Conducting Research in Online and Blended Learning Environments Charles D. Dziuban,Anthony G. Picciano,Charles R. Graham,Patsy D. Moskal,2015-07-24 Conducting Research in Online and Blended Learning Environments examines various perspectives issues and methods for conducting research in online and blended learning environments The book provides in depth examinations of the perspectives and issues that anyone considering research in online or blended learning will find insightful as they plan their own inquiries Grounded in educational research theory this is invaluable to both the serious researcher as well as the occasional evaluator Conducting Research in Online and Blended Learning Environments provides comprehensive useful information on research paradigms methodologies and methods that should be considered in designing and conducting studies in this area Examples of the most respected research in the field enhance each chapter's presentation

The Mysteries of Reality Gayle Kimball, 2021-03-26 Courageous scientists challenge the dominant paradigm of reality Why are they so brave and what does their research reveal What is reality Is there more than we know from our five senses Vanguard scientists believe there is more than we see so they formulate a non materialist paradigm that expands human potential to include mind and matter interaction Since going against the dominant worldview provokes opposition this book explores the personal backgrounds of the scientists to find out why they are so courageous We learn that there is another dimension that allows for enhanced abilities Based on interviews conducted by Gayle Kimball The Mysteries of Reality Dialogues with Visionary Scientists reports on the current research and personal characteristics of visionaries from around the world

The Explanatory Autonomy of the Biological Sciences Wei Fang, 2021-12-23 This book argues for the explanatory autonomy of the biological sciences It does so by showing that scientific explanations in the biological sciences cannot be reduced to explanations in the fundamental sciences such as physics and chemistry and by demonstrating that biological explanations are advanced by models rather than laws of nature To maintain the explanatory autonomy of the biological sciences the author argues against explanatory reductionism and shows that explanation in the biological sciences can be achieved without reduction Then he demonstrates that the biological sciences do not have laws of nature Instead of laws he suggests that biological models usually do the explanatory work To understand how a biological model can explain phenomena in the world the author proposes an inferential account of model explanation The basic idea of this account is that for a model to be explanatory it must answer two kinds of questions counterfactual dependence questions that concern the model itself and hypothetical questions that concern the relationship between the model and its target system The reason a biological model can answer these two kinds of questions is due to the fact that a model is a structure and the holistic relationship between the model and its target warrants the hypothetical inference from the model to its target and thus helps to answer the second kind of question The Explanatory Autonomy of the Biological Sciences will be of interest to researchers and advanced students working in philosophy of science philosophy of biology and metaphysics

Handbook of Research on Transformative Online Education and Liberation: Models for Social Equality Kurubacak, Gulsun, Yuzer, T. Volkan, 2010-10-31 This book focuses on the societal social political economic and philosophical perspectives of transformative models and how digital learning communities foster critical reflections and perspective change building a better understanding on how online educators designers tutors learners can talk about injustice and inequality to a virtual group Provided by publisher Student Workbook to Accompany Fundamentals of Behavioral Statistics, 4th Ed Richard P. Runyon,Audrey Haber,Pamela Reese,1980 Subject-index to the author-catalogue. 1908-10. 2 v Imperial Library, Calcutta,1929 Records and Briefs of the United States Supreme Court ,1832 An Eye-Tracking Study of Equivalent Effect in Translation Callum Walker,2020-11-23 This book provides a detailed example of an eye tracking method for comparing the reading experience of a literary source text readers with readers of a translation at stylistically marked points Drawing on principles methods and inspiration from fields including translation studies cognitive psychology and language and literary studies the author proposes an empirical method to investigate the notion of stylistic foregrounding with style understood as the distinctive manner of expression in a particular text The book employs Raymond Queneau s Zazie dans le m tro 1959 and its English translation Zazie in the Metro 1960 as a case study to demonstrate the proposed methods This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars of translation studies as well as those interested in literary reception stylistics and related fields Psychology, Fourth Edition Peter O. Gray,2002 The new edition of Gray s acclaimed text featuring dramatic new coverage of sensation and perception and new media tools that actively involve students in psychological research Subject-index to the author-catalogue. 1908-10. 2 v National Library (India),1929

