Fair Trade and Social Justice Mark Moberg, Sarah Lyon, 2010-06-01 By 2008 total Fair Trade purchases in the developed world reached nearly 3 billion a five fold increase in four years Consumers pay a fair price for Fair Trade items which are meant to generate greater earnings for family farmers cover the costs of production and support socially just and environmentally sound practices Yet constrained by existing markets and the entities that dominate them Fair Trade often delivers material improvements for producers that are much more modest than the profound social transformations the movement claims to support There has been scant real world assessment of Fair Trade s effectiveness Drawing upon fine grained anthropological studies of a variety of regions and commodity systems including Darjeeling tea coffee crafts and cut flowers the chapters in Fair Trade and Social Justice represent the first works to use ethnographic case studies to assess whether the Fair Trade Movement is actually achieving its goals Contributors Julia Smith Mark Moberg Catherine Ziegler Sarah Besky Sarah M Lyon Catherine S Dolan Patrick C Wilson Faidra Papavasiliou Molly Doane Kathy M Closkey Jane Henrici

FAIR TRADE AND SOCIAL JUSTICE. ,2013

Fair Trade Ariana Agrios, 2019-12-15 Fair trade is intended to help producers in developing countries achieve better working and trading conditions while maintaining certain environmental standards This is achieved through arrangements with distributors around the world With the influx of fair trade goods on grocery store shelves and restaurant menus one would assume an overall positive trend in trade conditions is occurring However numerous concerns continue to surround fair trade as readers will learn They will consider whether it benefits all developing countries and markets equally and analyze the extent to which it is effective at protecting the environment They will develop intelligent opinions on which conditions will make trade as fair as possible

Beyond Free Trade K. Ervine, G. Fridell, 2015-04-08 The world of trade is changing rapidly from the rise of the South to the growth of unconventional projects like fair trade and carbon trading Beyond Free Trade advances alternative ways for understanding these new dynamics based on historical political or sociological methods that go beyond the limitations of conventional trade economics Handbook on the International Political Economy of Gender Juanita Elias, Adrienne Roberts, 2018-02-23 This Handbook brings together leading interdisciplinary scholarship on the gendered nature of the international political economy Spanning a wide range of theoretical traditions and empirical foci it explores the multifaceted ways in which gender relations constitute and are shaped by global politico economic processes It further interrogates the gendered ideologies and discourses that underpin everyday practices from the local to the global The chapters in this collection identify analyse critique and challenge gender based inequalities whilst also highlighting the intersectional nature of gendered oppressions in the contemporary world order

Food Activism Carole Counihan, Valeria Siniscalchi, 2013-12-05 Across the globe people are challenging the agro industrial food system and its exploitation of people and resources reduction of local food varieties and negative health consequences In this collection leading international anthropologists explore food activism across the globe to show how people speak to negotiate or cope with power through food Who are the actors of food activism and what forms of agency do they enact What kinds of economy exchanges and market relations do they practice and promote How are they organized and what are their scales of political action and power relations Each chapter explores why and how people choose food as a means of forging social and economic justice covering diverse forms of food activism from individual acts by consumers or producers to organized social groups or movements The case studies embrace a wide geographical spectrum including Cuba Sri Lanka Egypt Mexico Italy Canada France Colombia Japan and the USA This is the first book to examine food activism in diverse local national and transnational settings making it essential reading for students and scholars in anthropology and other fields interested in food economy politics and social change The Kenyan Cut Flower Industry and Global

Market Dynamics Andreas Gemählich, 2022 Investigates the production trade and consumption of the bouquets sold in European supermarkets and the consequences of this for the globalised economy From a macro perspective it appears that the cut flower industry has changed into a buyer driven value chain with corporate retailers as the new lead firms Yet as this book shows this is insufficient to explain how new trade relations come into being and the consequences of this not only for global economics but for the producers climate change and rural livelihoods As the retailers and wholesalers of the flower industry in the West linked directly to producers in the Global South trade relations changed fundamentally and this critical new book explores the complexities of the power asymmetries and the way in which corporate retailers have shaped the market to promote their own interests as well as the role non economic actors played This book examines in detail the situation at Lake Naivasha Kenya which has played a central part within this new market order Since the 1970s the area has developed into one of the most important production areas for the ready made bouquets that sell so cheaply in European supermarkets For the flower growers themselves however coping with the new conditions of supply and demand the new market order has brought financial precariousness Farms needed to be flexible in the production and marketing of their

