Introduction S Boundaries And Britishness:

Introductory Readings in Anthropology Hilary Callan, Brian Street, Simon Underdown, 2013-03-15 Anthropology seeks to understand the roots of our common humanity the diversity of cultures and world views and the organisation of social relations and practices As a method of inquiry it embraces an enormous range of topics and as a discipline it covers a multitude of fields and themes as shown in this selection of original writings As an accessible entry point for upper level students and first year undergraduates new to the study of anthropology this reader also offers guidance for teachers in exploring the subject s riches with their students That anthropology is an immensely expansive inquiry of study is demonstrated by the diversity of its topics from nature conservation campaigns to witchcraft beliefs from human evolution to fashion and style and from the repatriation of indigenous human remains to research on literacy There is no single story of anthropology Taken together these fundamental readings are evidence of a contemporary vibrant subject that has much to tell us about all the worlds in which we live

Multiracial Britishness Vivian Kong, 2023-11-02 What does it mean to be British To answer this Multiracial Britishness takes us to an underexplored site of Britishness the former British colony of Hong Kong Vivian Kong asks how colonial hierarchies the racial and cultural diversity of the British Empire and global ideologies complicate the meaning of being British Using multi lingual sources and oral history Kong traces the experiences of multiracial residents in 1910 45 Hong Kong Guiding us through Hong Kong s global networks and the colony s co existing exclusive and cosmopolitan social spaces this book uncovers the long history of multiracial Britishness Kong argues that Britishness existed in the colony in multiple hyphenated forms as a racial category but also as privileges a means of survival and a form of cultural and national belonging This book offers us an important reminder that multiracial inhabitants of the British Empire were just as active in the making of Britishness as the British state and white Britons

does it mean to be British It is now recognized that being British is not innate static or permanent but that national identities within Britain are constantly constructed and reconstructed Britishness since 1870 examines this definition and redefinition of the British national identity since the 1870s Paul Ward argues that British national identity is a resilient force and looks at how Britishness has adapted to changing circumstances Taking a thematic approach Britishness since 1870 examines the forces that have contributed to a sense of Britishness and considers how Britishness has been mediated by other identities such as class gender region ethnicity and the sense of belonging to England Scotland Wales and Ireland Learning and Teaching British Values Sadia Habib,2017-09-01 This book engages with important debates about multicultural British identities at a time when schools are expected to promote Fundamental British Values It provides valuable insight into the need to investigate fluid and evolving identities in the classroom What are the implications of Britishness exploration on young people s relationships with and within multicultural Britain What are the complexities of teaching and learning Britishness Emphasis on student voice respectful and caring dialogue and collaborative communication can lead to meaningful reflections Teachers often require guidance though when teaching about multicultural Britain The book argues that when students have safe spaces to share stories schools can become critical sites of opportunity for reflection resistance and hopeful futures Foreword by Professor Vini Lander Empire, migration and identity in the British World Kent Fedorowich,Andrew S. Thompson,2015-11-01 The essays in this volume have been written by leading experts in their respective fields and bring together established scholars with a new generation of migration and transnational historians Their work weaves together the new imperial and the new migration histories and is essential reading for scholars and students interested in the interplay of migration within and between the local regional imperial and transnational arenas Furthermore these essays set an important analytical benchmark for more integrated and comparative analyses of the range of migratory processes free and coerced which together impacted on the dynamics of power forms of cultural circulation and making of ethnicities across a British imperial world 20th Century Britain Francesca Carneval,Julie-Marie Strange,2014-06-11 Written by leading international scholars Twentieth Century Britain investigates key moments themes and identities in the past century Engaging with cutting edge research and debate the essays in the volume combine discussion of the major issues currently preoccupying historians of the twentieth century with clear guidance on new directions in the theories and methodologies of modern British social cultural and economic history Divided into three the first section of the book addresses key concepts historians use to think about the century notably class gender and national identity Organised chronologically the book then explores topical thematic issues such as multicultural Britain religion and citizenship Representing changes in the field some chapters represent more recent fields of historical inquiry such as modernity and sexuality Imperial Culture in Antipodean Cities, 1880-1939 J. Griffiths,2014-03-11 Drawing on a wealth of primary and secondary sources this book explores how far imperial culture penetrated antipodean city institutions It argues that far from imperial saturation the city Down Under was remarkably untouched by the Empire Great Britain Keith Robbins, 2016-04-08 This is a timely exploration of national identity in Great Britain over nine hundred years of history Our attitudes to the nation state are changing national assemblies in Scotland and Wales and growing pressures for regional assemblies In his vigorous new survey Professor Robbins provides the background to these changing attitudes He considers the development as well as the possible disintegration of the sense of Britishness among the inhabitants of Britain and investigates how and why they have preserved their own national and regional identities across several centuries of co existence Keith Robbins is Vice Chancellor of the University of Wales Lampeter Among his many books Longman has also published his highly successful study The Eclipse of a Great Power Modern Britain 1870 1992 Second Edition 1994 He is also General Editor of Longman's famous series of Profiles in Power with over 20 titles already in print and many more in preparation Muslims, Migration and Citizenship Martin Bulmer, John Solomos, 2018-02-02 Bringing together ten research based contributions Muslims Migration and Citizenship addresses questions about the changing experiences of Muslim communities or specific groups within them in various national and localised environments Although not an exhaustive survey of the broad range of scholarly research in this evolving field this book covers issues that are likely to be of some importance in the coming period In particular the contributors highlight the complexity of the experiences of Muslim communities in different national and cultural environments and the evolution of both policy discourses and debates in civil society This book was originally published as a special issue of Ethnic and Racial Studies Identity, Old(er) Age and Migrancy Laura Machat-From, 2017-05-16 Identity research in relation to ethnicity and migration has tended to focus on younger people whilst identity research in relation to ageing and old(er) age has not focused on migrants This inadvertent mutual neglect has led to a lack of identity research that examines the identity categories of old(er) age and migrancy together a lacuna that this dissertation aims to redress This dissertation departs from a social constructionist understanding of identity as situationally accomplished in the interplay between how one defines oneself internally and how others define one externally The questions raised by this perspective and addressed in this dissertation are When in what situations and in relation to whom do old(er) age and migrancy respectively seem to become meaningful for identification How do the identity categories of old(er) age and migrancy seem to be negotiated The empirical material consists of in depth interviews with 24 older migrants 13 men 11 women aged between 55 and 79 who have been living in Sweden for 18 to 61 years Interviewees come from 12 different countries that vary in perceived cultural distance from Sweden The findings suggest that identifications with old(er) age and migrancy seem to be dynamic and flexible rather than necessarily permanently meaningful thus gaining meaning in specific situations and in relation to particular Others External definitions furthermore do not always seem to match with internal ones Regardless of how old(er) age and migrancy are constructed they seem to be negotiable This dissertation thus contributes to identity research by studying old(er) age and migrancy together and furthermore sheds light onto how the social constructionist lens allows us to see variability where stability otherwise would be presumed

