Swinnen, 2015-07-30 After five years of debates consultations and negotiations the European institutions reached an agreement in 2013 on the Common Agricultural Policy CAP for the 2014 2020 period The outcome has major implications for the EU s budget and farmers incomes but also for Europe s environment its contribution to global climate change and to food security in the EU and in the world It was decided to spend more than 400 billion during the rest of the decade on the CAP The official claims are that the new CAP will take better account of society s expectations and lead to far reaching changes by making subsidies fairer and greener and making the CAP more efficient It is also asserted that the CAP will play a key part in achieving the overall objective of promoting smart sustainable and inclusive growth However there is significant scepticism about these claims and disappointment with the outcome of the decision making the first in which the European Parliament was involved under the co decision procedure In contrast to earlier reforms where more substantive changes were made to the CAP the factors that induced the policy discussions in 2008 13 and those that influenced the decision making did not reinforce each other On the contrary they sometimes counteracted one another yielding an imperfect storm as it were resulting in more status quo and fewer changes This book discusses the outcome of the decision making and the factors that influenced the policy choices and decisions It brings together contributions from leading academics from various disciplines and policy makers and key participants in the process from the European Commission and the European Parliament

Strategic Cyber Deterrence Scott Jasper, 2017-07-08 According to the FBI about 4000 ransomware attacks happen every day In the United States alone victims lost 209 million to ransomware in the first quarter of 2016 Even worse is the threat to critical infrastructure as seen by the malware infections at electrical distribution companies in Ukraine that caused outages to 225 000 customers in late 2015 Further recent reports on the Russian hacks into the Democratic National Committee and subsequent release of emails in a coercive campaign to apparently influence the U S Presidential Election have brought national attention to the inadequacy of cyber deterrence The U S government seems incapable of creating an adequate strategy to alter the behavior of the wide variety of malicious actors seeking to inflict harm or damage through cyberspace This book offers a systematic analysis of the various existing strategic cyber deterrence options and introduces the alternative strategy of active cyber defense It examines the array of malicious actors operating in the domain their methods of attack and their motivations It also provides answers on what is being done and what could be done by the government and industry to convince malicious actors that their attacks will not succeed and that risk of repercussions exists Traditional deterrence strategies of retaliation denial and entanglement appear to lack the necessary conditions of capability credibility and communications due to these malicious actors advantages in cyberspace In response the book offers the option of adopting a strategy of active cyber defense that combines internal systemic resilience to halt cyber attack progress with external disruption capacities to thwart malicious actors objectives It shows how active cyber defense is technically capable and legally viable as an alternative strategy for the deterrence of cyber attacks

Power and Illicit Drugs in the Global South Maziyar Ghiabi,2020-04-28 More than a hundred years have passed since the adoption of the first prohibitionist laws on drugs Increasingly the edifice of international drug control and laws is vacillating under pressures of reform Scholarship on drugs history and policy has had a tendency to look at the issue mostly in the Western hemisphere of the globe or to privilege Western narratives of drugs and drugs policy This volume instead turns this approach upside down and makes an intellectual attempt to redefine the subject of drugs in the Global South Opium heroin cannabis hashish methamphetamines and khat are among the drugs discussed in the contributions to the volume which spans from Sub Saharan Africa to Southeast Asia including the Middle East North Africa Latin America and the Indian Subcontinent The volume also makes a powerful case for an interdisciplinary approach to the study of drugs by juxtaposing the work of historians political scientists geographers anthropologists and criminologists Ultimately this edited volume is a rich and diverse collection of new case studies which opens up venues for further research This book was originally published as a special issue of Third World Quarterly

Neighbourhood Policy and the Construction of the European External Borders Filippo Celata, Raffaella Coletti, 2015-06-11

