Limpopo Economics Paper2:

The Rhodesian Journal of Economics, 1970 Land Use Luis Loures, 2019-03-13 The intensive increase in land use change is considered both a source of richness and a serious problem to landscape sustainability In this scenario although land use change plays a very important role for societal development the impact of land use changes on economic social and ecological functions requires special attention The new environmental paradigms associated with globalization and progressive climate change will certainly intensify the entropy and the instability in most of the existing land uses In this regard this book aims to highlight a body of knowledge related to the discussion of the opportunities and challenges associated with the development of new sustainable landscapes considering current and future challenges related to land use changes and planning Land Reforms, Poverty Reduction, and Economic Growth: Evidence from India Hari K. Nagarajan, Post-Independence Development in Africa David Mhlanga, Emmanuel Ndhlovu, 2023-07-11 The book Post Independence Development in Africa Decolonisation and Transformation Prospects revisits the development debates and development realities in Africa This is achieved by offering theoretical comments about post independence development in Africa and by providing historical details pertaining to the development approaches adopted in Africa immediately after independence in the 1960s and mid 70s Sitting at the intersection of two sets of scholarly literature namely literature on development and literature on development discourses and practices in Africa the book comprises a mixture of detailed sector specific accounts of the status of development on the continent The chapters in the book also contribute to clarifying how the two strands of literature intersect using several case studies across Africa African State Governance A. Carl LeVan, Joseph Olayinka Fashagba, Edward R. McMahon, 2016-02-05 Africa is changing and it is easy to overlook how decentralization democratization and new forms of illiberalism have transformed federalism political parties and local politics Chapters on Kenya Nigeria Ethiopia and South Africa help fill an important gap in comparative institutional research about state and local politics in Africa A Comparative Perspective of Women's Economic Empowerment Meltem Ince Yenilmez, Onur Burak Celik, 2019-05-29 The need for the creation of an enabling political legal and economic environment for women within Turkey is rising A growing concern is shown at the ethnic divisions and local discrimination against women which have spilled over into the labor market This book lends a supporting voice to the economic and social empowerment of women globally focusing on the real causes and the unpredictable nature of the ongoing conflicts surrounding the issue The authors bring to the forefront problems of development within various regions and the implementation of projects which address the state of women inequality and risks that are inimical to their participation in the economy Emphasis is laid on why women should be permitted access to the many opportunities in information technology and exchange partnership growth and networking in this digital era The oppressive policies of Turkey are scrutinized to unravel the dangers they pose to the corporate existence of women in the modern world Furthermore this book centers on the deliberation on regional politics and issues on gender and women's empowerment in modern Turkey whilst comparing with other countries. The work sheds light on salient issues and possible remedies within target countries and the concerted efforts made to create a reliable structure to discuss gender conflicts. Ample contributions from countries such as the US, Germany, Serbia, South Africa and United Kingdom are pivotal to comparing and examining the main debates. Addressing several global gender-related examples as well as Turkey's national principles, this book encourages full involvement of women and girls in deciding the fate of their country. This book serves as the rallying point of an array of informative and mind-expanding works of literature in regional studies, gender studies, migration, economy and area studies in countries like Turkey, USA, Serbia, UK and India. Experts, students and readers in the academic sphere may find this work educative and intellectually fulfilling.

Climate Smart Agriculture Leslie Lipper, Nancy McCarthy, David Zilberman, Solomon Asfaw, Giacomo Branca, 2017-10-20. This book is open access under a CC BY-NC-SA 3.0 IGO license. The book uses an economic lens to identify the main features of climate smart agriculture (CSA), its likely impact and the challenges associated with its implementation. Drawing upon theory and concepts from agricultural development, institutional and resource economics, this book expands and formalizes the conceptual foundations of CSA. Focusing on the adaptation/resilience dimension of CSA, the text embraces a mixture of conceptual analyses including theory, empirical and policy analysis and case studies to look at adaptation and resilience through three possible avenues: ex ante reduction of vulnerability, increasing adaptive capacity and ex post risk coping. The book is divided into three sections. The first section provides conceptual framing, giving an overview of the CSA concept and grounding it in core economic principles. The second section is devoted to a set of case studies illustrating the economic basis of CSA in terms of reducing vulnerability, increasing adaptive capacity and ex post risk coping. The final section addresses policy issues related to climate change. Providing information on this new and important field in an approachable way, this book helps make sense of CSA and fills intellectual and policy gaps by defining the concept and placing it within an economic decision-making framework. This book will be of interest to agricultural, environmental and natural resource economists, development economists and scholars of development studies, climate change and agriculture. It will also appeal to policy makers, development practitioners and members of governmental and non-governmental organizations interested in agriculture, food security and climate change.

