Afrikaners and the Boundaries of Faith in Post-Apartheid South Africa Annika Björnsdotter Teppo, 2021-09-30 This book examines the shifting moral and spiritual lives of white Afrikaners in South Africa after apartheid The end of South Africa's apartheid system of racial and spatial segregation sparked wide reaching social change as social cultural spatial and racial boundaries were transgressed and transformed This book investigates how Afrikaners have mediated the country's shifting boundaries within the realm of religion For instance one in every three

Afrikaners used these new freedoms to leave the traditional Dutch Reformed Church NGK often for an entirely new religious affiliation within the Pentecostal or Charismatic churches or New Religious Movements such as Wiccan neopaganism Based on long term ethnographic fieldwork in the Western Cape area the book investigates what spiritual life after racial totalitarianism means for the members of the ethnic group that constructed and maintained that very totalitarianism Ultimately the book asks how these new Afrikaner religious practices contribute to social solidarity and integration in a persistently segregated society and what they can tell us about racial relations in the country today This book will be of interest to scholars of religious studies social and cultural anthropology and African studies Global Development of the Community College Model Carmen L. McCrink, Heidi Whitford, Natasha C. political splay the New African Intellectuals was preoccupied with three inseparable historical issues forming the concept of the New African constructing the foundations of African modernity and formulating the principles of African Nationalism Offering fresh insights that are both empirically and theoretically informed this book illuminates the processes and consequences of the New African scholars and writers The political contribution made by the New African intellectuals is traced from its origins in literature music and language The discussion concludes with an exploration of the dilemma faced by African languages as they are dominated by European languages The authors argue that this dominance has resulted to the petrification and mummification of African languages because outstanding even great African writers are not using them in relation to modern technological and linguistic experience The authors believe that this broad ranging book will be of interest to all those studying African politics and culture and who are concerned with understanding modern African societies in the light of post colonialism
