QUESTION 3

- 3.1 Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Peat lands are special wetlands that play a very important role in ecology. A peat land, of approximately 6 000 years old, near Mafeking is almost destroyed because of excessive extraction of water from the nearby Molopo river. The water is extracted for human consumption.

Peat lands like the one near Mafeking is exceptional and play an important role in storing water as well as preventing climate changes.

Dr Phil-Louis Grundling said that carbon that is 'held' or 'stored' by peat lands combats climate change because it decreases the amount of carbon in the atmosphere.

Peat lands trap about one third of the world's carbon. Approximately 50% of wetlands worldwide are peat lands. However in South Africa about 10% of the wetlands are peat lands.

Grundling explained that peat lands can hold about 1 000 times its own mass in water. This replenishes the water table and is the source that keeps streams flowing. The "sponge effect" of the peat also makes it possible to store water that is then released during dry seasons.

Dr Grundling said that it might be too late to restore the peat land near Mafeking but it might be possible to restore some parts of it if more water is supplied to this peat land.

The result of this destruction is depletion of the water table. The habitat of numerous fish and frog species that lived in this peat land was also destroyed.

From: Beeld: 24 September 2016.

- 3.1.1 Give TWO other reasons (not mentioned in the passage) that can lead to the destruction of wetlands. (2)
- 3.1.2 Discuss reasons from the passage regarding the importance of these specific wetlands for the environment. (4)
- 3.1.3 Suggest a way in which this peat land near Mafeking can be restored. (2)

The Best Class You Never Taught Alexis Wiggins, 2017-09-27 The best classes have a life of their own powered by student led conversations that explore texts, ideas, and essential questions. In these classes, the teacher's role shifts from star player to observer and coach as the students think critically, work collaboratively, participate fully, behave ethically, ask and answer high level questions, support their ideas with evidence, and evaluate and assess their own work. The Spider Web Discussion is a simple technique that puts this kind of class within every teacher's reach. The name comes from the weblike diagram the observer makes to record interactions as students actively participate in the discussion, lead and support one another's learning, and build community. It's proven to work across all subject areas and with all ages, and you only need a little know-how, a rubric, and paper and pencil to get started. As students practice Spider Web Discussion, they become stronger communicators, more empathetic teammates, better problem solvers, and more independent learners—college and career ready skills that serve them well in the classroom and beyond. Educator Alexis Wiggins provides a step by step guide for the implementation of Spider Web Discussion, covering everything from introducing the technique to creating rubrics for discussion, self-assessment, to the nuts and bolts of charting the conversations and using the data collected for formative assessment. She also shares troubleshooting tips, ideas for assessment and group grading, and the experiences of real teachers and students who use the technique to develop and share content knowledge in a way that's both revolutionary and truly inspiring.

The Well-Trained Mind, Susan Wise Bauer, Jessie Wise, 2016-08-09. Is your child getting lost in the system, becoming bored, losing his or her natural eagerness to learn? If so, it may be time to take charge of your child's education by doing it yourself. The Well-Trained Mind will instruct you step by step on how to give your child an academically rigorous, comprehensive education from preschool through high school, one that will train him or her to read, to think, to understand, to be well-rounded, and curious about learning. Veteran home educators Susan Wise Bauer and Jessie Wise outline the classical pattern of education called the trivium, which organizes learning around the maturing capacity of the child's mind and comprises three stages: the elementary school grammar stage, when the building blocks of information are absorbed through memorization and rules; the middle school logic stage, in which the student begins to think more analytically; and the high school rhetoric stage, where the student learns to write and speak with force and originality. Using this theory as your model, you'll be able to instruct your child, whether full-time or as a supplement to classroom education, in all levels of reading, writing, history, geography, mathematics, science, foreign languages, rhetoric, logic, art, and music, regardless of your own aptitude in those subjects. Thousands of parents and teachers have already used the detailed book lists and methods described in The Well-Trained Mind to create a truly superior education for the children in their care. This extensively revised fourth edition contains completely updated curricula and book lists, links to an entirely new set of online resources, new material on teaching children with learning challenges, cutting-edge math and sciences.