African Handbook of Climate Change Adaptation Nicholas Oguge, Desalegn Ayal, Lydia Adeleke, Izael da Silva, 2021-05-20. This open access book discusses current thinking and presents the main issues and challenges associated with climate change in Africa. It introduces evidence from studies and projects which show how climate change adaptation is being and may continue to be successfully implemented in African countries. Thanks to its scope and wide range of themes surrounding climate change, the ambition is that this book will be a lead publication on the topic which may be regularly updated and hence capture further works. Climate change is a major global challenge. However, some geographical regions are more severely affected than others. One of these regions is the African continent. Due to a combination of unfavourable socio economic and meteorological conditions African countries are particularly vulnerable to climate change and its impacts The recently released IPCC special report Global Warming of 1.5°C outlines the fact that keeping global warming by the level of 1.5°C is possible but also suggested that an increase by 2.0°C could lead to crises with crops agriculture fed by rain could drop by 50% in some African countries by 2020 and livestock production could damage water supplies and pose an additional threat to coastal areas The 5th Assessment Report produced by IPCC predicts that wheat may disappear from Africa by 2080 and that maize a staple will fall significantly in southern Africa Also arid and semi arid lands are likely to increase by up to 8% with severe ramifications for livelihoods poverty eradication and meeting the SDGs Pursuing appropriate adaptation strategies is thus vital in order to address the current and future challenges posed by a changing climate It is against this background that the African Handbook of Climate Change Adaptation is being published It contains papers prepared by scholars representatives from social movements practitioners and members of governmental agencies undertaking research and or executing climate change projects in Africa and working with communities across the African continent Encompassing over 100 contributions from across Africa it is the most comprehensive publication on climate change adaptation in Africa ever produced

Water Governance for Sustainable Development Sylvain Perret, Stefano Farolfi, Rashid Hassan, 2013-06-17 Good management of water resources universally identified as a key aspect of poverty reduction agriculture and food security has proven in practice as difficult to achieve as it is eagerly sought This book edited and authored by leading authorities on water resource management examines the recent changes in governance institutions economics and policies of water covering developing transitional and developed countries with special emphasis on southern African case studies The book examines how water policies institutions and governance have shifted in recent years from supply driven quantitative centrally controlled management to more demand sensitive decentralized participatory approaches Such a move often also implies cost recovery principles resource allocation among competing sectors and privatization The case studies demonstrate that the new policies and legal frameworks have been difficult to implement and often fall short of initial expectations Using an accessible multidisciplinary approach that integrates economics sociology geography and policy analysis the book untangles the issues and presents best practices for policy and decision makers governments and regulators NGOs and user groups service providers and researchers The overall aim is to show how good water governance structures can be developed and implemented for the benefit of all

Climate change and agriculture in the Sudan: Impact pathways beyond changes in mean rainfall and temperature Siddig, Khalid, Stepanyan, Davit, Wiebelt, Manfred, Zhu, Tingju, Grethe, Harald, 2018-09-26 Several environmental changes have occurred in the Sudan in the past several are ongoing and others are projected to happen in the future The Sudan has witnessed increases in temperature floods rainfall variability and concurrent droughts In a country where agriculture which is mainly rainfed is a major contributor to gross domestic product foreign exchange earnings and livelihoods these changes are especially important requiring measurement and analysis of their impact This study not only analyzes the economy wide impacts of climate change but also consults national policy plans strategies and environmental assessments to identify interventions which may mitigate the effects We feed climate forcing water demand and macro socioeconomic trends into a modelling suite that includes models for global hydrology river basin management water stress and crop growth all connected to the International Model for Policy Analysis of Agricultural Commodities and Trade IMPACT The outcomes of this part of the modeling suite are annual crop yields and global food prices under various climate change scenarios until 2050 The effects of such changes on production consumption macroeconomic indicators and income distribution are assessed using a single country dynamic Computable General Equilibrium CGE model for the Sudan Additionally we introduce yield variability into the CGE model based on stochastic projections of crop yields until 2050 The results of the model simulations reveal that while the projected mean climate changes bring some good news for the Sudan extreme negative variability costs the Sudan cumulatively between 2018 and 2050 US 109.5 billion in total absorption and US 105.5 billion in GDP relative to a historical mean climate scenario without climate change

