Assessing Academic Literacy in a Multilingual Society Albert Weideman, John Read, Theo du Plessis, 2020-11-02 South African universities face major challenges in meeting the needs of their students in the area of academic language and literacy The dominant medium of instruction in the universities is English and to a much lesser extent Afrikaans but only a minority of the national population are native speakers of these languages Nine other languages can be media of instruction in schools which makes the transition to tertiary education difficult enough in itself for students from these schools The focus of this book is on procedures for assessing the academic language and literacy levels and needs of students not in order to exclude students from higher education but rather to identify those who would benefit from further development of their ability in order to undertake their degree studies successfully The volume also aims to bring the innovative solutions designed by South African educators to a wider international audience The Science of Boredom Sandi Mann, 2017-11-02 Are we living in an age where we are more boredom prone Or are other people boring us Or could we be that boring person In our current information age we are constantly connected to technology and have so many varied ways to spend our leisure time that we should all surely never know what boredom feels like Yet boredom appears to be on the rise

it seems that the more we have to stimulate us the more stimulation we crave In a quest to relieve our boredom we engage in dangerous risk taking from extreme sports to drugs to gambling to anti social behaviour or we overindulge in shopping or eating The Science of Boredom explores the causes and consequences of boredom in the fast paced twenty first century Parents are desperate to keep their children entertained during every waking moment the education system is geared towards interactivity and attention spans are dropping as we use multiple devices at all times But the world of work can be increasingly repetitive and routine and we are losing the ability to tolerate this everyday tedium Using Sandi Mann s own ground breaking research into boredom this book tells the story of how we act react and cope when we are bored and argues that there is a positive side to boredom It can be a catalyst for humour fun reflection creativity and inspiration The radical solution to the boredom problem is to harness it rather than try to avoid it Allowing yourself time away from constant stimuli can enrich your life We should all embrace our boredom and see the upside of our downtime MATHS PRACTICE

Literacy Jake Hunton, 2018-08-13 In Exam Literacy, A guide to doing what works and not what doesn't to better prepare students for exams. Jake Hunton focuses on the latest cognitive research into revision techniques and delivers proven strategies which actually work. Foreword by Professor John Dunlosky. Read, highlight, reread, repeat. If such a revision cycle sounds all too wearily familiar, you and your students need a better route to exam success. And in light of the recent decision to make all subjects at GCSE linear, so that students will be tested in one-off sittings, it will be even more important that students are well equipped to acquire and recall key content ahead of their exams. In this wide-ranging guide to effective exam preparation, Jake Hunton casts a careful eye over a wide range of research into revision techniques and details the strategies which have been proven to deliver the best results. With plenty of practical suggestions and subject-specific examples, Exam Literacy provides teachers with user-friendly advice on how they can make the content they cover stick and shares up-to-date, evidence-based information on the nature of learning and the various types of memory. How to improve students' retention of knowledge and recall of content. Why popular revision techniques such as rereading, highlighting and summarising may not be as effective as you think. How revision strategies that have been identified as being more effective, such as interleaving, elaborative interrogation, self-explanation and retrieval practice, can be embedded into day-to-day teaching. How students can be encouraged to make use of these winning strategies when revising independently. History of Education Policymaking in India, 1947-2016 R. V. Vaidyanatha Ayyar, 2017-09-12 This book comprehensively chronicles the history of education policymaking in India from 1947 to 2016, with a focus on the developments after 1964 when the Kothari Commission was constituted. The book is informed by the rare insights acquired by the author while making policy at the state, national and international levels of governance. Another distinguishing feature of this book lies in the attention it pays to the process and politics of policymaking and the larger setting or to use jargon the political and policy environment in which policies were made at different points of time The author brings out a crucial analysis of the Indian educational system against the backdrop of national and global political economic and educational developments Two other distinguishing features of the book are the systematic treatment of the regulation of education and the role of judiciary in the making and implementation of education policies

Mathematica David Bessis,2024-05-28 A fascinating look into how the transformative joys of mathematical experience are available to everyone not just specialists Math has a reputation for being inaccessible People think that it requires a special gift or that comprehension is a matter of genes Yet the greatest mathematicians throughout history from Ren Descartes to Alexander Grothendieck have insisted that this is not the case Like Albert Einstein who famously claimed to have no special talent they said that they had accomplished what they did using ordinary human doubts weaknesses curiosity and imagination David Bessis guides us on an illuminating path toward deeper mathematical comprehension reconnecting us with the mental plasticity we experienced as children With simple concrete examples Bessis shows how mathematical comprehension is integral to the great learning milestones of life such as learning to see to speak to walk and to eat with a spoon Focusing on the deeply human roots of mathematics Bessis dispels the myths of mathematical genius He offers an engaging initiation into the experience of math not as a series of discouragingly incomprehensible logic problems but as a physical activity akin to yoga meditation or a martial art This perspective will change the way you think not only about math but also about intelligence intuition and everything that goes on inside your head
