Ib Geography Paper November 23:

The Shadow of Kenyan Democracy Dominic Burbidge, 2016-03-09 Why has democracy failed to reduce corruption in Kenya Framing the challenge in game theoretical terms Dominic Burbidge examines how mutual expectations between citizens dictate the success or failure of political reforms Since 1992 Kenya has conducted multiparty elections with the hope of promoting accountability and transparency in government This is being undermined by ongoing corruption and an increasingly centralised state response to terrorism Providing a nuanced assessment of democracy's difficult road in Kenya Burbidge discusses the independent role being played by widespread social expectations of corruption Through tracking average views of the average person it is possible to identify a threshold beyond which society suffers mutually reinforcing negative social expectations This trend is the shadow of Kenyan democracy and must be treated as a policy challenge on its own terms before institutional reforms will be successful

The Moving Frontier Lois Labrianidis, 2019-06-04 Originally published in 1992 and based on two theoretical approaches the Global Commodity Chain and the Global Production Network this book investigates the multitude of processes as well as diverse consequences of global integration upon industries regions enterprises and employees In doing so it draws from the experience of Western and Eastern and South eastern Europe These European cases are complemented with evidence from Kenya Thailand as well as US China India and Mexico The book explores multiple causes of decentralization arguing beyond the pursuit of cheap and adaptable labour It goes on to argue that the effects of delocalization within Europe unlike those in the rest of the developed world are less negative than usually portrayed It concludes by putting forward recommendations for best future practice of successful adjustment strategies and examines how these might be adopted elsewhere in the world
