Food Policy Tim Lang, David Barling, Martin Caraher, 2009-03-19 For over half a century food policy has mapped a path for progress based upon a belief that the right mix of investment scientific input and human skills could unleash a surge in productive capacity which would resolve humanity s food related health and welfare problems It assumed that more food would yield greater health and happiness by driving down prices increasing availability and feeding more mouths In the 21st century this policy mix is quietly becoming unstuck In a world marred by obesity alongside malnutrition climate change alongside fuel and energy crises water stress alongside more mouths to feed and social inequalities alongside unprecedented accumulation of wealth the old rubric of food policy needs re evaluation This book explores the enormity of what the new policy mix must address taking the approach that food policy must be inextricably linked with public health environmental damage and social inequalities to be effective Written by three authors with differing backgrounds one in political science another in environmental health and health promotion and the third in social psychology this book reflects the myriad of perspectives essential to a comprehensive view of modern food policy It attempts to make sense of what is meant by food policy explores whether the term has any currency in current policy discourse assesses whether current policies help or hinder what happens judges whether consensus can triumph in the face of competing bids for understanding looks at all levels of governance across the range of actors in the food system from companies and the state to civil society and science considers what direction food policies are taking not just in the UK but internationally assesses who and what gains or loses in the making of these food policies and identifies a modern framework for judging how good or limited processes of policy making are This book provides a major comprehensive review of current and past food policy thinking and proposing the need for what the authors call an ecological public health approach to food policy Nothing less will be fit for the 21st century Systematic Reviews in the Social Sciences Mark Petticrew, Helen Roberts, 2008-04-15 Such diverse thinkers as Lao Tze Confucius and U S Defense Secretary Donald Rumsfeld have all pointed out that we need to be able to tell the difference between real and assumed knowledge The systematic review is a scientific tool that can help with this difficult task It can help for example with appraising summarising and communicating the results and implications of otherwise unmanageable quantities of data This book written by two highly respected social scientists provides an overview of systematic literature review methods Outlining the rationale and methods of systematic reviews Giving worked examples from social science and other fields Applying the practice to all social science disciplines It requires no previous knowledge but takes the reader through the process stage by stage Drawing on examples from such diverse fields as psychology criminology education transport social welfare public health and housing and urban policy among others Including detailed sections on assessing the quality of both quantitative and qualitative research searching for evidence in the social sciences meta analytic and other methods of evidence synthesis publication bias heterogeneity and approaches to dissemination Mother Earth, Mother Africa and Theology Sinenhlanhla S. Chisale, Rozelle Robson Bosch, 2021-11-30 The theological role of African women and men in sustainable development and environmental justice strongly emerges in this book Picking up the theme and metaphor of the fifth pan African conference of the Circle of Concerned African Women Theologians hereafter Circle Mother Earth and Mother Africa this book titled Mother Earth Mother Africa and Theology presents original and innovative research by scholarly members and friends of the Circle The main contribution of the volume is its multi and trans disciplinary exploration and reimagining of human relationships to Earth from an African ecofeminist and ecowomanist theological perspective It engages in critical conversations of re interpreting and re imagining African cultural religious theological and philosophical perspectives on gender and the Earth The aim is to construct Earth friendly relationships in the face of the growing global environmental crisis Scholarly voices of African women and men from fields such as Theology Environmental Law and Policy Tourism Agricultural Science and Natural Resources and Economics are reflected in this book which consists of three parts Creation the Trinity and Mother Africa Caring for Mother Africa and Mother Africa and her daughters in fertility Each of the eleven chapters in the volume presents the metaphor of Mother Earth Mother Africa and gender relations with the aim to explore life affirming life enhancing human relationships to Earth from the author s particular area of specialisation and context A Stakeholder Approach to Managing Food Adam Lindgreen, Martin K. Hingley, Robert J. Angell, Juliet Memery, 2016-08-05 This research anthology explores the concept of food production and supply from farm gate to plate bringing together contemporary thinking and research on local national and global issues from a stakeholder perspective A Stakeholder Approach to Managing Food includes a number of sections to represent these challenges opportunities conflicts and cohesions affecting relevant stakeholder groups within food production and supply and their reaction to engagement with and co creation of the food environment For some local national and global interests may seem at odds We are in an era of growing and pervasive multi national corporations and these corporations have significant influence at all levels Rapidly growing economies such as China are a focus for the global brand but is this a scenario of adaptation or homogenization of food Alongside this trend toward national and global development in food this volume presents the counter reaction that is taking place especially in developed countries toward local speciality and culturally bound foods with emphasis on the importance of the inter connection of local communities and agri food culture and economy With an in depth analysis of agricultural businesses this book shows that the entrepreneurial spirit is alive and well in rural communities with often renewed and engaged connection with consumers and imaginative use of new media This book will be of interest to students researchers and policy makers concerned with agriculture food production and economics cultural studies

Evaluating Ethical Frameworks for the Assessment of Human Cognitive Enhancement Applications Ellen-Marie Forsberg,Clare Shelley-Egan,Erik Thorstensen,Laurens Landeweerd,Bjorn Hofmann,2017-03-23 This book offers the policy maker or decision maker key insights and practical information regarding the features of ethics frameworks best suited to the ethical assessment of human cognitive enhancement HCE applications such as pharmaceutical cognitive enhancers and noninvasive brain stimulation techniques This book takes as its departure point the entrenched philosophical debate between opponents and proponents of HCE and the increased feasibility of some applications of HCE Recent calls for policy making in the area of human enhancement reflect the need to find a balance between addressing current ethical issues and issues that are more speculative in nature or are underpinned by abstract philosophical concepts Practical ethical approaches for policy or decision making should enable the development of an evidence base for the risks and benefits of HCE applications Moreover such practical approaches should also incorporate a broader range of value bases that would facilitate convergence regarding certain decisions and judgements This book identifies and evaluate tools that help us to go beyond polarised philosophical debates in order to assist practical decision makers in concrete ethical deliberation and decision making The focus is on systematic methods with which to identify relevant ethical values and assess the impacts of an HCE application on those values in order to facilitate decision making regarding the ethical acceptability or desirability of the application

Towards Gendering Institutionalism Heather MacRae,Elaine Weiner,2017-07-03 Gender has traditionally proven to be a blind spot for new institutionalists This book bring gender to the fore as a critical aspect of institutions and opens up new avenues to interrogate the dynamics of power and change Casting its empirical lens on the EU where institutional efforts to realize gender equality are quite pronounced the book interrogates attempts to bring about more gender just polities supranationally nationally and more locally The book takes a best case scenario with explicit transformative aims to the social gendered order in order to illuminate how institutions and their gendering help and hinder institutional change In doing so it aims to 1 consolidate and expand the theoretical toolkit in terms of synergies between feminism and new institutionalism s various strands and 2 bring it to bear on the trajectory of Europe s gender equality agenda towards better understanding the institutional and institutionalized challenges to redressing gender inequalities
