SFL's vibrant theory of language above the clause and SFL as a theory of praxis with real-world applications. Halliday and Chinese Linguistics: The Full Circle Zhuanglin Hu, 2024-06-24. This book is a progressive exposition on Halliday's academic thought and its origins by the renowned linguist Hu Zhuanglin, based on 30 years of research. The first part, Chinese Origin, introduces readers to the author's gradual understanding that Halliday's academic thought mainly came from Chinese scholars such as Wang Li, Luo Changpei and Gao Mingkai. In the 1980s, Halliday and his students introduced the theory of Systemic Functional Linguistics into the foreign language and linguistics circles in China, thus Halliday's academic thought returned to where it originated. The second part, A Discussion of Theories, mainly addresses the author's experience and further discussions after learning Halliday's theory. The theme of the third part is Discourse Analysis and focuses on the greatest difference between Systemic Functional Linguistics and traditional grammar: sentence grammar. Halliday emphasizes the study of discourse and sentences are only the embodiment of discourse at the next level. The fourth part, The Study of Chinese, applies Halliday's linguistic theory to the evolution of the research of the Chinese language in China, which can better explain the theme of return and is of great significance for Chinese scholars' understanding and application of Halliday's academic thought. Applied

Linguistics Perspectives on CLIL Ana Llinares, Tom Morton, 2017-03-16 This book represents the first collection of studies on Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL), which brings together a range of perspectives through which CLIL has been investigated within Applied Linguistics. The book aims to show how the four perspectives of Second Language Acquisition (SLA), Systemic Functional Linguistics (SFL), Discourse Analysis and Sociolinguistics highlight different important aspects of CLIL as a context for second language development. Each of the four sections in the book opens with an overview of one of the perspectives, written by a leading scholar in the field, and is then followed by three empirical studies which focus on specific aspects of CLIL seen from this perspective. Topics covered include motivation, the use of tasks, pragmatic development, speech functions in spoken interaction, the use of evaluative language in expressing content knowledge in writing, multimodal interaction, assessment for learning, L1 use in the classroom, English medium instruction in universities and CLIL teachers' professional identities. Language in Sport Andrew S. Ross, David Caldwell, Y.J. Doran, 2025-09-15 This collection showcases the language of doing sport, emphasizing the real-time talk of players and coaches during training and games, toward elucidating real-time language use and encouraging effective sporting pedagogies. While there is established work at the intersection of linguistics and sport, this book places a particular focus on real-time participation as opposed to media reporting or post-match commentary. The volume is divided into two sections which look at language in action in sporting contexts, with the first part dedicated to player communication and the latter on coaches' engagement with players to explore such issues as team building, leadership, player guidance and instruction through language. Examples are drawn from a wide range of sports across levels, including basketball, volleyball, Formula 1, rugby, cycling and skiing across professional, amateur and youth leagues. Taken together, the volume makes the case for an integrated social and linguistic perspective on language use in sport in real-time to better understand its impact on players, foster more inclusive sporting pedagogies and continue to grow sport research in interdisciplinary directions. This book will be of interest to students and scholars in language and communication, applied linguistics, discourse analysis, sociolinguistics and the sociology of sport. Applicable
