Education, Communication and Democracy in Africa Chikumbutso Herbert Manthala, Victor Chikaipa, Anthony Mavuto Gunde, 2021-07-22 This innovative volume critically examines the intersection between democracy education and communication in African educational domains Providing a platform for multidisciplinary research it advances scholarship in democratic citizenship education in African higher education through methodological and theoretical innovation The book discusses the extent to which explicit or subtle communication frameworks that underlie policymaking institutional culture teaching and learning experiences in African higher education significantly engender democratic mind habits and practices in students as citizens Chapters in the book examine how communication frameworks in pedagogy ought to navigate power imbalances between students on the one hand and the institution and academics on the other The book also examines how disempowering higher education policies are and whether they contribute to democratic equality This book will be of great interest to academics researchers and post graduate students in the fields of education democratic citizenship education communication and African studies A critical approach to the social acceptance of renewable energy infrastructures

Susana Batel, David Rudolph, 2021-08-25 This book provides a critical approach to research on the social acceptance of renewable energy infrastructures and on energy transitions in general by questioning prevalent principles and proposing specific research pathways and lines of inquiry that look beyond depoliticised business as usual discourses and research agendas on green growth and sustainability It brings together authors from different socio geographical and disciplinary backgrounds within the social sciences to reflect upon discuss and advance what we propose to be five cornerstones of a critical approach overcoming individualism and socio cognitivism repoliticisations recognising and articulating power relations for interdisciplinarity interventions praxis and political engagement with research and overcoming localism and spatial determinism As such this book offers academics students and practitioners alike a comprehensive perspective of what it means to be critical when inquiring into the social acceptance of renewable energy and associated infrastructures

Effects of Government Mandates and Policies on Public Education in Africa, the Caribbean, and the Middle East Cynthia S Sunal, Oluseyi Matthew Odebiyi, Kagendo Mutua, 2022-06-01 As the demand for education at all levels has increased so have the models of meeting these increased demands for education As in many other parts of the world public education has expanded to serve large populations across the regions of Africa the Caribbean and the Middle East Many nations in these regions have instituted mandates policies and frameworks intended to simultaneously increase access to public education opportunities as well as improve the quality of education provided and to address a wide populace Because the increase in educational demand has occurred at all levels these efforts often address various levels of education from early childhood through primary schooling junior secondary and secondary schooling and into tertiary education Efforts also have been made to increase participation in education by marginalized and or special populations The range of efforts is large with some focusing on involving migrants immigrants refugees in primary education while others aim at opening up choices at the university level Recently nations in the region have recognized the possibilities of digital learning online learning as cell phones and other widely used portable wireless devices have made it possible to sell the idea that one can learn from anywhere at any time This widespread access to technology has made it possible for governments as well as private entities to expand learning opportunities even to populations previously unreachable or to address difficult to reach sectors of the population At the same time the population itself has not only increased in numbers but in diversity Maintaining quality through digital and other means of quick expansion of educational opportunities continues to be challenging if not problematic Effects of Government Mandates and Policies on Public Education in Africa the Caribbean and the Middle East is Book IX of the series Research on Education in Africa the Caribbean and the Middle East Chapters document describe and or raise critical issues and or questions resulting from government policies mandates and frameworks intended to make available public education to an ever growing populace while at the same time being mindful of improving quality of education being availed to an increasingly diverse populace

Global Approaches to Early Learning Research and Practice Kenneth R. Pugh, Peggy McCardle, Annie Stutzman, 2018-02-26 The health development and learning of many young children living in disadvantage areas are at serious risk Access to education has improved under the United Nations Millennium Development Goals and there are now programs in low and middle income countries that are aimed at improving instruction and learning The research and evaluation on the effectiveness of such programs show there are significant challenges but also some successes This issue features presentations of leading international scientists representatives from key governmental and non governmental organizations and others working with programs in the developing world and disadvantaged populations The presentations describe the goals existing challenges and potential approaches to providing evidence based programs to young children in rural remote and poverty stricken areas Topics covered include the state of early childhood in low and middle income nations programs that have shown some success and innovative research approaches that have been often considered unfeasible in these contexts This is the 158th volume in this Jossey Bass series New Directions for Child and Adolescent Development Its mission is to provide scientific and scholarly presentations on cutting edge issues and concepts in this subject area Each volume focuses on a specific new direction or research topic and is edited by experts from that field

David Livingstone and the Myth of African Poverty and Disease

Sjoerd Rijpma, 2015-06-24 This study about David Livingstone is different from all other publications about him Here Livingstone is not the main topic of interest the focus of the author is on nutrition and health in pre colonial Africa and Livingstone is his key informant David Livingstone and the Myth of African Poverty and Disease is an unusual book After a close examination of Livingstone s writings and comparative reading of contemporary authors Sjoerd Rijpma has been able to draw cautious conclusions about the relatively favourable conditions of health and nutrition in southern and central Africa during the pre colonial period His findings shed new light on the medical history of Sub Saharan Africa The surprise awaiting travellers in and also before 19th century Africa was that the inhabitants of the interior even the slaves were healthier and better fed than many of their contemporaries in Europe s Industrial Revolution An impressive piece of scholarship truly forensic in its close reading and re reading of Livingstone s published works and those of other travellers during the same era clearly a labour of love which has taken years to complete Joanna Lewis
