students who make real and sustained progress at A level aren't necessarily the ones with superb GCSEs. Some students leap from average results aged 16 to outstanding results aged 18. Others seem to hit a ceiling. But why? It was in trying to answer this question that the VESPA system emerged. Steve and Martin have cut through the noise surrounding character development and identified five key characteristics that all students need to be successful: vision, effort, systems, practice, and attitude. These characteristics beat cognition hands down. Successful students approach their studies with the right behaviours, skills, and attitudes; they understand how to learn and revise effectively; they're determined and organised; they give more discretionary effort; and they get top results. Success at A level is a result of character, not intelligence. Much has been written about growth mindsets and character development in recent years, but teachers are still left wondering how to apply these ideas in their contexts. How can these theories help learners in practice? Taking cues from the work of Peter Clough, Carol Dweck, and Angela Lee Duckworth, and informed by their collective 30-plus years of teaching and coaching, Steve and Martin have spent years researching how character and behaviours affect student outcomes in their sixth form. After identifying the core traits that contributed to student success, they developed practical activities to help every student develop the A Level Mindset. Discover 40 concrete, practical, and applicable tools and strategies that will supercharge learners' ambition, organisation, productivity, persistence, and determination. Suitable for teachers, tutors, heads of sixth form, or anyone else who wants to help A level students achieve their potential. The A Level Mindset offers 40 easy-to-use activities to develop students' resilience, commitment, buoyancy, motivation, and determination. It could be your key to transforming student outcomes.

Campus Conversations Jeffery W. Galle, Denise Pinette Domizi, 2021-11-15. The eight essays in Campus Conversations provide some of the best scholarly work emerging from individual faculty learning communities in a statewide program called the Chancellor's Learning Scholar (CLS) program. The CLS program began in 2018 as an initiative designed to include large numbers of the University System of Georgia's USG about 12,000 full-time teaching faculty in the USG's statewide student success efforts. The approximately 2,000 faculty who have participated in the first two years of the CLS program learned about the eight pedagogies of student success which can help engage students more deeply, thereby retaining them and deepening their learning. These pedagogies include small teaching based on the Jim Lang book Inclusive Pedagogy, Transparency in Learning and Teaching (TiLT), course design, high-impact practices (HIPs), brain-based learning, academic mindset, and the Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL). As teaching and learning scholarship, each essay has its origin in the topic for which the learning community was formed. The collection demonstrates the range of topics and many of the ways in which USG faculty have explored and applied these pedagogies to their own institutional contexts and courses The essays selected for inclusion in this volume also embody different responses to the outcomes of the program as set out at the inception of the program
