Tarulevicz argues that in a society that has undergone substantial change in a relatively short amount of time food serves Singaporeans as a poignant connection to the past Eating has provided a unifying practice for a diverse society a metaphor for multiracialism and recognizable national symbols for a fledgling state Covering the period from British settlement in 1819 to the present and focusing on the post 1965 postcolonial era Tarulevicz tells the story of Singapore through the production and consumption of food Analyzing a variety of sources that range from cookbooks to architectural and city plans Tarulevicz offer a thematic history of this unusual country which was colonized by the British and operated as a port within Malaya Connecting food culture to the larger history of Singapore she discusses various topics including domesticity and home economics housing and architecture advertising and the regulation of food related manners and public behavior such as hawking littering and chewing gum Moving away from the predominantly political and economic focus of other histories of Singapore Eating Her Curries and Kway provides an important alternative reading of Singaporean society
