

PARTS OF A TELESCOPE

Eyepiece

The eyepiece forms one of the most essential parts of a telescope. It allows the user to observe the specific object's telescopic image. The amount of magnification of a telescope is determined by the ratio of the focal length of the objective lens/mirror divided by that of the eyepiece lens/mirror.

Finderscope

A finder scope pertains to a small telescope that is attached to the main telescopic tube. It is used to find the estimated location of the object that is to be viewed. It has a lower magnification and a wider field of view. It is one of the important parts of a telescope.

Lenses

All refracting telescopes use two lenses. The eyepiece lens is one lens, and the objective lens is the other. Commonly, these are biconcave or curved outwards on both sides. A telescope's lens is similar to the lens of eyeglasses, as it bends light passing through it.

Telescope Tube

The main mirror is located inside the telescope tube, which serves as the instrument's body. A telescope tube typically has a diameter of around 8 inches. It helps in improving the focal length setting by adjusting the knob below the visual back.

Structural Support

High-power telescopes are generally large and are not used as hand-held instruments. Different platforms, such as tripods, are used in telescopic designs to install the telescope correctly.

Mirrors

If a telescope uses mirrors, then it is referred to as a reflecting telescope. Compared to a lens, a mirror can be very thin. Also, a bigger mirror does not need to be thicker. It's because rebounding off the mirror concentrates the light.