Market-Led Agrarian Reform Saturnino Borras Jr., Cristóbal Kay, Edward Lahiff, 2013-09-13 Three fourths of the world's poor are rural poor Most of the rural poor remain dependent on land based livelihoods for their incomes and reproduction despite significant livelihood diversification in recent years Land issue remains critical to any development discourse today Market led agrarian reform MLAR has gained prominence since the early 1990s as an alternative to state led land reforms This neoliberal policy is based on the inversion of what its proponents see as the features of earlier approaches and calls for redistribution via privatized decentralized transactions between willing sellers and willing buyers Its proponents especially those associated with the World Bank have claimed success where the policy has been implemented but such claims have been contested by independent scholars as well as by peasant movements who are struggling to gain access to land This book presents three thematic papers and six country studies The thematic papers address issues of formalisation of property rights gendered land rights and neoliberal enclosure These studies demonstrate the pervasive influence of neoliberal ideas on property rights and rural development debates well beyond the core question of land redistribution The country cases bring together experiences from Brazil Guatemala El Salvador Philippines South Africa and Egypt Common findings include the success of landowners in minimising the impact of reform and a lack of post transfer support translating into marginal impact on poverty The limitations of the market led approach and the implications of the studies presented here for the future of agrarian reform are considered in the editors introduction This book was a special issue of The Third World Quarterly

Accountability in education: meeting our commitments UNESCO,2017-10-30 The second edition of the Global Education Monitoring Report GEM Report presents the latest evidence on global progress towards the education targets of the UN Sustainable Development Goals With hundreds of millions of people still not going to school and many not achieving minimum skills at school it is clear education systems are off track to achieve global goals The marginalized currently bear the most consequences but also stand to benefit the most if policy makers pay sufficient attention to their needs Faced with these challenges along with tight budgets and increased emphasis on results oriented value for money countries are searching for solutions Increased accountability often tops the list The 2017 8 GEM Report shows the entire array of approaches to accountability in education It ranges from countries unused to the concept where violations of the right to education go unchallenged to countries where accountability has become an end in itself instead of a means to inclusive equitable and high quality education and lifelong learning for all The report emphasizes that education is a shared responsibility While governments have primary responsibility all actors schools teachers parents students international organizations private sector providers civil society and the media 0 3 have a role in improving education systems The report emphasized the importance of transparency and availability of information but urges caution in how data are used It makes the case for avoiding accountability systems with a disproportionate focus on narrowly defined results and punitive sanctions In an era of multiple accountability tools the report provides clear evidence on those that are working and those that are not

Back cover Current policy and status of DDT use for malaria control in Ethiopia, Uganda, Kenya and South Africa Melanie L. Biscoe,Clifford M. Mutero,Randall A. Kramer,2004 For most African countries malaria has become an overwhelming public health problem leading some governments to consider using DDT for malaria control in the midst of a heightened debate about its advantages and disadvantages This report seeks to document the nature of the DDT debate in East and Southern Africa by describing current DDT policy plus malaria and insecticide control specialists views on alternatives to DDT use examining the factors that influence malaria control policy formation and assessing specialists knowledge about the human health impacts of DDT To obtain this information malaria and insecticide control specialists were interviewed in Ethiopia Uganda Kenya and South Africa and malaria control policy documents from each country were reviewed Results indicate that DDT use for indoor residual spraying IRS continues to be viewed as a viable malaria control option although most specialists are receptive to alternative control measures Additionally decentralization has had a profound impact on malaria control in East Africa and the POPs Treaty is used simultaneously as a rationale for a reintroduction of DDT and its continued prohibition in public health Finally research necessary to make informed decisions on malaria control policy is lacking in East Africa and there is a need to educate malaria and insecticide control specialists on the human health impacts of insecticides used for vector control including DDT
