Essays Memorandum For Economics Nov Final Examination 2014:

The Flight of Icarus Yiannis Drossos, 2020-12-10 This book provides a detailed analysis of the institutional transformations brought about by the financial crisis focusing on the institution building course of Europe and the Constitution bending course in several Member States It discusses the seemingly contradictory interplay between national and European institutions and the law resulting from the crisis arguing that the anti crisis exceptionality constitutes the matrix of the new normality of the reformed European economic governance The author carries out a critical analysis of the new economic governance and its case law with regular reference to relevant political episodes key economic figures and to the hitherto lax modes and rules The author also offers deep insights into the Greek adjustment programme and the crisis related Greek and Portuguese constitutional case law presented in comparison with the German and French case law The book concludes with a critical overview of the profound mutations in the role of national Constitutions instigated by the new European economic governance and the emergence of a democratically deficient meta constitutional mode of functioning of both the European institutions and national Constitutions

Transfer State Peter Sloman, 2019-10-30 The idea of a guaranteed minimum income has been central to British social policy debates for more than a century Since the First World War a variety of market economists radical activists and social reformers have emphasized the possibility of tackling poverty through direct cash transfers between the state and its citizens As manufacturing employment has declined and wage inequality has grown since the 1970s cash benefits and tax credits have become an important source of income for millions of working age households including many low paid workers with children The nature and purpose of these transfer payments however remain highly contested Conservative and New Labour governments have used in work benefits and conditionality requirements to activate the unemployed and reinforce the incentives to take low paid work an approach which has reached its apogee in Universal Credit By contrast a growing number of campaigners have argued that the challenge of providing economic security in an age of automation would be better met by paying a Universal Basic Income to all citizens Transfer State provides the first detailed history of guaranteed income proposals in modern Britain which brings together intellectual history and archival research to show how the pursuit of an integrated tax and benefit system has shaped UK public policy since 1918 The result is a major new analysis of the role of cash transfers in the British welfare state which sets Universal Credit in a historical perspective and examines the cultural and political barriers to a Universal Basic Income

Media Localism Christopher Ali, 2017-02-03 We live in a boosterish era that exhorts us to play local and buy local But what does it mean to support local media How should we define local media in the first place Christopher Ali delves into our ideas about localism and their far reaching repercussions for the discourse of federal media policy and regulation His critique focuses on the new interest in localism among regulators in the United States the United Kingdom and Canada As he shows the many different and often contradictory meanings of localism complicate efforts to study local voices At the same time market factors and regulators unwillingness to critically examine local media blunt challenges to the status quo Ali argues that reconciling the places where we live with the spaces we inhabit will point regulators toward effective policies that strengthens local media That new approach will again elevate local media to its rightful place as a vital part of the public good

Economic and Environmental Regulation of International Aviation Steven Truxal, 2016-12-01 The core structure of the regulatory regime for international civil aviation the Chicago System is international The features of the Chicago System were designed in an era when the world's airlines were State owned and the most pressing international concerns were for navigation and safety regulation Economic liberalization and intense globalization since the Second World War have impacted on the industry today it is global This book observes the developing governance of global aviation taking into account the concepts of sovereignty jurisdiction and territoriality and the proliferation of actors and participants as partners in a global public policy network to posit that an upgraded system of global governance for civil aviation helps to explain the emerging complex landscape for global governance of civil aviation As evidence of the emerging complex matrix of governance of global aviation this book identifies and reviews a selection of contemporary transnational economic and environmental challenges facing the globalized aviation sector e.g. fair competition safeguards consumer protection noise pollution and greenhouse gas emissions and the respective legal and policy actions taken at national level United Arab Emirates Qatar and People's Republic of China regional level the European Union and international level UN Framework Convention on Climate Change and International Civil Aviation Organization The book concludes that economic and environmental regulation of international aviation designed for an inter national world of yesterday evolves into global governance of aviation which is more suited for today s global world This book will be of particular interest to scholars and practitioners of aviation law competition law and environmental law as well as in the areas of transnational law global governance and international relations

Changing Times Martin Chick,2019-12-05 This is a study of how and why the British economy has changed since 1951 It covers the Golden Age of 1945 1973 when unemployment was below one million when governments built millions of council houses and flats when electricity telephones and gas were supplied by nationalised monopolies when income and wealth inequality were narrowing and when the UK was not a member of the European Economic Community Moving through the inflation rising unemployment and rapid contraction of the manufacturing industry from the mid 1970s Changing Times examines the transfer of assets which was effected in the privatisation of public housing and nationalised industries from the early 1980s The role of the State changed as public investment fell The financing of old age care of state pensions and of the National Health Service became of increasing concern and were less politically amenable to the approach of using private finance the Private Finance Initiative and tuition fees to fund former public obligations Changes were made to the system of taxation but public expenditure changed little as a share of national income although the government now built little Difficulties emerged in ensuring adequate housing for a growing population and uncertainty grew as to where future investment in necessities like electricity supply would come from Having narrowed in the Golden Age inequality of income and wealth widened Environmental concerns also grew from the local smogs of the 1950s through the concern with acid rain from the 1960s to the current global concern with climate change The financial crash of 2008 and the decision to Brexit in the referendum of 2016 reduced economic growth and highlighted the extent of economic change since 1951 This is a study of that change

Money Creation in Fiat and Digital Currency Systems Mr. Marco Gross, Christoph Siebenbrunner, 2019-12-20 To support the understanding that banks debt issuance means money creation while centralized nonbank financial institutions and decentralized bond market intermediary lending does not the paper aims to convey two related points First the notion of money creation as a result of banks loan creation is compatible with the notion of liquid funding needs in a multi bank system in which liquid fund reserve transfers across banks happen naturally Second interest rate based monetary policy has a bearing on macroeconomic dynamics precisely due to that multi bank structure It would lose its impact in the hypothetical case that only one singular commercial bank would exist We link our discussion to the emergence and design of central bank digital currencies CBDC with a special focus on how loans would be granted in a CBDC world
