Fieldwork: Essays on the Cultural History of Music in Ireland Harry White, 2025-06-03 An absorbing study of the development and reception of musical culture in Ireland by a pioneering and deservedly renowned author This volume is a collection of fourteen essays on the history and reception of Irish music and music in Ireland It addresses three prevailing themes the historiography of Irish music the influence of music on Irish writing and vice versa and the cultural identity and reception of Irish music both domestically and in the world at large Its principal protagonists include Thomas Moore W H Grattan Flood George Moore Edward Martyn Charles Villiers Stanford James Joyce Dora Peja evi Ina Boyle Aloys Fleischmann and Jennifer Walshe These essays also identify and interrogate key questions underpinning a general crisis of reception in relation to Irish music and particularly art music within the domain of Irish studies Fieldwork examines this crisis in the aftermath of The Encyclopaedia of Music in Ireland published in 2013 and a major retrospective of Irish art music Composing the Island curated and presented in 2016 It thereby engages closely with contemporary Irish art music and the challenges which this music has faced in the early decades of the twenty first century This well conceived and beautifully written work testifies to Harry White s central place in the shaping of the discourse surrounding the cultural history of Irish music over the last 40 years White s gift for expression and memorably poetic turns of phrase allows the complexity of ideas and range of historical and literary knowledge examined in these essays to be deftly excavated and evaluated Curiosity provocativeness imagination and literature are threaded through his exploration of how Irish history and experience have been imagined musically

The Irishness of Irish Music John O'Flynn, 2017-07-05 This book brings together important material from a range of sources and highlights how government organizations musicians academics and commercial companies are concerned with and seek to use a particular notion of Irish musical identity Rooting the study in the context of the recent history of popular traditional and classical music in Ireland as well as providing an overview of aspects of the national field of music production and consumption O Flynn goes on to argue that the relationship between Irish identity and Irish music emerges as a contested site of meaning His analysis exposes the negotiation and articulation of civic ethnic and economic ideas within a shifting hegemony of national musical culture and finds inconsistencies between and among symbolic constructions of Irish music and observed patterns in the domestic field More specifically O Flynn illustrates how settings genres social groups and values can influence individual identifications or negations of Irishness in music While the apprehension of intra musical elements leads to perceptions of music that sounds Irish style and authenticity emerge as critical articulatory principles in the identification of music that feels Irish The celebratory and homogenizing discourse associated with the international success of some Irish musical forms is not reflected in the opinions of the people interviewed by O Flynn at the same time an insider outsider dialectic of national identity is found in various forms of discourse about Irish music Performers and composers discussed include Bill Whelan Riverdance Sinéad O Connor The Corrs
