

We will miss you

The text "We will miss you" is written in a playful, rounded script. Each letter is red with a thick teal shadow, creating a 3D effect. The words are arranged in two lines: "We will" on top and "miss you" below. The text is decorated with several small teal four-pointed stars and purple circles scattered around the letters.

Hacker Daniels, 2025-06-12 Casting the Art of Rhetoric with Theater and Drama Taking Center Stage explores rhetoric and theater as they relate to one another developing the understanding of rhetoric as theory and praxis This book addresses rhetorical themes and cultural resonances as well as the oft overlooked symbiosis of rhetoric and theater Rather than addressing audiences as either observers of rhetorical artifacts or theatrical performance this work demonstrates the intersection of the two which strengthens theatrical events and their cultural significance Overall the volume showcases the many ways in which an understanding of the relationship between rhetorical and poetic theories can benefit dramatic convention and the breaking thereof     The Delineator R. S. O'Loughlin, H. F. Montgomery, Charles Dwyer, 1929     Exiles at Home Dereck C. Sale, 2014-10-17 Beginning around the middle of the last century when after centuries of colonization Jamaica began moving to cut its ties to England many Jamaicans especially those of the old establishment became nervous about the island's future and their place in a newly constituted sovereign state During two decades following Independence their fears real or imagined were either realized or seemed about to be In either case the alternative for them was to leave or prepare to leave the island with the hope of finding a continuation of their former lives abroad A generation of them did some with more difficulty than others but until they departed Jamaica they were exiles at home The five pieces in this book are fictional stories The first four are set in Jamaica the fifth in anticipation of the main theme is set in England
