the 1970s proved short lived The advent of AIDS in the following decade the widening spectrum of other newly emergent diseases from Ebola to Hanta virus and the resurgence of old diseases such as tuberculosis and malaria all suggest that the threa

A Brief History of Slavery Jeremy Black, 2011-08-18 A thought provoking and important book that raises essential issues crucial not only for understanding our past but also the present day In this panoramic history Jeremy Black tells how slavery was first developed in the ancient world and reaches all the way to the present in the form of contemporary crimes such as trafficking and bonded labour He shows how slavery has taken many forms throughout history and across the world from the uprising of Spartacus the plantations of the West Indies and the murderous forced labour of the gulags and concentration camps Slavery helped to consolidate transoceanic empires and helped mould new world societies such as America and Brazil Black charts the long fight for abolition in the nineteenth century looking at both the campaigners as well as the harrowing accounts of the enslaved themselves Slavery is still with us today and coerced labour can be found closer to home than one might expect Lists and Indexes Great Britain. Public Record Office,1980 Power and Prowess JH Walker,2020-09-02 A significant reinterpretation of Sarawak history Power and Prowess explores the network of power economic and ritual relationships that developed on the northwest coast of Borneo in the mid nineteenth century from which a coalition led by James Brooke established the state of Sarawak Where many authors placed Brooke in the context of nineteenth century British imperialism this study perceives him in the context of Bornean cultures and political economies Brooke emerges from the historical record as a man of prowess with the author identifying important ritual sources of Brooke s power among Malays Bidayuh and Ibans sources which derived from and expressed indigenous cultural traditions about fertility health and status Drawing on conceptual frameworks from political science as well as recent southeast Asian historiography Power and Prowess offers a detailed political history of the period and new interpretations of Brooke s career This study also retrieves from the historical sources previously concealed narratives which reflect the interests priorities and activities of Sarawak people themselves J H WALKER lectures in political science at the University of New South Wales at the Australian Defence Force Academy The Mariner's Mirror Bibliography for ... ,1992 Waterline Warships Philip Reed,2011-02-23 Philip Reed best known for his superb models of ships from the age of sail here turns his attention to the other highly popular subject for ship modelers the warships of the Second World War The book is a step by step manual for building a scratch waterline model of the Ca Class destroyer HMS Caesar the sistership of Cavalier now on display in drydock at Chatham Historical Dockyard These emergency built ships were launched between 1943 and 1945 and Caesar herself was to see action in 1944 on the Russian convoys and then in defense of the Western Approaches The model presented in the book is built to the scale of 16ft to the inch and is designed to be displayed as a waterline model in a diorama Every aspect is covered from the construction of a bread and butter hull through to the the details of camouflage bridge funnel mast the 4 5in Hazemeyer and Oerlikon guns boats davits depth charge gear torpedo tubes searchlights vents and lockers and the sea itself Ship s plans and a picture gallery at the end of the book devoted to a whole array of the author s WWII model warships complete the book More than fifty years of modeling experience is passed on through wise and practical advice and thus each page will be of the utmost value to scratch builders and to any kit builders who may be setting out to construct a model of a WWII warship A Reference Handbook of the Medical Sciences Albert Henry Buck,1916
