Substantive Perspectivism: An Essay on Philosophical Concern with Truth Bo Mou, 2009-09-16 I have been thinking about the philosophical issue of truth for more than two decades It is one of several fascinating philosophical issues that motivated me to change my primary reflective interest to philosophy after receiving BS in mathematics in 1982 Some serious academic work in this connection started around the late eighties when I translated into Chinese a dozen of Donald Davidson's representative essays on truth and meaning and when I assumed translator for Adam Morton who gave a series of lectures on the issue in Beijing 1988 which was co-sponsored by my then institution Institute of Philosophy Chinese Academy of Social Science I have loved the issue both for its own sake as one specific major issue in the philosophy of language and metaphysics and for the sake of its significant involvement in many philosophical issues in different subjects of philosophy Having been attracted to the analytic approach I was then interested in looking at the issue both from the points of view of classical Chinese philosophy and Marxist philosophy two major styles or frameworks of doing philosophy during that time in China and from the point of view of contemporary analytic philosophy which was then less recognized in the Chinese philosophical circle

Perception and Knowledge Walter Hopp, 2011-04-07 This book offers a provocative clear and rigorously argued account of the nature of perception and its role in the production of knowledge Walter Hopp argues that perceptual experiences do not have conceptual content and that what makes them play a distinctive epistemic role is not the features which they share with beliefs but something that in fact sets them radically apart He explains that the reason giving relation between experiences and beliefs is what Edmund Husserl called fulfilment in which we find something to be as we think it to be His book covers a wide range of central topics in contemporary philosophy of mind epistemology and traditional phenomenology It is essential reading for contemporary analytic philosophers of mind and phenomenologists alike

Günther Anders' Philosophy of Technology Babette Babich, 2021-10-21 Gunther Anders Philosophy of Technology is the first comprehensive exploration of the ground breaking work of German thinker Gunther Anders Anders philosophy has become increasingly prescient in our digitised technological age as his work predicts the prevalence of social media ubiquitous surveillance and the turn to big data Anders oeuvre also explored the technologies of nuclear power and the biotech concerns for the human and transhuman condition which have become so central to current theory Babette Babich argues that Anders offers important resources on streaming digital media through his writings on radio television and film and is unusually both a comprehensive and profound thinker Anders relationship with key philosophers like Hannah Arendt and Walter Benjamin and his thinking on Goethe Nietzsche and Rilke is also explored with a focus on the deep impact he made on his peers It reflects specifically on the intersection of Anders thought Heidegger and the Frankfurt school and how influential a figure he was on the landscape of 20th century philosophy A compelling rehabilitation of a thinker with profound contemporary relevance Unreal

Beliefs Krzysztof Poslajko, 2024-05-16 Krzysztof Poslajko offers a novel version of an anti realist view about beliefs rejecting the extreme proposal of eliminativism that beliefs do not exist He shows us we should rather say that beliefs exist but they are not real Poslajko demonstrates how we might make sense of this idea by providing a unified account of the debates in philosophical psychology The antirealist view interprets beliefs as being causally irrelevant that they do not constitute a natural kind and that their content cannot be naturalized Exploring the status of folk psychology Poslajko raises key questions in the analytic metaphysics of mind Are beliefs real Do people really possess mental states which are causally efficacious bearers of propositional content By arguing for the antirealist view and revising our common sense view about the nature of mind he makes a compelling case for adopting a pragmatic metaphilosophy when we deal with questions about belief

Self-Reflection for the Opaque Mind T. Parent, 2016-12-01 This volume attempts to solve a grave problem about critical self reflection The worry is that we critical thinkers are all in epistemic bad faith in light of what psychology tells us After all the research shows not merely that we are bad at detecting ego threatening thoughts la Freud It also indicates that we are ignorant of even our ordinary thoughts e g reasons for our moral judgments of others Haidt 2001 and even mundane reasons for buying one pair of stockings over another Nisbett Wilson 1977 However reflection on one s thoughts requires knowing what those thoughts are in the first place So if ignorance is the norm why attempt self reflection The activity would just display naivety about psychology Yet while respecting all the data this book argues that remarkably we are sometimes infallible in our self discerning judgments Even so infallibility does not imply indubitability and there is no Cartesian ambition to provide a foundation for empirical knowledge The point is rather to explain how self reflection as a rational activity is possible The Fragmented Mind Cristina Borgoni,Dirk
