National Specialist Family Service SROI Forecast 2013 Hugo Minney, 2013-12-09 National Specialist Family Service NSFS helps parents who are substance abusers to overcome their addiction and get their children back. It teaches them family skills such as budgeting routine and creating play time. NSFS has had enormous success both with successful graduations and families who stay together. This report examines the service and finds that children benefit from spending time with their parents even those that only spend a few months with them. It confirms that a placement in the service is safe for the children. It also demonstrates the value for money that NSFS represents with a Social Return on Investment ratio of between 4 and 6 times the investment made.

Best Interests of the Children Miriam Fertig M.A., Robert, 2014-08-22 What should professionals—judges, lawyers, teachers, social workers, and Guardian ad Litem or CASA volunteers—consider in pursuing the Best Interest of Children who have been abandoned, neglected, or abused? How can the Department of Children and Families improve their systems? Best Interests of the Children explains that the ethical principles of Beneficence and Non-Maleficence exist in the medical world to maximize benefit and to avoid harm to patients. The duty is to assist persons in need and its converse, the duty to refrain from causing harm. These same principles should apply to the Best Interest standard used in the children and families dependency welfare system to protect defenseless children from parental abandonment, neglect, and abuse. When parents separate, which of them should have primary responsibility for the child's care? Who is the actual psychological parent? With compassion and actual case experiences, the authors, Miriam and Robert Fertig, help readers understand many of the key issues inherent in childcare decisions. They present a dozen Florida cases as seen through the Eyes of Guardians. They conclude that timely and effective services and continuity of care for the family is essential for the physical, emotional, and psychological well-being of children. Case summaries from other states indicate that America's Department of Children and Families (DCF) has serious systemic problems. The authors propose realistic solutions to improve this nationwide system. Best Interests of the Children will also enlighten the public and their legislators. Best Interests is an eye-opening, heart-wrenching, information-packed guide to the world of families in crisis and the crucial role of Guardian ad Litem. Written in a conversational style, it can be blunt and feisty at times, but is always enlightening. I found myself shocked on one page and then extremely edified and encouraged on the page that followed. Any book that is so provocative and stimulating will occasionally ignite a mental mini-debate between reader and author, but this is part of the fun and education that comes from any book that stimulates mind and heart at the same time. Highly recommended. Reader Review by Thomas Woodward, Ph.D., USF Professor of Trinity College, Founder and Director of the C.S. Lewis Society in Florida.
