Daily Graphic Ransford Tetteh, 2010-03-06 Iran Auto Darius Mehri, 2017-10-26 Since the revolution of 1979 scholars have portrayed the Islamic State's industrial development capacity in a negative light. Global isolation, incoherent economic planning and predatory Islamic institutions are often cited as the reasons for lackluster development. In Iran Auto: Building a Global Industry in an Islamic State Darius Mehri shows how this characterization is misguided. Today Iran has one of the world's largest automobile industries with national technical capacity. Previous studies ignore the consequences of three decades of Iran's capacity for successful industrialization and changes in global technology transfer that allow countries even ones isolated from formal global institutions to build an automobile industry. Mehri shows how industrial nationalists in Iran constructed a network of politically effective relationships to open up space for successful local industrial development and then tapped into a set of important global linkages to create an industry with high local manufacturing content. This book will open up a new line of inquiry into how countries in the global south can develop a successful national automobile industry without the need to conform to global economic institutions.

Health Equity in Brazil Kia Lilly Caldwell, 2017-06-30 Brazil's leadership role in the fight against HIV has brought its public health system widespread praise. But the nation still faces serious health challenges and inequities. Though home to the world's second largest African descendant population, Brazil failed to address many of its public health issues that disproportionately impact Afro-Brazilian women and men. Kia Lilly Caldwell draws on twenty years of engagement with activists' issues and policy initiatives to document how the country's feminist health movement and black women's movement have fought for much needed changes in women's health. Merging ethnography with a historical analysis of policies and programs, Caldwell offers a close examination of institutional and structural factors that have impacted the quest for gender and racial health equity in Brazil. As she shows, activists have played an essential role in policy development in areas ranging from maternal mortality to female sterilization. Caldwell's insightful portrait of the public health system also details how its weaknesses contribute to ongoing failures and challenges while also imperiling the advances that have been made.

Post-frontier Resource Governance P. Larsen, 2016-01-12 The author presents an anthropological analysis of the regulatory technologies that characterize contemporary resource frontiers. He offers an ethnographic portrayal of indigenous rights, resource extraction and environmental politics in the Peruvian Amazon.

The Everyday Language of White Racism Jane H. Hill, 2009-01-30 In The Everyday Language of White Racism Jane H. Hill provides an incisive analysis of everyday language to reveal the underlying racist stereotypes that continue to circulate in American culture. Hill provides a detailed background on the theory of race and racism, reveals how racializing discourse, talk and text that produces and reproduces ideas about races and assigns people to them, facilitates a victim-blaming logic, integrates a broad and interdisciplinary range of literature from sociology, social psychology, justice studies, critical legal studies, philosophy, literature and other disciplines that have studied racism, as well as material from anthropology.
