The Enemy at the Gate Andrew Wheatcroft, 2009-04-28 In 1683 an Ottoman army that stretched from horizon to horizon set out to seize the Golden Apple as Turks referred to Vienna. The ensuing siege pitted battle-hardened Janissaries wielding seventeenth-century grenades against Habsburg armies widely feared for their savagery. The walls of Vienna bristled with guns as the besieging Ottoman host launched bombs, fired cannons and showered the populace with arrows during the battle for Christianity's bulwark. Each side was sustained by the hatred of its age-old enemy, certain that victory would be won by the grace of God. The Great Siege of Vienna is the centerpiece for historian Andrew Wheatcroft's richly drawn portrait of the centuries-long rivalry between the Ottoman and Habsburg empires for control of the European continent. A gripping work by a master historian, The Enemy at the Gate offers a timely examination of an epic clash of civilizations.

Ottoman Women in Public Space, 2016-05-09 Using a wealth of primary sources and covering the entire Ottoman period, Ottoman Women in Public Space challenges the traditional view that sees Ottoman women as a largely silent element of society restricted to the home and not seen beyond the walls of the house or the public bath. Instead, taking women in a variety of roles as economic and political actors, prostitutes, flirts and slaves, the book argues that women were active participants in the public space, visible, present and an essential element in the everyday public life of the empire. Ottoman Women in Public Space thus offers a vibrant and dynamic understanding of Ottoman history. Contributors are Edith G. I. in Ambros, Ebru Boyar, Palmira Brummett, Kate Fleet and Svetla Ianeva.

Tara: A Mahratta Tale Philip Meadows Taylor, 2020-09-28 The promise of the child was more than fulfilled in the girl now budding into early womanhood and her appearance was so remarkable that while many of her old friends in the bazaar now rarely ventured to accost her and even turned aside their heads reverently as she passed she could not traverse the crowded street which led from her house to the temple or indeed move anywhere during the day without attracting admiration from the crowds of strangers who from all parts of India visited that renowned shrine of which her father was the chief priest and manager Many a pilgrim and worshipper gazed wonderingly upon the calm gentle face which met him at the earliest dawn in its devotional perambulation round the temple or followed with his eye the graceful figure which carrying the daily sacrificial offerings descended the flights of steps by which the shrine was approached and far away in his native village under the snows of Himalaya the burning sands of Ram shwur or the green plains of Bengal told of the beautiful vision and never forgot it Tara has been up since before the false dawn She has assisted her father with water to bathe and in his private worship of the household gods She has bathed herself and is now dressed in the simple saree or robe of all Hindu females It is of dark blue silk striped with a fainter blue and has a broad border of a light but rich pattern harmonizing with the colours of the garment which consisting of one long piece only is wound round her several times to form a skirt then passed about her body and over her head on the left side whence the end which is of rich gold tissue interwoven with crimson flowers and green leaves hangs heavily over her right shoulder and back Below the garment is a closely fitting bodice of striped orange silk only but no portion of it is visible except a little of the sleeve above the elbow Tara is holding the border of her dress close to her cheek as if to conceal it even from her mother and the graceful outline of her arm may be followed from the tips of the taper fingers past the wrist partly covered with purple bangles and a massive gold ring along the soft round arm to the dimpled elbow whence it is lost among the folds of the saree which falls over it