flowers Yet while they were able to expand their production and achieve more stable employment conditions this has not resulted in significantly higher remuneration The rapidly changing economic situation has also had a profound impact not only on local stakeholders but on the environment where there is intensified competition for resources and new production technologies Published in association with the Collaborative Research Centre FUTURE RURAL AFRICA funded by the German Research Council DFG w market order Since the 1970s the area has developed into one of the most important production areas for the ready made bouquets that sell so cheaply in European supermarkets For the flower growers themselves however coping with the new conditions of supply and demand the new market order has brought financial precariousness Farms needed to be flexible in the production and marketing of their flowers Yet while they were able to expand their production and achieve more stable employment conditions this has not resulted in significantly higher remuneration The rapidly changing economic situation has also had a profound impact not only on local stakeholders but on the environment where there is intensified competition for resources and new production technologies Published in association with the Collaborative Research Centre FUTURE RURAL AFRICA funded by the German Research Council DFG w market order Since the 1970s the area has developed into one of the most important production areas for the ready made bouquets that sell so cheaply in European supermarkets For the flower growers themselves however coping with the new conditions of supply and demand the new market order has brought financial precariousness Farms needed to be flexible in the production and marketing of their flowers Yet while they were able to expand their production and achieve more stable employment conditions this has not resulted in significantly higher remuneration The rapidly changing economic situation has also had a profound impact not only on local stakeholders but on the environment where there is intensified competition for resources and new production technologies Published in association with the Collaborative Research Centre FUTURE RURAL AFRICA funded by the German Research Council DFG e ready made bouquets that sell so cheaply in European supermarkets For the flower growers themselves however coping with the new conditions of supply and demand the new market order has brought financial precariousness Farms needed to be flexible in the production and marketing of their flowers Yet while they were able to expand their production and achieve procurement ethnobiology and spiritual ecology and a broad new range of subjects such as resilience nonhuman rights architectural anthropology industrialism and education This volume enables scholars and students quick access to both established and trending environmental anthropological explorations into theory methodology and practice Coffee and Community Sarah Lyon, 2011-05-18 We are told that simply by sipping our morning cup of organic fair trade coffee we are encouraging environmentally friendly agricultural methods community development fair prices and shortened commodity chains But what is the reality for producers intermediaries and consumers This ethnographic analysis of fair trade coffee analyzes the collective action and combined efforts of fair trade network participants to construct a new economic reality Focusing on La Voz Que Clama en el Desierto a cooperative in San Juan la Laguna Guatemala and its relationships with coffee roasters importers and certifiers in the United States Coffee and Community argues that while fair trade does benefit small coffee farming communities it is more flawed than advocates and scholars have acknowledged However through detailed ethnographic fieldwork with the farmers and by following the product fair trade can be understood and modified to be more equitable This book will be of interest to students and academics in anthropology ethnology Latin American studies and labor studies as well as economists social scientists policy makers fair trade advocates and anyone interested in globalization and the realities of fair trade

Biodiversity, Genetic Resources and Intellectual Property Kamallesh Adhikari, Charles Lawson, 2018-03-09 There has been a deliberative but as yet unsuccessful attempt by scholars and policy makers to articulate a more meaningful idea of Europe which would enhance the legitimacy of the European Union and provide the basis for a European identity Using a detailed analysis of the writings of Nietzsche Elbe seeks to address this problem and argues that Nietzsche's thinking about Europe can significantly illuminate our understanding He demonstrates how Nietzsche's critique of nationalism and the notion of the good European can assist contemporary scholars in the quest for a vision of Europe and a definition of what it means to be a European citizen

Everyday Sustainability Debarati Sen, 2017-10-26 Honorable Mention 2019 Michelle Z Rosaldo Prize presented by the Association for Feminist Anthropology Winner of the 2018 Gloria E Anzald a Book Prize presented by the National Women's Studies Association Winner of the 2018 Global Development Studies Book Award presented by the Global Development Studies Section of the International Studies Association Everyday Sustainability takes readers to ground zero of market based sustainability initiatives Darjeeling India where Fair Trade ostensibly promises gender justice to minority Nepali women engaged in organic tea production These women tea farmers and plantation workers have distinct entrepreneurial strategies and everyday practices of social justice that at times dovetail with and at other times rub against the tenets of the emerging global morality market The author questions why women beneficiaries of transnational justice making projects remain skeptical about the potential for economic and social empowerment through Fair Trade while simultaneously seeking to use the movement to give voice to their situated demands for mobility economic advancement and community level social justice SUNY Press has collaborated