Empire and Globalisation Gary B. Magee, Andrew S. Thompson, 2010-02-11 Focusing on the great population movement of British emigrants before 1914 this book provides a perspective on the relationship between empire and globalisation It shows how distinct structures of economic opportunity developed around the people who settled across a wider British World through the co ethnic networks they created Yet these networks could also limit and distort economic growth The powerful appeal of ethnic identification often made trade and investment with racial outsiders less appealing thereby skewing economic activities toward communities perceived to be British By highlighting the importance of these networks to migration finance and trade this book contributes to debates about globalisation in the past and present It reveals how the networks upon which the era of modern globalisation was built quickly turned in on themselves after 1918 converting racial ethnic and class tensions into protectionism nationalism and xenophobia Avoiding such an outcome is a challenge faced today

Post Critical Museology Andrew Dewdney, David Dibosa, Victoria Walsh, 2013-01-25 Post Critical Museology considers what the role of the public and the experience of audiences means to the everyday work of the art museum It does this from the perspectives of the art museum itself as well as from the visitors it seeks Through the analysis of material gathered from a major collaborative research project carried out at Tate Britain in London the book develops a conceptual reconfiguration of the relationship between art culture and society in which questions about the art museum's relationship to global migration and the new media ecologies are examined It suggests that whilst European museums have previously been studied as institutions of collection heritage and tradition however modern their focus it is now better to consider them as distributive networks in which value travels along transmedial and transcultural lines Post Critical Museology is intended as a contribution to progressive museological thinking and practice and calls for a new alignment of academics and professionals in what it announces as post critical museology An alignment that is committed to rethinking what an art museum in the twenty first century could be as well as what knowledge and understanding its future practitioners might draw upon in a rapidly changing social and cultural context The book aims to be essential reading in the growing field of museum studies It will also be of professional interest to all those working in the cultural sphere including museum professionals policy makers and art managers
