Lybbert, Gracious Diiro, Dick Kawooya, Sacha Wunsch-Vincent, 2017 Uganda's innovation performance in recent years has consistently outpaced other low income and Sub Saharan African countries Though encouraging this nascent progress will only benefit the broader Ugandan population if policy makers address specific constraints in the innovation systems of the critical agri food sector which is hampered by low productivity and profitability In this report we explore these constraints using an agricultural value chains framework with particular focus on the Robusta Coffee Planting Material Pipeline and tropical fruit processing States and Public Policy Olivier Provini, 2025-08-03 Why did students start paying tuition fees at African universities How did public universities become increasingly expensive for the large numbers of young people they are supposed to be educating This book helps us to understand the reasons for this and reminds us that change is always the result of political compromise The book looks at the higher education reforms carried out since the 1980s in four East African countries with unique historical and political trajectories Uganda Kenya Tanzania and Burundi Through a rigorous well documented analysis the author provides valuable insights into the fundamental political issues facing development actors in the South the transformation of state intervention the training of national elites and the marketing of the education sector particularly through the highly political issue of school fees Accessions List, Eastern and Southern Africa Library of Congress. NCHE in those ten years should help both the Ugandan and other African countries higher education stakeholders in sharing lessons learned from this one case study The author sees the roles of regulatory agencies as vital in the initial stages of building a higher education sub sector and in periods of system transitions such as the current journey from elite to mass systems but is of the view that the university remains the home of knowledge creation dissemination and its application in society
