A selection of monographs on successful practices Martina Vránová, 2023-05-23 As Languages for Specific Purposes have always been defined as student oriented the rationale behind this volume is to use the rather neglected niche of the other necessary agent of language instruction and thus focus on the LSP practitioner This turn towards the instructor has been motivated by the fact that a great number of LSP practitioners enter their jobs without previous expertise They lack LSP education or they may not even have a background in applied linguistics This motivation has proven valid as many of the volume's contributors have faced this particular situation in their professional lives For insights into the LSP field and guidelines on the best practices they must rely on their colleagues who offer to share their experience through workshops conferences or papers which is what this volume provides The primary goal of this volume is to present considerations of what challenges LSP practitioners face and should be prepared for in their jobs and to provide practice tested methodological guidelines on such demanding teaching techniques as blended and flipped learning or tandem learning All papers have been written by LSP practitioners and researchers in higher education Thus this volume provides both guidance and self reflection In other words it is written by experienced LSP practitioners for aspiring LSP practitioners about how they see themselves and what effort they make to meet the challenges of their jobs As proof that LSP practice is a global challenge papers have been collected from many European countries the USA Uruguay Even though most papers are naturally concerned with English being the lingua franca of today the collection also features guidelines for teaching Spanish French and Dutch for specific purposes Moreover the target disciplines these languages are taught for encompass business engineering sociology or medicine thus supporting the assumption of the universal character of problems LSP practitioners deal with Foreign Language Proficiency in Higher Education Paula Winke, Susan M. Gass, 2018-12-18 This volume comprises of chapters that deal with language proficiency relating to a wide range of language program issues including curriculum assessment learners and instructors and skill development The chapters cover various aspects of a broad based proficiency initiative focusing on numerous aspects of foreign language learning including how skills develop how assessments can inform curriculum how learners and instructors view proficiency and proficiency assessment and how individual use of technology furthers language learning The concluding chapter points the way forward for issues and questions that need to be addressed Proceedings of the 8th International Conference on Movement, Health and Exercise

Carpenter,Helena Kaufman,Malene Torp,2023-07-03 What if our students learn the most when they re far from campus Integrating Worlds demonstrates how high quality off campus study epitomizes integrative learning both supporting and enhancing the entire undergraduate experience While off campus study both study abroad or study away occupies a marginal position on most campuses it has the almost unique capacity to bring together a high concentration of high impact educational practices When we combine global learning with collaborative work shared intellectual pursuits learning communities and more these practices reinforce each other exerting a multiplier effect that can potentially result in the most intense learning experience our students will have It can energize and inspire them for the work they will continue to undertake on their home campus It thus becomes crucial for us to identify or design high quality programs that will achieve these goals Moreover we need to reimagine off campus study as an integrated portion of the undergraduate arc one that begins well before our students depart and continues long after they return In this way we help them understand the interconnectedness not only of the world but also of their own education At the same time the authors recognize material constraints and educational imperatives Off campus study costs money its complexity makes it difficult to assess it overlaps increasingly with internships and civic engagement and by its nature it is more subject to external forces than the on campus experience In careful practical ways Integrating Worlds advances suggestions for dealing with these issues This book urges educators to go beyond the episodic ways we currently link on campus curricula to off campus experience While of interest to specialists in international or intercultural education it speaks most directly to faculty deans and provosts many of whom may have little or dated experience of study abroad and who thus feel unprepared to address this issue of pressing importance As our disciplines and institutions face the complexities of a rapidly changing world this book seeks to fuel the necessary conversations Food in a Just World Tracey Harris,Terry Gibbs,2023-12-07 Food in a Just World examines the violence social breakdown and environmental consequences of our global system of food production distribution and consumption where each step of the process is built on some form of exploitation While highlighting the broken system s continuities from European colonialism the authors argue that the seeds of resilience resistance and inclusive cultural resurgence are already being reflected in the day to day actions of communities around the world Calling for urgent change the book looks at how genuine democracy would give individuals and communities meaningful control over the decisions that impact their lives when seeking to secure humanely this most basic human need Drawing on the perspectives of advocates activists workers researchers and policymakers Harris and Gibbs explore the politics of food in the context of capitalist globalization and the climate crisis uncovering the complexities in our relationships with one another with other animals and with the natural world The Palgrave Handbook of Cross-Border Journalism Liane Rothenberger, Martin Löffelholz, David H.

Weaver, 2024-01-02 This handbook critically analyzes cross border news production and transnational journalism cultures in the evolving field of cross border journalism As the era of the internet has further expanded the border transcending production dissemination and reception of news and with transnational co operations like the European Broadcasting Union and BBC World News demonstrating different kinds of cross border journalism the handbook considers the field with a range of international contributions It explores cross border journalism from conceptual and empirical angles and includes perspectives on the systemic contexts of cross border journalism its structures and routines changes in production processes and the shifting roles of actors in digital environments It examines cross border journalism across regions and concludes with discussions on the future of cross border journalism including the influence of automation algorithmisation virtual reality and AI
