Nationalism and African Intellectuals Toyin Falola, 2004 An examination of the attempt by Western educated African intellectuals to create a better Africa through connecting nationalism to knowledge from the anti colonial movement to the present day This book is about how African intellectuals influenced primarily by nationalism have addressed the inter related issues of power identity politics self assertion and autonomy for themselves and their continent from the mid nineteenth century onward Their major goal was to create a better Africa by connecting nationalism to knowledge The results have been mixed from the glorious euphoria of the success of anti colonial movements to the depressing circumstances of the African condition as we enter a new millennium As the intellectual elite is a creation of the Western formal school system the ideas it generated are also connected to the larger world of scholarship This world is in turn shaped by European contacts with Africa from the fifteenth century onward the politics of the Cold War and the subsequent collapse of the Soviet Union In essence Africa and its elite cannot be fully understood without also considering the West and changing global politics Neither can the academic and media contributions by non Africans be ignored as these also affect the ways that Africans think about themselves and their continent Nationalism and African Intellectuals examines intellectuals ambivalent relationships with the colonial apparatus and subsequent nation state formations the contradictions manifested within pan Africanism and nationalism and the relation of academic institutions and intellectual production to the state during the nationalism period and beyond Toyin Falola is the Jacob and Frances Sanger Mossiker Chair in the Humanities and University Distinguished Teaching Professor at the University of Texas at Austin

Transformation of Archives and Heritage Education in Post-apartheid South Africa Geraldine Frieslaar, Olusegun Morakinyo, 2023-06-10 Although there have been significant strides to transform the demographics of archive and museum personnel develop new museums and heritage institutions and heritage training initiatives in post apartheid South Africa the Eurocentric model of the archive museum and heritage sector has largely remained intact Despite the euphoria around the transformation of heritage in the beginnings of post apartheid South Africa it can be argued that the transformation of heritage institutions has been superficial and cosmetic with the ideological foundation of the colonial archive and museum as well as Eurocentric modalities of heritage education remaining solid largely unmoved and under continuing challenge This is the thrust of this book which reflects on the transformation of archives and museum and heritage education in South Africa and argues for meaningful transformation of the sector through a decolonisation from its Eurocentric mooring

A Life's Mosaic Phyllis Ntantala, 1993-01-01 Like Trotsky I did not leave home with the proverbial one and six in my pocket I come from a family of landed gentry and could have chosen the path of comfort and safety for even in apartheid South Africa there is still that path for those who will collaborate But I chose the path of struggle and uncertainty from the Preface Born into the small social elite of black South Africa Phyllis Ntantala did not face the grinding poverty so familiar to other South African blacks Instead her struggle was that of a creative articulate woman seeking fulfillment and justice in a land that tried to deny her both The widow of Xhosa writer and historian A C Jordan and mother of African National Congress leader Zallo Jordan she and her family experienced a period of tremendous change in South Africa and also in the United States where they moved during the 1960s She discovers similarities in the two countries including the arrogance of power Anchored in history and culture A Life's Mosaic sharply reveals the world and the people of South Africa As the story of a political exile it represents the dislocations that have caused universal suffering in the second half of the twentieth century Phyllis Ntantala discusses the cruelty of racism the cynicism of political solutions and the hopes of those who live in both a world of exile and a world of dreams
