Cultural Mediation in Language Learning and Teaching Geneviève Zarate, Council of Europe, European Centre for Modern Languages, 2004-01-01 This project attempts to tackle several challenges to experience the variety of different teaching cultures as a source of innovation rather than as an obstacle to adopt a pluridisciplinary approach by introducing references taken from the social sciences in order to develop reflection on the role of languages in social cohesion to try and provide answers to a question hitherto rarely raised in the didactics of languages and cultures namely the place of cultural mediation itself CoE website

Colonial Memory and Postcolonial Europe Andrea L. Smith, 2006-08-21 I ntersects with very active areas of research in history and anthropology and links these domains of inquiry spanning Europe and North Africa in a creative and innovative fashion Douglas Holmes Binghamton University Maltese settlers in colonial Algeria had never lived in France but as French citizens were abruptly repatriated there after Algerian independence in 1962 In France today these pieds noirs are often associated with Mediterranean qualities the persisting tensions surrounding the French Algerian War and far right anti immigrant politics Through their social clubs they have forged an identity in which Malta not Algeria is the unifying ancestral homeland Andrea L Smith uses history and ethnography to argue that scholars have failed to account for the effect of colonialism on Europe itself She explores nostalgia and collective memory the settlers liminal position in the colony as subalterns and colonists and selective forgetting in which Malta replaces Algeria the true homeland which is now inaccessible fraught with guilt and contradiction The study provides insight into race ethnicity and nationalism in Europe as well as cultural context for understanding political trends in contemporary France

Promoting Linguistic Diversity and Whole-school Development Antoinette Camilleri, European Centre for Modern Languages, 2007-01-01 The Council of Europe stresses the importance of multilingualism in society and of individual plurilingual competence as means to social cohesion Ultimately it is within the school that the necessary innovations need to take place The case studies presented in this publication are an authentic illustration of how this is being realised in different contexts and what successes and challenges it presents By bringing these innovative language education programmes and school profiles to the fore its participating in the creation of a new paradigm of school leadership whereby pupils parents and the local community instead of being excluded controlled and forgotten become actively involved in language endeavours Similarly teachers can move on from being simply the executors of education programmes to becoming participants in drawing up implementing and evaluating school policies

Handbook of Language and

Mobility Alfonso Del Percio, 2025-07-21 The Handbook of Language and Mobility challenges the assumption that mobility is a new norm. It maps new developments in language and mobility scholarship tracing how the mobility of language people and knowledge intersects with multiplicity infrastructures historicity new political formations and processes of world making. By decentering mobility this handbook questions which processes come to be recognized as mobile and how mobility is historically shaped regulated valued and stigmatized. By recentring mobility it explores its productive dimensions how it sustains and aligns with celebratory ideologies of globalization technology and agency creates value and contributes to the management and legitimation of difference and inequality. Mobility here is not just about movement it shapes time space subjectivities power and systems of accumulation. Crosslinguistic Encounters in Language Acquisition Elena

Babatsouli, David Ingram, Nicole Müller, 2017-11-20 This book presents diverse original research studies on typical and atypical child language acquisition in monolingual bilingual and bi dialectal settings with a focus on development assessment and research methodology. Languages investigated in the studies include underrepresented languages such as Farsi Greek Icelandic isiXhosa Maltese Mandarin and Slovene without excluding representative work in major languages like English and Spanish. The language areas of focus are phonology lexicon morphology and syntax and the book incorporates studies in under researched language impairment such as Obstructive Sleep Apnea Syndrome and language impairment in 22q11.2 Deletion Syndrome. The book has practical significance in that it proposes tools and assessment practices that are of universal crosslinguistic relevance while also dealing with language specific complications. The studies presented enhance existing knowledge and stimulate answers on what the acquisition of disparate languages in different contexts can teach us about language communication development in the presence or absence of disorder. Interculturality in Learning

Mandarin Chinese in British Universities Tinghe Jin, 2020-11-29 As China and Chinese language learning moves centre stage economically and politically questions of interculturality assume even greater significance. In this book interculturality draws attention to the processes involved in people engaging and exchanging with each other across languages nationalities and ethnicities. The study which adopts an ecological perspective critically examines a range of issues and uses a variety of sources to conduct a multifaceted investigation. Data gathered from interviews with students of Mandarin sit alongside a critical discussion of a wide range of sources. Interculturality in Learning Mandarin Chinese in British Universities will be of interest to students and academics studying and researching Chinese language education and academics working in the fields of language and intercultural communication intercultural education and language education in general.
