Hrc Peer Review Manual:

Handbook of Culturally Responsive School Mental Health Caroline S. Clauss-Ehlers, Zewelangi N. Serpell, Mark D. Weist, 2012-12-09 Schools across the United States as well as much of the world are experiencing widespread change. Students are more diverse ethnically, academically, and emotionally. More attention is being paid to abuse and neglect, violence, and bullying, and the growing inequities that contribute to student dropout. Within this changing landscape, cultural competence is imperative for school-based professionals, both ethically and as mandated by educational reform. The Handbook of Culturally Responsive School Mental Health explores the academic and behavioral challenges of an increasingly diverse school environment, offering workable, cost-effective solutions in an accessible, well-organized format. This timely volume updates the research on cultural competence in school-based interventions, describes innovative approaches to counseling and classroom life, and demonstrates how this knowledge is used in successful programs with children, adolescents, and their families. Populations covered range widely from African American and Asian American/Pacific Islander families to forced migrants and children who live on military bases. By addressing issues of training and policy as well as research and practice, contributors present a variety of topics that are salient, engaging, and applicable to contemporary experience, including: Adolescent ethnic/racial identity development; Culturally responsive school mental health in rural communities; Working with LGBT youth in school settings; Cultural competence in work with youth gangs; Culturally integrated substance abuse prevention and sex education programs; Promoting culturally competent school-based assessment; School-based behavioral health care in overseas military bases; Developmental, legal, and linguistic considerations in work with forced migrant children; Cultural considerations in work/family balance. The Handbook of Culturally Responsive School Mental Health is a must-have reference for researchers, scientists, practitioners, educational policymakers, and graduate students in child and school psychology, educational psychology, pediatrics, school nursing, social work, counseling, therapy, teaching, and teacher education, and educational administration.

Covenants at 50 Daniel Moeckli, Helen Keller, Corina Heri, 2018 Fifty years after the UN General Assembly adopted the two human rights covenants this volume brings together contributions considering the key issues facing the international human rights system today taking stock of the achievements of the covenants assessing their current influence and exploring the future challenges facing them The Human Right to Development in a Globalized World Daniel Aguirre, 2021-12-16 Offering a comprehensive analysis of the human right to development and its realistic application in an era of economic globalization Daniel Aguirre provides a multidisciplinary overview of economic globalization and examines its challenges to the realization of human development He takes this further by engaging with these challenges and highlighting the human rights opportunities presented by economic globalization and the international investment system The volume proposes a triadic system of responsibility for human rights in development to include mapping the overlapping human rights responsibilities of corporations at the micro level of states at the macro level and of the international community at the meso level The scope of the book is broad and the approach to the subject is new It will generate interest across many disciplines including political science international law and economics Activists academics and development practitioners in many fields should also read this book The Geopolitics of Shaming Rochelle Terman, 2023-10-31 A bold new perspective on the strategic logic of international human rights enforcement When a government violates the rights of its citizens the international community can respond by exerting moral pressure and urging reform Yet many of the most egregious violations appear to go unpunished In many cases shaming not only fails to induce compliance but also incites a backlash provoking resistance and worsening human rights practices The Geopolitics of Shaming presents a new theory on the strategic logic of international human rights enforcement revealing why and how states punish violations in other countries when shaming leads to an improvement in human rights conditions and when it backfires Drawing on a wide range of evidence from large scale cross national data to original survey experiments and detailed case studies Rochelle Terman shows how human rights shaming is a deeply political process one that operates in and through strategic relationships Arguing that preexisting geopolitical relationships condition both the causes and consequences of shaming in world politics she shows how adversaries are quick to condemn human rights abuses but often provoke a counterproductive response while friends and allies are the most effective shamers but can be reluctant to impose meaningful sanctions Upending conventional wisdom on the role of norms in world affairs The Geopolitics of Shaming demonstrates that politicization is integral to not a corruption of the success of the global human rights project Human Rights and the UN Universal Periodic Review Mechanism Damian Etone, Amna Nazir, Alice Storey, 2024-02-27 The Universal Periodic Review UPR is a peer review mechanism reviewing all 193 UN Member States protection and promotion of human rights After ten years of the existence of the UPR mechanism this collection examines the effectiveness of the UPR theoretical and conceptual debates about its modus operandi and the lessons that can be drawn across different regions states to identify possible improvements The book argues that despite its limitations the UPR mechanism with its inclusive cooperative and collaborative framework is an important human rights mechanism with the potential to evolve over time into an effective cooperative tool for monitoring human rights implementation Divided into three parts the first part focuses on exploring a variety of theoretical approaches to understanding the UPR mechanism The second part examines specific human rights themes and the relationship between the UPR mechanism and other international mechanisms Finally the third part questions implementation and the ways in which states regional groupings have engaged with the UPR mechanism and what lessons can be learned for the future The volume will be a valuable resource for researchers academics and policymakers working in the area of international human rights law international organizations and international relations We would like to acknowledge the UPR Academic Network UPRAN for bringing together the experts on this project and the University of Stirling for providing funds to facilitate open access dissemination for parts of this output The Introduction and Chapter 6 of this book are freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution CC BY 4.0 license
