Reynolds, 2017-12-15 Chinese students in the UK have been increasing in number for many years yet competition from other Western educators and increasing investment in China s own education system has led to concern that UK institutions may soon see a decline in their market share Dr Reynolds addresses this issue in Chinese Students in UK Further Education by attempting to understand students experiences from their perspective Beginning with an exploration of why these students choose to come and study in the UK and why they are coming at younger ages the book goes on to discuss topics such as risk technology and diversity in order to understand which factors have the greatest influence on where they choose to study and whether they choose to remain at an institution Drawing on data from two different education institutions providers of GCSE A level programmes for students aged 16 18 years Dr Reynolds attempts to understand what these students experience during their studies how they manage new social relationships and whether upon course completion they achieved the results they desired at the outset Moreover the book aims to ascertain whether the students feel in hindsight that the decision to risk investing in UK further education was right and what they might communicate about UK study to contacts in China and elsewhere The book examines what further education institutions do well and where they might improve to help develop Chinese students educational experiences As such it will be essential reading for academics researchers and postgraduates in the fields of further education sociology of education international and intercultural education and mobility studies

Learning, Marginalization, and Improving the Quality of Education in Low-income Countries Daniel A. Wagner, Nathan M. Castillo, Suzanne Grant Lewis, 2022-02-21 Improving learning evidence and outcomes for those most in need in developing countries is at the heart of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goal on Education SDG4 This timely volume brings together contributions on current empirical research and analysis of emerging trends that focus on improving the quality of education through better policy and practice particularly for those who need improved learning at the bottom of the pyramid LBOP This volume brings together academic research experts government officials and field based practitioners National and global experts present multiple broad thematic papers ranging from the effects of migration and improving teaching to the potential of educational technologies and better metrics for understanding and financing education In addition local experts practitioners and policymakers describe their own work on LBOP issues being undertaken in Kenya India Mexico and Ivory Coast The contributors argue persuasively that learning equity is a moral imperative but also one that will have educational economic and social impacts They further outline how achieving SDG4 will take renewed and persistent effort by stakeholders to use better measurement tools to promote learning achievement among poor and marginalized children This volume builds on the second international conference on Learning at the Bottom of the Pyramid LBOP2 It will be an indispensable resource for policymakers researchers and government thinktanks and local experts as well as any readers interested in the implementation of learning equity across the globe The first volume Learning at the Bottom of the Pyramid LBOP1 may be obtained at <http://www.iiep.unesco.org/en/learning-bottom-pyramid> 4608

Psychology and Mathematics Education Gila Hanna, Laura Macchi, Karin Binder, Laura Martignon, Katharina Loibl, 2023-09-05 Modern Mathematics is constructed rigorously through proofs based on truths which are either axioms or previously proven theorems Thus it is par excellence a model of rational inquiry Links between Cognitive Psychology and Mathematics Education have been particularly strong during the last decades Indeed the Enlightenment view of the rational human mind that reasons makes decisions and solves problems based on logic and probabilities was shaken during the second half of the twentieth century Cognitive psychologists discovered that humans thoughts and actions often deviate from rules imposed by strict normative theories of inference Yet these deviations should not be called errors as Cognitive Psychologists have demonstrated these deviations may be either valid heuristics that succeed in the environments in which humans have evolved or biases that are caused by a lack of adaptation to abstract information formats Humans as the cognitive psychologist and economist Herbert Simon claimed do not usually optimize but rather satisfice even when solving problem This Research Topic aims at demonstrating that these insights have had a decisive impact on Mathematics

Education We want to stress that we are concerned with the view of bounded rationality that is different from the one espoused by the heuristics and biases program In Simon s bounded rationality and its direct descendant ecological rationality rationality is understood in terms of cognitive success in the world correspondence rather than in terms of conformity to content free norms of coherence e g transitivity The Wannado Curriculum Ihor Charischak,2015-02-25 The dynamic classroom is a place where the interaction between teacher and students produces engagement and learning Success depends on what the teacher does how it fits in with the needs of the students and the quality and utilization of resources In The Wannado Curriculum author Ihor Charischak tells how he turned his vision of a dynamic Math 2 0 classroom into a reality Part memoir part teaching tool The Wannado Curriculum offers insight into helping teachers establish a context for creating their own wannado curriculum a project based approach where the context makes the content interesting to students Charischak Describes how growing up as an immigrant in America impacted his learning Tells how he discovered the secret to working with unmotivated students Explores the idea that alternative ways of teaching and learning are the keys to powerful dynamic teaching and learning that motivates students Discusses his experiences in a private child centered school where he used computers to practice the teaching and learning he was excited about Relays how the real life game of craps inspired a reluctant student to ask questions about the mathematical intricacies of the game Brings to life his experiences with computers in teaching math Details his vision of the dynamic math classroom Introduces Math 2 0 a powerful environment that uses mathematics software and collaborative Web 2 0 tools in a dynamic classroom setting The Wannado Curriculum presents glimpses of what twenty first century math teaching and learning could look like if a student driven and teacher supported method was universally embraced Visualisation and Epistemological Access to Mathematics Education in Southern Africa Marc Schäfer,2023-04-27 This book demonstrates that using visualisation processes in mathematics education can help to enhance teaching and learning and bridge the inequality gap that exists between well resourced and under resourced schools in Southern Africa Drawing on classroom research conducted in the Southern African region it examines how epistemological access in a context of gross inequality can be constructively addressed by providing research based solutions and recommendations The book outlines the visualisation process as an integral but often overlooked process of mathematics teaching and learning It goes beyond the traditional understanding of visualisation processes such as picture forming and using tools and considers visualisation processes that are semiotic in nature and includes actions such as gestures in combination with language It adds value to the visualisation in mathematics education research discourse and deliberation in Africa With a unique focus on Southern Africa and open avenues for further research and collaboration in the region it will be a highly relevant reading for researchers academics and post graduate students of mathematics education comparative education and social justice education Early Years Science Education Mike Watts,Alison Silby,2020-04-28 The educational provision for early years is growing and changing across many parts of the world not least in the UK While this book leans heavily on the mounting literature on early child development in its broadest sense physically emotionally linguistically its central focus lies squarely on the growth of children s scientific thinking and activities Written by educators this book is based both on formal educational research and professional practice in action The authors describe children s science concept development their curiosity driven exploration emergent ecological literacy their learning through science play the assessment of early learning the role of parents and practitioners within early education contexts and some question the very basis of the science being taught Illustrations and examples of practice are not confined to the UK though the messages to be derived from each chapter have application way beyond the immediate context This book was originally published as a special issue of Early Child Development and Care
