Mathematical Intelligence Mubeen Junaid, 2022-11-01 A fresh exploration into the human nature versus technology argument revealing an unexpected advantage that humans have over our future robot masters we're actually good at mathematics There's so much discussion about the threat posed by intelligent machines that it sometimes seems as though we should simply surrender to our robot overlords now But Junaid Mubeen isn't ready to throw in the towel just yet As far as he is concerned we have the creative edge over computers because of a remarkable system of thought that humans have developed over the millennia It's familiar to us all but often badly taught in schools and misrepresented in popular discourse math Computers are of course brilliant at totting up sums pattern seeking and performing mindless tasks of well computation For all things calculation machines reign supreme But Junaid identifies seven areas of intelligence where humans can retain a crucial edge And in exploring these areas he opens up a fascinating world where we can develop our uniquely human mathematical talents Just a few of the fascinating subjects covered in MATHEMATICAL INTELLIGENCE include Humans are endowed with a natural sense of numbers that is based on approximation rather than precise calculation Our in-built estimation skills complement the precision of computers Interpreting the real world depends on both What sets humans apart from other animals is language and abstraction We have an extraordinary ability to create powerful representations of knowledge more diverse than the binary language of computers Mathematics confers the most robust logical framework for establishing permanent truths Reasoning shields us from the dubious claims of pure pattern recognition systems All mathematical truths are derived from a starting set of assumptions or axioms Unlike computers humans have the freedom to break free of convention and examine the logical consequences of our choices Mathematics rewards our imagination with fascinating and on occasion applicable concepts that originate from breaking the rules Computers can be tasked to solve a range of problems but which problems are worth the effort Questioning is as vital to our repertoire of thinking skills as problem solving itself

Branding Authoritarian Nations Petra Alderman, 2023-07-28 Branding Authoritarian Nations offers a novel approach to the study of nation branding as a strategy for political legitimization in authoritarian regimes using the example of military ruled Thailand The book argues that nation branding is a political act that is integral to state legitimization processes particularly in the context of authoritarian regimes It applies its alternative reading of nation branding to eight different sectors tourism economy foreign direct investment foreign policy education culture public relations and the private sector The author explains that nation branding produces specific kinds of applied national myths referred to as strategic national myths She shows that nation branding is an inherently inward looking strategy aimed at shaping the social attitudes and behaviours of the nation's citizens in line with the government's domestic agenda and legitimization needs Providing the first comprehensive analysis of nation branding in Thailand and the first book length account of the country's political developments since the 2014-2019 military rule the book is primarily aimed at academics in the disciplines of politics international relations communication and area studies as well as business cultural and intercultural studies

become and how it affects us all Discover how the industry's next steps dictate the economy's future How do you create a quadrillion dollars out of nothing blow it away and leave a hole so large that even years of quantitative easing can't fill it and then go back to doing the same thing Even amidst global recovery the financial system still has the potential to seize up at any moment The Money Formula explores the how and why of financial disaster what must happen to prevent the next one

Turbulent Shear-Layer/Shock-Wave Interactions J. Delery, 2013-03-08 It was on a proposal of the late Professor Maurice Roy member of the French Academy of Sciences that in 1982 the General Assembly of the International Union of Theoretical and Applied Mechanics decided to sponsor a symposium on Turbulent Shear Layer Shock Wave Interactions This symposium might be arranged in Paris or in its immediate vicinity during the year 1985 Upon request of Professor Robert Legendre member of the French Academy of Sciences the organization of the symposium might be provided by the Office National d'Etudes et de Recherches Aeronautiques ONERA The request was very favorably received by Monsieur l'Ingénieur General Andre Auriol then General Director of ONERA The subject of interactions between shock waves and turbulent dissipative layers is of considerable importance for many practical devices and has a wide range of engineering applications Such phenomena occur almost inevitably in any transonic or supersonic flow and the subject has given rise to an important research effort since the advent of high speed fluid mechanics more than forty years ago However with the coming of age of modern computers and the development of new sophisticated measurement techniques considerable progress has been made in the field over the past fifteen years The aim of the symposium was to provide an updated status of the research effort devoted to shear layer shock wave interactions and to present the most significant results obtained recently
