The Process of Question Answering Wendy G. Lehnert,2022-11-01 Originally published in 1978 The Process of Question Answering examines a phenomenon that relies on many realms of human cognition language comprehension memory retrieval and language generation Problems in computational question answering assume a new perspective when question answering is viewed as a problem in natural language processing A theory of human question answering must necessarily entail a theory of human memory organization and theories of the cognitive processes that access and manipulate information in memory This book describes question answering as a particular task in information processing The theoretical models described here have been built on a formulation of general theories in natural language processing theories about language that were developed without the specific problem of question answering in mind By requiring programmers to be concerned with the precise form of information in memory and the precise operations manipulating that information they can uncover significant problems that would otherwise be overlooked An early insight into artificial intelligence today this reissue can be enjoyed in its historical context Aphasia and Related Neurogenic Communication Disorders Ilias

Papathanasiou,Patrick Coppens,Constantin Potagas,2011-11-11 This book covers topics in aphasia motor speech disorders and dementia Organized by symptom rather than syndrome this text provides a foundation for understanding the disorders and learning how to apply basic theory to clinical practice in the development of rehabilitation objectives This texts applies a clinical integration of the psychosocial with the neuropsychological approach in adult language rehabilitation Written by international authorities in the field of aphasia and related communication disorders and based on the ICF framework this unique text features diverse contribution covering global issues Sports, Exercise, and Fitness Mary Beth
