Military Review ,2018 Intangible Heritage and Participation Marilena Alivizatou,2021-07-12 Intangible Heritage and Participation examines participation as an intellectual and operational frame in safeguarding intangible heritage Including case studies from the Netherlands Belgium Aotearoa New Zealand Greece Peru Britain Denmark Sweden and Japan the book provides an analysis of safeguarding as a museological framework and further investigates safeguarding practices in participatory research memory work and cultural transmission Drawing on conversations about the tyranny of participation the book looks into the complexities of participatory projects on the ground from community research and collecting to the mapping of Indigenous values in environmental conservation and processes of active remembering of difficult intangible heritage of forced migration political violence and mental illness Cautioning against the uncritical adoption of participation as a universal ethical discourse Alivizatou argues that the ethics of cosmopolitanism should guide safeguarding practices at an international level Intangible Heritage and Participation offers an original approach to thinking about and working with intangible heritage and as such should be essential reading for academics researchers and students in among others the fields of cultural heritage studies museology anthropology and cultural development It should also be of interest to heritage and museum professionals and anyone else interested in cultural heritage theory and practice

The Skills Balancing Act in Sub-Saharan Africa Omar Arias, David K.

Evans, Indhira Santos, 2019-01-31 Despite strong recent economic growth Sub Saharan Africa has levels of economic transformation poverty reduction and skill development far below those of other regions Smart investments in developing skills aligned with the policy goals of productivity growth inclusion and adaptability can help to accelerate the region's economic transformation in the 21st century Sub Saharan Africa's growing working age population presents a major opportunity to increase shared prosperity Countries in the region have invested heavily in building skills public expenditure on education increased sevenfold over the past 30 years and more children are in school today than ever before Yet systems for building skills in this population have fallen short and these shortcomings significantly impede economic prospects In half of the countries fewer than two in every three children complete primary school even fewer reach and complete higher levels of education Learning outcomes have been persistently poor leading to substantial gaps in basic cognitive skills literacy and numeracy among children young people and adults The literacy rate of the adult population is below 50 percent in many countries functional literacy and numeracy rates are even lower Systemwide change is required to achieve significant progress Multiple agencies at the central and local levels are involved in skills development strategies making skills everyone's problem but no one's responsibility Policies and reforms need to build capacity for evidence based policies and create incentives to align the behaviors of all stakeholders with the pursuit of national skills development goals The Skills Balancing Act in Sub Saharan Africa Investing in Skills for Productivity Inclusivity and Adaptability lays out evidence to inform the policy choices that countries will make in skill investments Each chapter addresses a set of specific questions drawing on original analysis and synthesis of existing studies to explore key areas How the skills appropriate to each stage of the life cycle are acquired and what market and institutional failures affect skills formation What systems are needed for individuals to access these skills including family investments private sector institutions schools and other public programs How those systems can be strengthened How the most vulnerable individuals those who fall outside the standard systems and have missed critical building blocks in skills acquisition can be supported Countries will face trade offs often stark ones that will have distributional impacts and a bearing on their development path Committed leaders reform coalitions and well coordinated policies are essential for taking on the skills balancing act in Sub Saharan Africa

Strategy for the Global Market Vladimir Kvint,2015-10-05 In the twenty first century the global community constantly strives to bring structure and order to the world through strategic means From the highest levels of governments and militaries to multilateral institutions NGOs and corporations a strategy for the future of a company region country or even the world is tantamount to success Yet few understand what strategy actually is and how it can be developed planned and implemented Strategy for the Global Market combines a fundamental study of the theory of strategy with its practical applications to provide a new approach to the global emerging market Due to the technological transformations in communications and transportation and the birth and development of both the global community and the global marketplace over the past twenty years the world s population and corporations are in much closer contact with their counterparts across the globe than ever before This has led to increasing competition and even rivalries Understanding the strategic environment as well as solving problems either through amicable means or conflict requires the powerful instrument of strategy to remain efficient and to triumph Features of this book include Methodology and practical recommendations for all stages of developing and implementing strategy A comprehensive guide with explanations and descriptions for the preparation and orderly compilation of all necessary strategy documents Real world examples taken from corporate government and military strategizing practices in emerging market countries and the global marketplace This book should be on the desk of every national regional and military leader corporate executive manager and student of strategy