This book looks both backward and forward with regard to the European Union's political strategies towards its neighbouring countries. By bringing together the perspectives of critical geopolitics, policy studies and border studies, it presents a comprehensive review of the European Neighbourhood Policy and how it impacts the ongoing construction of the EU's external frontiers. Is the EU committed to promoting integration in a wider European space or is a fortress Europe emerging where the strengthening of internal cohesion is coupled with the militarisation of its external borders? The book aims to problematize this question by showing how the EU's external policies are based on a mixture of openness and closure, inclusion and exclusion, cooperation and securitisation. The European Neighbourhood Policy is a controversial strategy where regionalization and bordering, homogenisations and differentiations, centrifugal and centripetal forces proceed side by side in an explicit attempt to construct a selective, mobile and fragmented border. A specific focus is devoted to the diversity of geo-strategies the EU is pursuing in its neighbouring countries and regions, macro-regional strategies and cross-border cooperation initiatives as new scales of cooperation and the role of other global players.

Going Places Julie Fry, Hayden Glass, 2016-03-15 Migration and the movement of people is one of the critical issues confronting the world's nations in the twenty-first century. This book is about the economic contribution of migration to and from New Zealand, one of the most frequently discussed aspects of the debate. Can immigration in economic terms be more than a gap-filler for the labour market and help as well with national economic transformation? And what is the evidence on the effect of migration, not just on house prices but also on jobs, trade or broader economic performance? Building on Sir Paul Callaghan's vision of New Zealand as a place where talent wants to live, this book explores how we can attract skilled, creative and entrepreneurial people born in other countries and whether our seventeenth region, the more than 600,000 New Zealanders living abroad, can be a greater national asset.

The Politics of Education in Developing Countries Samuel Hickey, Naomi Hossain, 2019 This book focuses on how politics shapes the capacity and commitment of elites to tackle the learning crisis in six developing countries. It deploys a new conceptual framework to show how the type of political settlement shapes the level of elite commitment and state capacity to improving learning outcomes.

Recalibrating U.S. Strategy toward Russia Kathleen H. Hicks, Lisa Sawyer Samp, 2017-04-12 These are turbulent times for American foreign policy. Nowhere are the challenges facing the United States more evident than in U.S. policy toward Russia. Drawing on scholars across several disciplines and perspectives, CSIS conducted a year-long study that sought to achieve two goals. First, to provide policymakers with a clearer understanding of Russia's strategic motivations and objectives along with the tools it uses to advance its goals. Second, to lay out a comprehensive strategy to secure U.S. and transatlantic interests in the face of the complex Russia challenge set.

Mandela's Kinsmen is the first study of the fraught relationships between the ANC leadership and their relatives who ruled apartheid's foremost tribal Bantustan the Transkei In the early 20th century the chieftaincies had often been well springs of political leadership In the Transkei political leaders such as Mandela used regionally rooted clan schooling and professional connections to vault to leadership they crafted expansive nationalisms woven from these kin identities But from 1963 the apartheid government turned South Africa's chieftaincies into self governing tribal Bantustans in order to shatter African nationalism While historians often suggest that apartheid changed everything African elites being eclipsed by an era of mass township and trade union protest and the chieftaincies co-opted by the apartheid government there is another side to this story Drawing on newly discovered accounts and archives Gibbs reassesses the Bantustans and the changing politics of chieftaincy showing how local dissent within Transkei connected to wider political movements and ideologies Emphasizing the importance of elite politics he describes how the ANC in exile attempted to re-enter South Africa through the Bantustans drawing on kin networks This failed in KwaZulu but Transkei provided vital support after a coup in 1987 and the alliances forged were important during the apartheid endgame Finally in counterpoint to Africanist debates that focus on how South African insurgencies narrowed nationalist thought and practice he maintains ANC leaders calmed South Africa's conflicts of the early 1990s by espousing an inclusive nationalism that incorporated local identities and that Mandela's kinsmen still play a key role in state politics today Timothy Gibbs is a Lecturer in African History University College London Southern Africa South Africa Namibia Lesotho Swaziland Botswana Jacana
