Thomas Griffiths

Hsc Accounting Suggestion 2015:

Warship 2015 John Jordan, 2015-06-15 Warship 2015 is devoted to the design development and service history of the world's combat ships. Featuring a broad range of articles from a select panel of distinguished international contributors, this latest volume combines original research, new book reviews, warship notes, an image gallery, and much more to maintain the impressive standards of scholarship and research from the field of warship history. This 37th edition features the usual range of diverse articles, including 'The Battleships of the Patrie Class', 'Postwar Weapons in the Royal Navy', 'The Tragedy of the Submarine Mariotte', 'Known as the Toothbrush', and 'Developments in Modern Carrier Aviation'. Contributors to Warship 2015 include Michele Cosentino, Peter Marland, Hans Lengerer, and Aidan Dodson. Antiquities Smuggling in the Real and Virtual World

Layla Hashemi, Louise Shelley, 2022-01-16 This book examines the illicit trade in antiquities, a trade which has increased massively following the destruction and looting of ancient Near Eastern sites in the Middle East. Focusing on the distribution networks for looted antiquities, especially the routes to the West, the book considers the dealers and facilitators who are key in getting the objects to market, explores the methods used, including online marketplaces and social media sites, analyses demand and buyers, revealing that objects are often available at very affordable prices. It outlines the efforts of law enforcement agencies, including the military and legal systems, to contain the trade. Throughout the book, highlights the difficulties of putting a stop to this illicit trade, particularly in a conflict region. Systems Biology and the Challenge of Deciphering the Metabolic Mechanisms Underlying Cancer

Osbaldo Resendis-Antonio, Christian Diener, 2017-11-23 Since the discovery of the Warburg effect in the 1920s, cancer has been tightly associated with the genetic and metabolic state of the cell. One of the hallmarks of cancer is the alteration of the cellular metabolism in order to promote proliferation and undermine cellular defense mechanisms, such as apoptosis or detection by the immune system. However, the strategies by which this is achieved in different cancers, and sometimes even in different patients of the same cancer, is very heterogeneous, which hinders the design of general treatment options. Recently, there has been an ongoing effort to study this phenomenon on a genomic scale in order to understand the causality underlying the disease. Hence, current omics technologies have contributed to identify and monitor different biological pieces at different biological levels, such as genes, proteins, or metabolites. These technological capacities have provided us with vast amounts of clinical data, where a single patient may often give rise to various tissue samples, each of them being characterized in detail by genome-scale data on the sequence, expression, proteome, and metabolome level. Data with such detail poses the imminent problem of extracting meaningful interpretations and translating them into specific treatment options. To this purpose, Systems Biology provides a set of promising computational tools in order to decipher the mechanisms driving a healthy cell's metabolism into a cancerous one. However, this enterprise requires bridging the gap between large data resources, mathematical analysis, and modeling specifically designed to work with the available data. This is by no means trivial and requires high levels of communication.
