Femmes Et Politique Au Moyen-Orient Dayan-Herzbrun, 2005      Femmes et politique au Moyen-Orient Sonia Dayan-Herzbrun,      Femmes politiques au Maroc d'hier à aujourd'hui Osire Glacier, 2016-12-19 Red couvrez l'histoire du Maroc travers les femmes qui l'ont façonné. Dans cet essai captivant Osire Glacier retrace l'influence politique et sociale des femmes marocaines du VIIe siècle nos jours. De la légendaire Tin Hinan la militante contemporaine Khadija Ryadi en passant par la résistante Taougrat ou la stratège Sayyida al Horra ce livre offre une galerie de portraits puissants et méconnus. Ces reines guerrières politiques militantes ou diplomates ont souvent effacé des récits officiels. Pourtant elles ont joué un rôle décisif dans les luttes de pouvoir les résistances populaires la transmission du savoir et la construction de l'état moderne. Une œuvre majeure qui déconstruit les clichés sur la marginalité politique des femmes dans les sociétés arabo-musulmanes et qui réhabilite une mémoire historique occultée. Une trentaine de portraits inspirants de femmes marocaines. Une étude historique sur 15 siècles d'engagement de pouvoir et de résilience. Une lecture essentielle pour quiconque s'intéresse aux droits des femmes l'histoire politique du Maghreb et aux figures oubliées de la résistance. Un essai riche document et nécessaire. Gender and Citizenship in the Global Age Amri, Laroussi, Ramtohul, Ramola, 2015-03-01 One of the major issues this book examines is what the African experience and identity have contributed to the debate on citizenship in the era of globalisation The volume presents case studies of different African contexts illustrating the gendered aspects of citizenship as experienced by African men and women Citizenship carries manifold gendered aspects and given the distinct gender roles and responsibilities globalisation affects citizenship in different ways It further examines new forms of citizenship emerging from the current era dominated by a neoliberal focus The book is not exclusive in terms of theorisation but its focus on African contexts with an in depth analysis taking into consideration local culture and practices and their implications for citizenship provides a good foundation for further scholarly work on gender and citizenship in Africa

Gender and Divorce Law in North Africa Maaïke Voorhoeve, 2014-04-25 Personal status laws remain a highly politicized area of debate in the Middle East as the arena in which the contentious issues of women's rights religion and minority groups meet This is especially so when it comes to divorce In Tunisia with the moderate Islamist party Ennahda winning the first elections following the 2011 revolution questions of religion in public life have gained greater primacy The country is often hailed for its progressive personal status code seen as an exception to the practice in many other Muslim countries Polygamy is banned for example and in divorce cases there is gender equality However Tunisia s legal system contains many gaps and leaves much room for interpretation Bearing in mind this importance of the role of Islam in judicial courts Maaïke Voorhoeve investigates whether the more progressive and ostensibly secular principles enshrined in Tunisia s Personal Status Code of 1956 are in fact adhered to in divorce cases And if not whether judges frequently turn to the Sharia custom or societal norms as their primary sources of guidance Through extensive research in the Tunisian courts Voorhoeve investigates the different types of divorce the arguments presented to the court and the consequent legal decisions made She focuses on the role of female judges testing the assumption that they adjudicate in a more gender neutral way and examining the impact they have had on Tunisian legal culture and through this Tunisian society Gender and Divorce Law in North Africa therefore sheds light on the wide reaching debate throughout North Africa and the Middle East concerning the role of Islam and Sharia in the public political legal and private spheres This debate which often pits secularists against Islamists but is in reality much more nuanced is key in a variety of fields including Middle East studies and Islamic law

Convergences and Interferences, 2016-09-12 How does one imagine plurality How does one find new strategies for writing diversity and polyphony How does one read the most challenging creative and critical works of the present time This bilingual volume of twelve English and eight French papers proposes to breach linguistic critical frontiers by placing careful analysis of texts from different language traditions in a multilingual and multicultural dialogue In this collection of theoretically and politically aware close readings of contemporary cultural production the focus of analysis rests on the multiple and complex global convergences and interferences of cultural influences The collection foregrounds the work of innovative writers who seek to express the ungraspable presence of cultural newness at the same time as situating themselves in the richness of detail of local lives This volume most particularly finds a balance of critical approach between the everyday attempts at negotiation and survival and the insight brought to the reader by postcolonial syncretic and feminist theoretical analysis

A Society of Young Women Amelie Le Renard, 2014-06-25 The cities of Saudi Arabia are among the most gender segregated in the world In recent years the Saudi government has felt increasing international pressure to offer greater roles for women in society Implicit in these calls for reform however is an assumption that the only real society is male society Little consideration has been given to the rapidly evolving activities within women's spaces This book joins young urban women in their daily lives in the workplace on the female university campus at the mall to show how these women are transforming Saudi cities from within and creating their own urban professional consumerist lifestyles As young Saudi women are emerging as an increasingly visible social group they are shaping new social norms Their shared urban spaces offer women the opportunity to shed certain constraints and imagine themselves in new roles But to feel included in this peer group women must adhere to new constraints to be sophisticated fashionable feminine and modern The position of other women poor rural or non Saudi women is increasingly marginalized While young urban women may embody the image of a reformed Saudi nation the reform project ultimately remains incomplete drawing new hierarchies and lines of exclusion among women

George Ulrich, Ineta Ziemele, 2019 For some time the word crisis has been dominating international political discourse But this is nothing new Crisis has always been part of the discipline of international law History indeed shows that international law has developed through reacting to previous experiences of crisis reflecting an agreement on what it takes to avoid their repetition However human society evolves and challenges existing rules structures and agreements International law is confronted with questions as to the suitability of the existing legal framework for new stages of development Ulrich and Ziemele here bring together an expert group of scholars to address the question of how international law confronts crises today in terms of legal thought rule making and rule application The editors have characterized international law and crisis discourse as one of a dialectical nature and have grouped the articles contained in the volume under four main themes security immunities sustainable development and philosophical perspectives Each theme pertains to an area of international law which at the present moment in time is subject to notable challenges and confrontations from developments in human society The surprising general conclusion which emerges is that by and large the international legal system contains concepts principles rules mechanisms and formats for addressing the various developments that may prima facie seem to challenge these very same elements of the system Their use however requires informed policy decisions Gender and methodology in the ancient Near East: Approaches from Assyriology and beyond Stephanie Lynn Budin, Megan gender in the past      La dimension islamique dans la politique étrangère du Maroc Abdessamad Belhaj, 2009 Ce livre s'attache à analyser les usages que le Maroc fait de l'islam dans sa politique étrangère. Il s'agit de décrypter les acteurs, le processus de décision, les moyens, les objectifs et les limites de cette instrumentalisation dans une période qui s'étend sur les années 1991-2008. Dans ce cadre, la diplomatie marocaine a intégré le facteur islamique dans ses relations extérieures depuis l'indépendance et lui a toujours gardé une place de choix durant la guerre froide. Cette ligne diplomatique a été favorisée et maintenue par Hassan II et Mohamed VI après le 11 septembre, bien qu'elle subisse actuellement des transformations importantes au niveau de la conception et de l'action. Une étude comparative de la dimension islamique dans la politique étrangère du Maroc entre les deux chefs d'État Hassan II et Mohamed VI est nécessaire pour mettre en perspective les innovations apportées par Mohamed VI, une politique qu'on attribue souvent à Hassan II.      Ibss: Political Science: 1997 British Library of Political and Economic Science, 1999-01-14 Provides an unrivalled overview of intellectual development in political science
