Carrying Capacity

- It is the number of individuals that can be supported by the environment
- It is the maximum number of individuals that can be supported by the environment

Carrying Capacity is the number of individuals in a population per unit of space. Factors limiting growth are often carrying capacity, which is density-dependent or density factor. These limiting factors are often called density-dependent factors.

Question: How does a density-dependent limiting factor affect carrying capacity?

1. Challenge: What do you think would happen if a density-dependent limiting factor changed?

Population would increase

2. Challenge: Suppose a limiting factor is built up in a population, leaving them not available for others. How do you think this would affect carrying capacity?

Population would increase but then decrease with carrying capacity

3. Challenge: How do you think the carrying capacity with density-dependent factors would change over time?

Factor

4. Challenge: How do you think the amount of space available in the habitat affects how many individuals the environment can support?

The larger the space available the larger the carrying capacity will be.

5. Challenge: Why do you think limiting a population's space decreases the carrying capacity?

The carrying capacity of the environment will decrease.

6. Challenge: What do you think would happen if another density-dependent limiting factor changed?
