Emmanuel Levinas, 2012-12-06 The Military and Colonial Destruction of the Roman Landscape of North Africa, 1830-1900 Michael Greenhalgh, 2014-05-08 The French invaded Algeria in 1830 and found a landscape rich in Roman remains which they proceeded to re use to support the constructions such as fortresses barracks and hospitals needed to fight the natives who continued to object to their presence and to house the various colonisation projects with which they intended to solidify their hold on the country and to make it both modern and profitable Arabs and Berbers had occasionally made use of the ruins but it was still a Roman and Early Christian landscape when the French arrived In the space of two generations this was destroyed just as were many ancient remains in France in part because real architecture was Greek not Roman Histoire Physiologique Et Anecdotique Des Chiens de Toutes Les Races Bénédict-Henry Révoil, 1857 La Crise Financière de l'Angleterre ... The Stoics Louisa Siefert, 2023-08-16 Louisa Siefert was a prolific poet, critic, playwright, and novelist who published many works that were bestsellers in nineteenth-century France. This bilingual critical edition of Siefert's Les Stoïques (1870) aims to restore Louisa Siefert's intellectual legacy while providing ample material for further scholarship on her unique poetic voice. Siefert's intellectual power and aesthetic originality are especially pronounced in her Les Stoïques, a volume that exemplifies her transdisciplinary mind and rich sonnet practice. The more than forty poems collected here are presented in the original French with masterful translations into English by Norman R. Shapiro, one of the most highly regarded English translators of French poetry. Shapiro's inspired translations of Siefert's texts give readers a sense of her prosodic mastery and flair as well as the way she uses poetry to think about the relation between mind and body. In her introduction, Adrianna M. Paliyenko reconstructs from original archival research the reception of Les Stoïques from May 1870 to the present, describing how many nineteenth-century readers considered Siefert's philosophical verse to be central to her contribution to French poetic history and in turn how the gendering of poetic expression and the canon sidelined Siefert's intellectual accomplishment. A monumental achievement, this book brings the work of a major French poet to a broader audience. Siefert's poetic primer on the Stoic way of thinking about why humans suffer or find serenity and joy and other big questions of life will strike a chord with modern readers.

Les Bivouacs de Vera-Cruz à Mexico par un Zouave avec un carte ... Préface par A. Scholl, 1865 Service de terre et de mer du canon de 4, rayé, de montagne A. SÉGOND (Captain.), 1865 Pamphlets on Biology, 1908
