A Practical Guide to the Evaluation of Child Physical Abuse and Neglect Angelo P. Giardino, Michelle A. Lyn, Eileen R. Giardino, 2010-06-09 As we near the 50th anniversary of the landmark article by C Henry Kempe and his colleagues entitled The Battered Child Syndrome which ushered in the modern era of professional attention by pediatricians and other child health professionals we have reason for both celebration and concern We can take heart that over the recent decades a great deal of professional attention focused on the problem of child abuse and neglect In every state of the country there are mandatory reporting laws that require nurses physicians and social workers to report suspicions of maltreatment to the appropriate authorities for investigation The act of reporting provides legal immunity to the reporter except when performed in bad faith Progress in understanding the factors that place children at risk for harm from physical abuse and neglect now permits prevention and intervention The peer reviewed literature dealing with child abuse and neglect has proliferated with high quality work being done and reported on the many dimensions related to the epidemiology mechanism treatment and prognosis of child maltreatment Efforts are being directed toward developing an evidence based approach to the prevention of child abuse and neglect These are some of the positives However negatives exist and remain reasons for concern Despite a tremendous amount of attention to the problem of maltreatment there are at least 3 million reports of suspected child abuse and neglect made annually with nearly 1 million cases being substantiated International Conference on Mechanism Science and Control Engineering (MSCE 2014), 2014-09-02 The aim of MSCE 2014 is to provide a platform for researchers engineers and academicians as well as industrial professionals to present their research results and development activities in mechanism science and control engineering It provides opportunities for the delegates to exchange new ideas and application experiences to establish business or research relations and to find global partners for future collaboration MSCE2014 is conducted to all the researchers engineers industrial professionals and academicians who are broadly welcomed to present their latest research results academic developments or theory practice Topics of interest include but are not limited to Mechanism theory and Application Mechanical control and Automation Engineering Mechanical Dynamics Materials Processing and Control Instruments and Vibration Control It is of great pleasure to see the delegates exchanging ideas and establishing sound relationships on the conference Purdue University Alumni Record and Campus Encyclopedia Purdue University, 1929 Annual Report of Purdue University Purdue University, 1936
