Stanton J. Linden, 2014-07-11 The literary influence of alchemy and hermeticism in the work of most medieval and early modern authors has been overlooked Stanton Linden now provides the first comprehensive examination of this influence on English literature from the late Middle Ages through the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries Drawing extensively on alchemical allusions as well as on the practical and theoretical background of the art and its pictorial tradition Linden demonstrates the pervasiveness of interest in alchemy during this three hundred year period Most writers including Langland Gower Barclay Erasmus Sidney Greene Lyly and Shakespeare were familiar with alchemy and references to it appear in a wide range of genres Yet the purposes it served in literature from Chaucer through Jonson were narrowly satirical In literature of the seventeenth century especially in the poetry of Donne Herbert Vaughan and Milton the functions of alchemy changed Focusing on Bacon Donne Herbert Vaughan and Milton in addition to Jonson and Butler Linden demonstrates the emergence of new attitudes and innovative themes motifs images and ideas The use of alchemy to suggest spiritual growth and change purification regeneration and millenarian ideas reflected important new emphases in alchemical medical and occultist writing This new tradition did not continue however and Butler's return to satire was contextualized in the antagonism of the Royal Society and religious Latitudinarians to philosophical enthusiasm and the occult Butler like Shadwell and Swift expanded the range of satirical victims to include experimental scientists as well as occult charlatans The literary uses of alchemy thus reveal the changing intellectual milieus of three centuries