Looking behind the Label Tim Bartley, Sebastian Koos, Hiram Samel, Gustavo Setrini, Nik Summers, 2015-05-25 What does it mean when consumers shop with a conscience and choose products labeled as fair or sustainable Does this translate into meaningful changes in global production processes To what extent are voluntary standards implemented and enforced and can they really govern global industries Looking behind the Label presents an informative introduction to global production and ethical consumption tracing the links between consumers choices and the practices of multinational producers and retailers Case studies of several types of products wood and paper food apparel and footwear and electronics are used to reveal what lies behind voluntary rules and to critique predominant assumptions about ethical consumption as a form of political expression

Mining in Latin America Kalowatie Deonandan, Michael L. Dougherty, 2016-07-15 The last two decades have witnessed a dramatic expansion and intensification of mineral resource exploitation and development across the global south especially in Latin America This shift has brought mining more visibly into global public debates and spurred a great deal of controversy and conflict This volume assembles new scholarship that provides critical perspectives on these issues The book marshals original empirical work from leading social scientists in a variety of disciplines to address a range of questions about the practices of mining companies on the ground the impacts of mining on host communities and the responses to mining from communities civil society and states The book further explores the global and international causes consequences and innovations of this new era of mining activity in Latin America Key issues include the role of Canadian mining companies and their investment in the region and to a lesser extent the role of Chinese mining capital Several chapters take a regional perspective while others are based on empirical data from specific countries including Bolivia Brazil El Salvador Guatemala and Peru

Furniture-Makers and Consumers in England, 1754-1851 Akiko Shimbo, 2016-04-15 Covering the period from the publication of Thomas Chippendale's The Gentleman and Cabinet Makers Director 1754 to the Great Exhibition 1851 this book analyses the relationships between producer retailers and consumers of furniture and interior design and explores what effect dialogues surrounding these transactions had on the standardisation of furniture production during this period This was an era before mass production when domestic furniture was made both to order and from standard patterns and negotiations between producers and consumers formed a crucial part of the design and production process This study narrows in on three main areas of this process the role of pattern books and their readers the construction of taste and style through negotiation and daily interactions through showrooms and other services to reveal the complexities of English material culture in a period of industrialisation

The Oxford Handbook of Agricultural History Jeannie M. Whayne, 2024 Agricultural history has enjoyed a rebirth in recent years in part because the agricultural enterprise promotes economic and cultural connections in an era that has become ever more globally focused but also because of agriculture s potential to lead to conflicts over precious resources The Oxford Handbook of Agricultural History reflects this rebirth and examines the wide reaching implications of agricultural issues featuring essays that touch on the green revolution the development of the Atlantic slave plantation the agricultural impact of the American Civil War the rise of scientific and corporate agriculture and modern exploitation of agricultural labor

Green Consumption Bart Barendregt, Rivke Jaffe, 2020-05-15 Green lifestyles and ethical consumption have become increasingly popular strategies in moving towards environmentally friendly societies and combating global poverty Where previously environmentalists saw excess consumption as central to the problem green consumerism now places consumption at the heart of the solution However ethical and sustainable consumption are also important forms of central to the creation and maintenance of class distinction Green Consumption scrutinizes the emergent phenomenon of what this book terms eco chic a combination of lifestyle politics environmentalism spirituality beauty and health Eco chic connects ethical sustainable and elite consumption It is increasingly part of the identity kit of certain sections of society who seek to combine taste and style with care for personal wellness and the environment This book deals with eco chic as a set of activities an ideological framework and a popular marketing strategy offering a critical examination of its manifestations in both the global North and South The diverse case studies presented in this book range from Basque sheep cheese production and Ghanaian Afro chic hairstyles to Asian tropical spa culture and Dutch fair trade jewellery initiatives The authors assess the ways in which eco chic with its apparent paradox of consumption and idealism can make a genuine contribution to solving some of the most pressing problems of our time

The Political Economy of Employment Relations Aslihan Aykac, 2016-07-22

Employment has changed dramatically in the last few decades with the onset of neoliberal globalization. This change has become the objective of inquiry from different perspectives such as development studies, labour economics or industrial relations, focusing on different units of analysis. The Political Economy of Employment Relations provides an exceptional contribution to existing literature by presenting alternative theory and practice on employment relations. It is within this critical theoretical intervention that solidarity economies emerge as a unique theoretical construct as well as a unit of analysis to expose the alternative paths that employment relations may resort to against the contemporary challenges of neoliberal globalization. This book analyses globalization, global economic crisis and issues of work and labour from the point of view of the developing world, presenting local case studies from countries including the USA, India, Spain and Greece, and outlining alternative approaches to global challenges. This volume has relevance to those with an interest in industrial relations, sociology of work and occupations, labour economics and development economics.
