Oge,2015-04-07 A distinguished expert offers a dazzling preview of the cars of the future while exploring the science and politics behind climate change As the director of the EPA s Office of Transportation and Air Quality engineer Margo Oge was the chief architect behind the Obama administration s landmark 2012 deal with automakers in the US market to double the fuel efficiency of their fleets to 54.5 mpg and cut greenhouse gas emissions in half by 2025 This was America s first formal climate action using regulation to reduce emissions through innovation in car design Tom Friedman praised the new rules as the Big Deal that redeemed the administration s previous inaction In Driving the Future Oge portrays a future where clean intelligent vehicles with lighter frames and alternative power trains will produce zero emissions and run at 100 mpg With electronic architectures more like that of airplanes cars will be smarter and safer will park themselves and will network with other vehicles on the road to drive themselves Offering an insider account of the partnership between Federal agencies California environmental groups and car manufacturers that led to the historic deal she discusses the science of climate change the politics of addressing it and the lessons learned for policymakers She also takes the reader through the convergence of macro trends that will drive this innovation over the next forty years and be every bit as transformative as those wrought by Karl Benz and Henry Ford The Transportation Experience William L. Garrison,David M.

Levinson,2014-03 The Transportation Experience explores the historical evolution of transportation modes and technologies The book traces how systems are innovated planned and adapted deployed and expanded and reach maturity where they may either be maintained in a polished obsolesce often propped up by subsidies be displaced by competitors or be reorganized and renewed An array of examples supports the idea that modern policies are built from past experiences William Garrison and David Levinson assert that the planning and control of nonlinear unstable processes is today s central transportation problem and that this is universal and true of all modes Modes are similar in that they all have a triad structure of network vehicles and operations but this framework counters conventional wisdom Most think of each mode as having a unique history and status and each is regarded as the private playground of experts and agencies holding unique knowledge operating in isolated silos However this book argues that while modes have an appearance of uniqueness the same patterns repeat systems policies structures and behaviors are a generic design on varying modal cloth In the end the illusion of uniqueness proves to be myopic While it is true that knowledge has accumulated from past experiences the heavy hand of these experiences places boundaries on current knowledge especially on the ways professionals define problems and think about processes The Transportation Experience provides perspective for the collections of models and techniques that are the essence of transportation science and also expands the boundaries of current knowledge of the field Convert to EV:The Basics (Second Edition) , Infranomics Adrian V. Gheorghe, Marcelo Masera, Polinapilinho F. Katina, 2013-12-03 This book provides a rough entry into the interdisciplinary field of Infranomics It enables better decision making in an increasing ambiguous complex emergent interdependent and uncertain world where we attempt to anticipate modern society trends and patterns in order to react appropriately However as with any emerging discipline much research is needed at the applications and conceptual level The applications level may require development and testing of methods tools and techniques to enable analysis and decision making in ambiguous complex emergent interdependent and uncertain conditions while the conceptual level may require tapping into driving philosophies theories and methodologies that form the basis for Infranomics Striking the right balance between applications and conceptual foundation theory requires rigorous research This book provides a springboard for robust discussions on applications theory and transformation of current thinking to better deal with modern society s problematic issues using Infranomics Environmental Subsidies to Consumers Shigeru Matsumoto, 2015-06-12 A typical consumer underestimates the benefits of future energy savings and underinvests in energy efficiency relative to a description of the socially optimal level of energy efficiency To alleviate this energy efficiency gap problem various programs have been implemented In recent years many governments have started providing consumers with subsidies on the purchases of eco friendly products such as hybrid cars and energy efficient appliances This book conducts a comprehensive analysis of the environmental subsidy programs conducted in Japan and examines their impacts on consumer product selection consumer product use and environmental outcome The book also proposes recommendations for future environmental and industrial policies The book s empirical findings will be of interest to those who are researching on and policymakers of environmental and industrial policies
