

The background of the slide is a 3D rendering of a white, torn paper surface. The paper is layered, with some pieces floating in the air and others resting on a red, jagged, torn surface at the bottom. Scattered on the white paper are several small, dark rectangular objects, possibly representing MATLAB code blocks or documents. The overall aesthetic is clean and modern, with a focus on the text.

wide range of disciplines The examples are drawn from concepts introduced in early chemistry and physics classes and freshman and sophomore engineering classes A standard problem solving methodology is used consistently The text assumes that the student has a basic understanding of college algebra and has been introduced to trigonometric concepts students who are mathematically more advanced generally progress through the material more rapidly Although the text is not intended to teach subjects such as statistics or matrix algebra when the MATLAB techniques related to these subjects are introduced a brief background is included In addition sections describing MATLAB techniques for solving problems by means of calculus and differential equations are introduced near the end of appropriate chapters These sections can be assigned for additional study to students with a more advanced mathematics background or they may be useful as reference material as students progress through an engineering curriculum