Mind on Statistics Helen MacGillivray,Jessica M. Utts,R. F. Heckard,2014 This text is adapted from Jessica Utts and Robert Heckarda s best selling general introductory statistics text Mind on Statistics It emphasises the conceptual development of statistical ideas and seeks to find meaning in data This local adaptation retains the conversational approach of the original text with real examples and case studies of appeal and interest to Australian and New Zealand students The revised structure and relevant examples motivate students and guide them through the statistical process of tackling problems planning and data collection analysing and interpreting information and finding solutions The Scientific Practice of Professional Psychology Steven J. Trierweiler,George Stricker,2013-11-21 A workable vision of scientific practice has proven to be an elusive if laudable goal for professional psychology The field cannot be faulted for failing to seek scientific wisdom but it has been slow to integrate that wisdom fully with the wisdom of practice This has proven to be a major oversight for despite psychology s long if the standing commitment to science practitioners are unlikely to think scientifically methods and products of science are described in ways that make it impossible to do so Unfortunately the rhetoric of science too often has done just that So focused has it been on the problem of distinguishing good science from bad that it has inadvertently defeated any hope of a practical science developing in our field We offer one remedy for this situation This book is about scientific thinking for the professional psychologist Specifically it is a primer on the application of scientific logic to professional practice We argue that the professional needs a more straightforward and realistic scientific identity than heretofore has been available The professional consciously must become a local clinical scientist bringing all the power of scientific thought to the specifics of the clinical situation Contrary to forces in psychology that promote uncritical acceptance of science as given by academic researchers or alternatively that encourage criticism and ultimate disregard of the scientific endeavor we call for a redoubling of efforts to incorporate scientific thought into practical professional inquiry

Biostatistics Geoffrey R. Norman,David L. Streiner,2008 This new edition of the book will be produced in two versions The textbook will include a CD Rom with two videotaped lectures by the authors This book translates biostatistics in the health sciences literature with clarity and irreverence Students and practitioners alike applaud Biostatistics as the practical guide that exposes them to every statistical test they may encounter with careful conceptual explanations and a minimum of algebra What's New The new Bare Essentials reflects recent advances in statistics as well as time honored methods For example hierarchical linear modeling which first appeared in psychology journals and only now is described in medical literature Also new is a chapter on testing for equivalence and non inferiority As well as a chapter with information to get started with the computer statistics program SPSS Free of calculations and jargon Bare Essentials speaks so plainly that you won't need a technical dictionary No math all concepts The objective is to enable you to determine if the research results are applicable to your own patients Throughout the guide you'll find highlights of areas in which researchers misuse or misinterpret statistical tests We have labeled these C R A P Detectors Convolved Reasoning and Anti intellectual Pomposity which help you to identify faulty methodology and misuse of statistics

The Relational Self Rebecca C. Curtis,1991-03-22 In recent years the traditional psychoanalytic view of the self as an autonomous entity has been shifting to a more relational perspective This evolution from a solely intrapsychic stance brings psychoanalysis closer to the viewpoint of social psychology formerly a highly divergent discipline Bridging these different literatures THE RELATIONAL SELF describes the extent and meaning of these convergences The book is divided into four sections The first two examine current perspectives from psychoanalytic self psychology and social psychology and the latter two present an integration of psychoanalytic and social personality approaches Part One reviews the psychoanalytic theories of character structure that focus upon identity maintenance self esteem regulation and resistance to change Also presented is an interactional view of the self that explores the intersubjective context of intrapsychic experience Part Two shifts from the largely unconscious intrapsychic self to the self as affected by situational variables Considered here are the relationship between self image and attitudes the social categories deemed by people as important to their identity and the effects of physical relocation upon self concept change Part Three presents a theory of the self with separate rational and experiential processing systems and also explores cultural influences on the self from a psychoanalytic vantage point Part Four considers psychotherapy self verification and self concept change including self defeating behavior and self consistency striving the avoidance of self awareness self evaluation maintenance and self with other representations Bringing together the work of leading theorists in social psychoanalytic and personality psychology on the interaction of self organization with the social and physical environment THE RELATIONAL SELF fosters a better understanding of both situational and dispositional variables and a deeper appreciation of the changing theoretical sense of a relational self as the ultimate stage of development