Mask Makers and Their Craft Deborah Bell,2014-01-10 Profiling 30 mask makers from around the world this book explores the motivations and challenges of contemporary artists working to bring the traditional methods and conventions of mask making to an evolving global theatre There are 181 photographs including two sections of color plates which illustrate how the mythic iconography of masks is used in the modern fields of dance mime theatre and storytelling Topics include the ways in which mask artists and performers maintain a sense of universality despite varying local customs the legacies of Italian mask makers Amleto and Donato Sartori and of the California based Dell Arte International School of Physical Theatre and the ways in which traditional approaches in mask artistry continue to influence commercial mask performance ventures in film on Broadway and in touring companies Routledge Handbook of Industry and Development John Weiss,Michael Tribe,2015-09-16 The Routledge Handbook of Industry and Development is a global overview of industrialisation Each chapter will provide readers with contemporary insights into this this essential aspect of economic development Industrialisation has been at the forefront of discussion on economic development since the earliest days of development economics But over the last fifty years the manufacturing sectors of different countries and regions have grown at strikingly different rates In 1960 developing countries took a very small share of global manufacturing production Today the position had changed radically with fast growth of manufacturing in many parts of what was originally the developing world particularly in China and the rest of East Asia On the other hand countries in Africa and parts of Latin America have been largely left behind by this process of industrialisation This volume aims to illuminate this uneven development and takes stock of the current issues that hinder and support industrialisation in low and middle income economies This Handbook is a collection of chapters on different aspects of industrialisation experience in a range of countries Key themes include the role of manufacturing in growth the nature of structural change at different stages of development the role of manufacturing in employment creation alternative options for trade and industrial policy the key role of technology and technical change and the impact of globalisation and the spread of global value chains and foreign direct investment on prospects for industrialisation Several chapters discuss individual country experiences with examples from India Mexico South Africa and Tanzania as well as an overview of African industrialisation This authoritative Handbook will be a key reference source for those studying or wishing to understand contemporary economic development Offering inspiration and direction for future research this landmark volume will be of crucial importance to all development economics scholars and researchers Aging with HIV in Sub-Saharan Africa Mark Brennan-Ing,Kristen E. Porter,Jennifer E. Kaufman,Catherine MacPhail,Janet Seeley,2022-06-16 With the development of effective antiretroviral therapies ART in the mid 1990s HIV became a treatable although serious condition and people who are adherent to HIV medications can attain normal or near normal life expectancies Because of the success of ART people 50 and older now make up a majority of people with HIV in high income countries and other places where ART is accessible The aging of the HIV epidemic is a global trend that is also being observed in low and middle income countries including countries in sub Saharan Africa where the greatest number of older people with HIV reside 3 7 million While globally over half of older adults with HIV are in sub Saharan Africa we have little information about the circumstances needs and resiliencies of this population which limits our ability to craft effective policy and programmatic responses to aging with HIV in this region At present our understanding of HIV and aging is dominated by information from the U S and Western Europe where the epidemiology of HIV and the infrastructure to provide social care are markedly different than in sub Saharan Africa Aging with HIV in Sub Saharan Africa addresses this gap in our knowledge by providing current research and perspectives on a range of health and psychosocial topics concerning these older adults from across this region This volume provides a unique and timely overview of growing older with HIV in a sub Saharan African context covering such topics as epidemiology health and functioning and social support as well as policy and program implications to support those growing older with HIV There are very few published volumes that address HIV and aging and this is the first book to consider HIV and aging in sub Saharan Africa Most publications in this area focus on HIV and aging in Uganda and South Africa This volume broadens the scope with contributions from authors working in West Africa Botswana and Kenya The range of topics covered here will be useful to professionals in a range of disciplines including psychology epidemiology gerontology sociology health care public health and social work

Relational Archaeologies Christopher Watts, 2014-04-11 Many of us accept as uncontroversial the belief that the world is comprised of detached and disparate products all of which are reducible to certain substances Of those things that are alive we acknowledge that some have agency while others such as humans have more advanced qualities such as consciousness reason and intentionality So deeply seated is this metaphysical belief along with the related distinctions we draw between subject object mind body and nature culture that many of us tacitly assume past groups approached and apprehended the world in a similar fashion Relational Archaeologies questions how such a view of human beings other than human creatures and things affects our reconstruction of past beliefs and practices It proceeds from the position that in many cases past societies understood their place in the world as positional rather than categorical as persons bound up in reticular arrangements with similar and not so similar forms regardless of their substantive qualities Relational Archaeologies explores this idea by emphasizing how humans animals and things come to exist by virtue of the dynamic and fluid processes of connection and transaction In highlighting various counter Modern notions of what it means to be and how these can be teased apart using archaeological materials contributors provide a range of approaches from primarily theoretical historicized treatments of the topic to practical applications or case studies from the Americas the UK Europe Asia and Australia

Ecocultures Steffen Böhm, Zareen Pervez Bharucha, Jules Pretty, 2014-12-05 The world faces a perfect storm of social and ecological stresses including climate change habitat loss resource degradation and social economic and cultural change In order to cope with these communities are struggling to transition to sustainable ways of living that improve well being and increase resilience This book demonstrates how communities in both developed and developing countries are already taking action to maintain or build resilient and sustainable lifestyles These communities here designated as Ecocultures are exemplars of the art and science of sustainable living Though they form a diverse group they organise themselves around several common organising principles including an ethic of care for nature a respect for community high ecological knowledge and a desire to maintain and improve personal and social wellbeing Case studies from both developed and developing countries including Australia Brazil Finland Greenland India Indonesia South Africa UK and USA show how based on these principles communities have been able to increase social ecological and personal wellbeing and resilience They also address how other more mainstream communities are beginning to transition to more sustainable resilient alternatives Some examples also illustrate the decline of ecocultures in the face of economic pressures globalisation and climate change Theoretical chapters examine the barriers and bridges to wider application of these examples Overall the volume describes how ecocultures can provide the global community with important lessons for a wider transition to sustainability and will show how we can redefine our personal and collective futures around these principles
